ON YOUR MARK! GET SET! OH!

STOLEN GUNS FOR POT?

Probers Untangling Web In Floating Arsenal Case

The gun-laden converted sub-chaser which lawmen raided in Tiburon harbor Wednesday may have been used to smuggle both arms and marijuana between Mexico and the United States, a narcotics agent believes.

Lt. James Schwedhelm, head of the Marin Drug Abuse Bureau, speculated the crew traded arms for pot in Mexico, then brought the marijuana to the United States for sale.

A state narcotics agent, Garrett Van Raam, said it is believed the Makaira, the 110-foot sub-chaser, entered San Francisco Bay in late May with as much as 2,200 pounds (1,000 one-kilogram bricks) of Mexican pot on board.

The ship anchored in Sausalito three weeks ago and later moved to Tiburon harbor. Drug agents reportedly bought marijuana from some crew members and on Wednesday swarmed on board to find a miniscule amount of marijuana and an arsenal of handguns, rifles and ammunition.

Federal authorities in Washington reported at least 30 of the 50 guns found on board had been reported stolen. The raiders confiscated 40 handguns and 10 rifles.

A seventh person was arrested yesterday at Marin County Jail when he came to bail out the crew members. Albertus Willem Oldenburg, 28, of 212 Richardson Street, Sausalito, was arrested for illegally talking to the two girl members of the crew after reporters interviewed them. A drug agent then identified Oldenburg as taking part in a marijuana sale on the boat and he was booked on suspicion of selling marijuana and illegal communication with prisoners.

The six arrested Wednesday were Vicki Jo Hartzell, 19, of Salt Lake City, Joan Heath Edwards, 21, of Australia, Robert Allen Drake, 19, of Detroit, and George William Lawrence, 28, James Lee Harris, 21 and Jerald Noel McDonald, 30, all with no known address.

McDonald, captain of the Makaira, was arrested just before the raid as he got out of a car and started for the ship.

Early Wednesday, agents said, the ship left Tiburon for a short cruise through Raccoon Strait, then returned. Agents suspect the crew expected a raid and dumped their remaining marijuana overboard on the short trip.

The raid was ordered after a drug agent reportedly saw a machine gun on board during a marijuana buy. No machine gun was found, however.

Only one ounce of marijuana was found in the raid.

In jail yesterday, crew members denied any wrongdoing. Miss Hartzell said the guns

Housing Pump Priming Set; Economy Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Prospects for an end to the worst economic slump in a decade appeared brighter today, according to federal experts. The upturn hopes were bolstered by a $2.75 billion pump priming agreement in Congress to prod home construction out of its nearly complete standstill.

The Commerce Department said Thursday the nation's total output of goods and services increased 0.3 per cent during the last three months, ending a slide that had pushed output down during the previous six months.

Harold C. Passer, assistant Commerce Secretary for economic policy, said the report showed "the economy has stabilized . . . this lays the foundation for an early resumption of growth."

The government said the Gross National Product (GNP), a measure of the total value of all goods and services, was at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $970.1 billion in the second quarter of this year, up $10.6 billion from the first quarter.

The advance of 4.5 per cent was due to the 0.3 per cent increase in physical output plus 4.2 per cent price inflation. The rate of inflation, although still severe, was the lowest in almost two years.

Britishers Go On Buying Spree, Stock Up On Food

Troops Alerted To Clear Items At Strikebound Ports

LONDON (UPI) — British housewives went on a brief panic buying spree today and the government served notice it may send troops into the country's strikebound ports at midnight to move vital food supplies.

Retailers in such West End supermarkets as Gamages said the women, apparently spurred by television speculation of food shortages, poured into the shops late yesterday and this morning.

They bought beef, bacon and other imported foodstuffs regarded as likely to become scarce, but by midday grocers reported business tempo back to normal and the shelves full again.

The government published a list of 38 emergency regulations, giving itself powers to deal with the three-day-old nationwide ports shutdown. They included the power to use troops if necessary to shift perishable food cargoes. The regulations go into effect at midnight.

The Evening News said the troops definitely will move in during the weekend—possibly Saturday. But spokesmen for the Defense Ministry and Prime Minister Edward Heath's office said no decision on timing had been taken yet.

However, government sources said authorization to use troops might be given at a meeting of the cabinet's emergency committee later today.

As the government prepared to act, worried housewives went on a panic buying spree. But the government told them there was no need to panic about food shortages resulting from the ports shutdown.

Minister of Agriculture James Prior called in 46 leaders of food manufacturing, distributing, wholesale and retail industries.

He said afterwards: "I was glad to receive their assurance that the supply and stock situation is well under control and that there is no need for panic buying."

Prior said there is no need for price hikes. However, prices were rising. Rump roast, for example, went up from 80 to 96 cents a pound.

"The government has made clear its determination to take the necessary steps to maintain essential supplies and a close watch on prices," Prior said.

Officials said Prior read the riot act about hiking food prices to the industry representatives. But salesmen at London's big Smithfield central meat market and convent Garden fruit and vegetable market reported heavy stocking up and prices spurting all along the line.

A state of emergency declared Thursday and effective at midnight tonight gave the government special powers including the use of troops. Officials said 36,000 troops were alerted to move perishable food supplies but that they were unlikely to be called in before the beginning of next week.

Argentines Find Corpse Of General

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—The Argentine government today identified a bound and gagged body found in the basement of a remote ranch house as that of former President Pedro Eugenio Aramburu, kidnaped May 29 by terrorists who later said they executed him and gave him a Christian burial.

"The ministry of the interior regrets to have to announce that it has verified that the body found in the Province of Buenos Aires is that of Lt. Gen. Pedro E. Aramburu," Interior Minister Eduardo McLoughlin said in reading the communique from the presidential palace.

"An executive degree has ordered civil and military funeral honors commensurate to a president of the nation killed in the exercise of his duties."

The body had two bullets in the heart. Aramburu was 67 when he was kidnaped from his Buenos Aires apartment by two men posing as Army officers.

Police said troops found the body at the La Celma Ranch, owned by the family of Carlos Ramus, 22, one of five persons sought in the kidnaping. It was in the basement of the house, near the town of Carlos Tejedor, 230 miles southwest of Buenos Aires.

The lime-covered body, badly decomposed, bore two bullets in the heart and was clad in a checked sports jacket with the label of Aramburu's tailor, police said.

Guardsman Says Guns Necessary On Campus

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A major general who heads the National Guard Bureau said today that "deadly force should only be used as a last emergency" in campus violence but said guardsmen should be allowed weapons to protect their lives.

Maj. Gen. Winston P. Wilson, chief of National Guard operations in the Defense Department, also displayed to the President's Commission on Campus Unrest an array of missiles and weapons used against guardsmen at student outbreaks in Wisconsin.

They included a nail-studded baseball bat, iron bars, jagged pieces of metal and a four-pound rock he said was propelled at a group of troops by a powerful, home-made slingshot.

Under questioning, Wilson agreed that special guard units should be assigned to deal with any sniper fire that may occur in civil outbreaks on campus or off. Asked if he felt guardsmen should not carry weapons at all, the witness replied: "No sir. There has to be flexibility there to determine — the judgment factor."

He said:

"The situation has got to depend . . . We can have violence on campus just as in the cities . . . Deadly force should only be used as a last emergency.

But a guy should have the right of protection of life.

"Normally we have sniper teams but this doesn't preclude, if a man is about to lose his life, protection of himself or others."

Point Reyes Official Expects Full Land Buy

Acquisition of the remaining land in private ownership within Point Reyes National Seashore now appears not only possible but likely, Willis P. Kriz, acting land acquisition officer for the seashore, indicated yesterday.

President Richard M. Nixon has signed a bill authorizing expenditure of $7.1 million of the $38 million earmarked in April for acquisition of the land, and Kriz said that he anticipates receiving the remaining $30.9 million very shortly.

In testimony before the House Appropriations Committee before the $7.1 million spending bill was passed, Department of Interior officials said they would give priority to purchase of property about to be subdivided within the park boundaries.

Kriz said that Lake Ranch and Pierce Ranch were the properties referred to, but that the expected availability of enough money to purchase the entire 53,000 acres, plus more than 11,000 acres of adjacent tidelands, made the question of priorities academic.

"We feel that the appropriations we are getting and have authorization to spend now are sufficient to acquire all the properties," said Kriz, "Whoever wishes to sell their properties in the area will be given priority."

"We will give those who are planning to subdivide a close look," he continued, "but acquisition will not be forced by anyone who is simply threatening to subdivide. We will acquire all of the land systematically . . . not jump around putting out fires here and there."

Kriz said that approximately 32,000 acres of the land has been acquired to date.

The National Park Service had estimated land acquisition to cost approximately $17 million when the move to set aside 52,000 acres of Point Reyes Peninsula for a national park first reached Washington.

Spending to the $38 million ceiling authorized in April this year would bring the cost of the project to date to $57.5 million.

U.S., Israel Meet; Suez Raids Heavy

Israel hit Egyptian Suez Canal positions with 60 planes today in an unusually heavy strike—the 57th consecutive day of Israeli attacks—while a high level U.S. Air Force mission conferred in Jerusalem with Israeli Foreign Office officials.

Diplomatic reports said Premier Golda Meir was planning another visit to the United States, apparently to seek more American aid in view of the increasing Soviet involvement in Egypt and official fears the next round of the Mideast conflict would be fought in the canal area.

Californian's Murder Terrorizes Convention

CHICAGO (UPI)—A killer slashed the throats of two 18-year-old California girls, killing one of them, late Thursday night in the downtown Chicago hotel where they were attending a convention of Japanese-Americans.

Police said today the survivor, Carol Yamada, had given a "vague description. . . in gestures" of the attacker who fell upon her when she returned to her room to discover what had happened to her roommate, Evelyn Okubo.

Miss Yamada was unable to speak and, after undergoing surgery, was listed in serious condition. Before help came to her, she scrawled notes in black crayon on tablet paper. One of them said, "It looks gory, but it really doesn't hurt."

A bowie-style knife bearing what appeared to be spots of rust or blood was found in a white paper bag on top of an ice-making machine close by the girls' seventh floor room in the Palmer House, one of Chicago's most famous hotels. It was not immediately known if this was the murder weapon.

The Stockton, Calif., girls were discovered by a third roommate, Pati Iwataki, 18, Los Angees, when she returned from a party being held at the 21st biennial convention of the Japanese - American Citizens League.

Both victims had been stripped of their clothes and were bound with what appeared to be drapery cord.

The body of Miss Okubo, trussed hand and foot, was in the bath tub. Miss Yamada, her feet tied but her hands free, was standing in the middle of the room, covered with blood.

A doctor at Henrotin Hospital said the knife had slashed through her windpipe but had just missed her jugular vein. "She missed death by a fraction of an inch," he said.

Lt. Michael Spiotto, chief of detectives of the Chicago police force, refused to confirm or deny reports that Miss Yamada had identified the attacker as a Negro with an Afro haircut. He also would not confirm that one

Talks Unify War Effort In Cambodia

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Cambodia and South Vietnam held a summit conference today in the town of Neak Luong to coordinate their efforts against North Vietnamese attempts to overrun Cambodia. Cambodia-Thailand talks begin next week.

On the war front, military spokesman said Cambodian units had recaptured the mountain top town of Kirirom from guerrilla soldiers who withdrew after setting fire to several buildings, including the vacation retreat of ousted Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

Meanwhile, it was reported in Saigon that fighting in South Vietnam ebbed Thursday and early today to one of its lowest levels of 1970. Allied spokesmen said no American casualties were reported in a

DOG SHOWS UP AT CLINIC ON BAD LSD TRIP

OTTAWA (London Express) — Dogs suffering from bad LSD trips are turning up at the Toronto Humane Society's animal clinic.

One dog, a German shepherd, had its stomach muscles wasted and liver and kidneys damaged by what Dr. Roderick Davies, director of the Academy of Veterinarians, said must have been continuous heavy use of LSD. It chased imaginary flies, barking at walls and spinning ining at walls and spinning insanely after its tail.

He was brought to the clinic by a hippy who immediately vanished. The dog "utterly submissive," was tranquilized for 24 hours and is recovering.

Agnew Wins A Round For Charities

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American prisoner of war families and American Indian children have been given $25,000, courtesy of Spiro T. Agnew's caricature.

Agnew accepted a check from two watch makers and a T-shirt manufacturer Thursday as ad- to give part of the profits from vance payments on their pledge Spiro Agnew wrist watches and shirts to two of Agnew's favorite charities.

The vice president accepted $10,000 each from American Time Co. of Detroit and Novelty Watch Co. of Baltimore, which market a wrist watch with a likeness of Agnew very similar to the old Mickey Mouse watches.

An additional $5,000 came from the Varsity House of Columbus, Ohio, which sells T-shirts emblazoned with a large-nosed caricature of Agnew.

The money will go to the National League of Families of American Prisoners and the American Indian Self-Help Program of the Save the Children Federation, Inc.

The inventor of the Spiro Agnew watch, Dr. Hale E. Dougherty of Anaheim, Calif., was not at the Thursday ceremony and is balking at Agnew's demands. He says any of his profits that go to charity will go to cancer research.

Elks Conclave Vetoes Plea For Admission Of Negroes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Elks are retaining a clause in their constitution which limits membership to white American citizens who believe in God and never have been associated with subversive organizations.

At the concluding session of its 106th Grand Lodge Meeting Thursday, the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks voted overwhelmingly against amending the constitution to admit Negroes.

Frank Hise, former grand exalted ruler, said the Elks had been bombarded with letters concerning its racial policy. The letters, he said, were "so harsh it was obvious that they were inspired and part of a concerted effort to destroy our order."

The amendment was from a contingent from Madison, Wis.

Otho Devilbiss of Chicago, a member, told reporters race is not a "controversial issue" with the Elks and that it had a right to exclude anyone it wished. There were some "people with oriental blood" in the Elks, he added.

CHARLES CHARMING; ANNE RESERVED

Race In Washington Monument, Moonlit Sightseeing For Britons

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Prince Charles ran down the 898 steps of the Washington Monument Thursday night with David Eisenhower, and led his charmed American hosts on a tour of the capital by night.

The 21-year-old heir to the British throne and his sister Princess Anne received a royal White House welcome Thursday after arriving for a three day visit then skipped off with young Eisenhower and the Nixon daughters for a round of swimming, skeet shooting and sightseeing.

More of the same was on tap for today with a tour of the Capitol and a meeting with congressional leaders; a visit to the Smithsonian Institute; a cruise down the Potomac to Mount Vernon; a tea party at the British Embassy and a formal supper dance on the White House lawn.

Anne appeared reserved during the Thursday tours, seldom smiling. But Charles captivated his new American friends with a display of poise, sportsmanship and boyish ebullience.

"He's a terrific person," said young Eisenhower who confessed the run down the Washington Monument was "heavy going at first."

The others in the party—Anne, Tricia Nixon and Julie Eisenhower—took the elevator down.

"We were chicken," Julie said.

The moonlight tour of Washington's historic sites included the Lincoln Memorial, the Iwo Jima statue and the Capitol.

It had been a day of one upsmanship for Charles who also put on a dazzling show of skeet shooting at clay pigeons with a double barreled shotgun at an evening cookout at Camp David, the President's Maryland mountain retreat.

"He's having a grand time," young Eisenhower said a few hours after the prince and princess arrived for a private three-day visit as houseguests at the White House.

They were warmly welcomed by President Nixon, who rolled out the red carpet and laid on ceremonial fanfare in their honor.

Charles' obvious exuberance was in striking contrast to Anne's glum looks and rare smiles.

"She's in a mood," explained one Britisher in her traveling party.

Bonn Gets British Nod For Pact With Russ

LONDON (UPI)—Foreign Minister Walter Scheel of West Germany won full British backing today for negotiating a nonaggression pact with Russia, government officials said.

eH was to leave later in the day for Washington to seek U.S. approval from Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

Scheel briefed the British foreign secretary, Sir Alex Douglas-Home, Thursday night and today on West Germany's negotiating plans for the talks that open July 27 in Moscow, and planned to make a similar presentation to Rogers.

West Germany announced Thursday it would hold the talks in an effort to achieve the first nonaggression pact between a North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) member and the Soviet Union.

The United States, Britain and France already had expressed support for the principle of a nonaggression agreement between the two countries. They did not consider it a conflict with German commitments to NATO.

British officials said the government has "full confidence" in West Germany's policies designed to improve relations with the Eastern Bloc.

Rogers told a news conference this week "We do hope that the talks are successful and we hope that progress will be made in reducing tensions between the East and West and especially between the Soviet Union and West Germany."

French President Georges Pompidou approved the West German plans during talks in Bonn with Scheel and Chancellor Willy Brandt July 3-4.

The key principles of the negotiations involve a mutual renunciation of force and the threat of force in the settlement of disputes. They consider present borders inviolable.

This means the West Germans would agree to respect the German-Polish border and the East-West German demarcation line. The Russians insisted no improvement of relations was possible without these concessions from Bonn.

Opposition Christian Democrats in Bonn criticized Brandt and Scheel for agreeing to the principle, which they said abdicated all claims on former German territory now part of Russia and Poland and abandoned the goal of national reunification.

Brandt argued that agreeing to respect borders which are 25 years old and which none of the great powers will permit to be changed is a small price to pay for lowered tensions.

Fairfax Council Firms Drive To Hold Tax Rate

Fairfax city councilmen voted last night to try to hold the city tax rate at last year's $1.74 per $100 assessed valuation, but the only concrete result of a three-hour budget session was addition of $1,000 for the building department.

The $556,171 budget submitted by City Administrator Frances R. Lestanguet calls for a tax rate of $1.89 per $100 assessed valuation. This would put the general fund rate at $1.43, the maximum Fairfax can levy. (General law cities are restricted to a general fund levy of $1, but legislation when the county took over assessments for cities permitted Fairfax a limit of $1.43, because it previously had assessed at a higher percentage of appraised value.) The remainder of the $1.89 would be made up of 29.5 cents for the retirement fund and 16.5 cents for the park-recreation fund.

Councilman Francis J. O'Connell warned repeatedly that nothing could be added to the administrator's budget, since it already called for the maximum tax rate. This, he said, precludes a salary increase of more than 5 per cent.

Mrs. Lestangeut and Councilman Lee Nelder wanted to discuss salaries before going further into department budgets, but the other councilmen agreed to leave salaries until last.

Building Inspector Dale W. Hostrup asked a 10 per cent cost-of-living raise and 5 per cent incentive raise for himself. He said "all department heads are asking a 10 per cent cost-of-living raise."

The $1,000 added to the administrator's budget was to provide forms, advertising and mailing for setting up an occupancy ordinance, which Hostrup urged would help prevent illegal occupation of residences. It would require that, whenever residential property changes hands, a city inspection be made and the buyer provided a statement showing all deficiencies in the building and specifying the zoning and the limits on occupancy. The ordinance has been discussed but not yet passed.

The council went through the fire and building departments' budgets. Although no change was made immediately in the budget for the fire department, Councilman Nelder — a former San Francisco fireman — questioned numerous items, indicating he will propose cuts.

Fire Chief Charles M. Thornton was asked to furnish a staffing schedule for council inspection. Nelder sharply questioned the practice of hiring volunteers at $33 per day (Thornton asked that this be raised to $35) to man the station on weekends. Better scheduling might avoid this, he suggested.

The council will return to the budget next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Fairfax Women's Club meeting room, taking up public works and parks-recreation departments.

Mobile Home Property Tax Bill Killed

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to subject mobile homes to property taxes, a measure sought for several years by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, yesterday was killed by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

Mobile home owners now pay motor vehicle taxes in lieu of property taxes, with the revenue reserved for roads. If they paid property taxes, the revenue could be used for any purpose.

Local government officials long have alleged that mobile homes receive tax advantages because they are assessed as vehicles, and have the added advantage of depreciation schedules that hit a minimum value after only seven years.

The bill ran into opposition from representatives of the mobile home industry, and from the Department of Finance, which figured it would cost the state some $11 million in its first full year alone.

The size of the average camping party is 4.26 persons, says the New York State Department of Conservation.

Human Rights Panel Studies Fund Squeeze

The Marin County Human Rights Commission last night discussed ways of adapting its staff and programs to a trimmed-down 1970-71 budget, but couldn't reach a solution.

Chairman James O. Quiett said the group would try again at its next meeting to fit its operations into a $30,000 spending program. He said he would be in touch with County Administrator Alan Bruce today on deciding budget priorities.

During county budget hearings, Bruce had recommended that the commission staff, which operated under a $52,000 budget for 1969-70, be eliminated for economy reasons. The board of supervisors balked, however, recommending a budget of $30,000. The commission had originally sought a $77,000 appropriation for 1970-71.

"We found no sound way of suing this small budget. . .and at the same time still have an executive director," Quiett said.

Quiett said members of a large audience at last night's meeting praised executive director Austin J. Thompson, who resigned last month while under fire from Bruce for poor work habits. And the commission issued a vote of confidence in Thompson, Quiett said.

Quiett said the commission is looking for a new director.

The chairman also read letters from the California Council on Criminal Justice and other agencies praising Thompson's role in securing funds for the commission's police-community relations program — a role that had been brought under question by Bruce.

Man Cited On Charge Of Assault

A 40-year-old San Francisco man was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of attempting to rape a 29-year-old San Rafael housewife he met in a bar.

Richard Ralph Martinez was arrested Wednesday in San Francisco, after the woman complained that he stole her purse and attempted to rape her early Saturday morning in the parking lot behind the Executive Lounge 1299 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Martinez had met the woman and a female companion in the Executive Lounge and driven them to another bar, police reported. She asked him to drive her in her car to meet her husband, according to the report, and she said he attacked her when they returned to pick up her car.

Martinez denied the attack, saying that the woman panicked when he tried to kiss her and that he shook her by the shoulder when he tried to calm her, police reported.

He was ordered to appear in court today with counsel.

Panel Slated As Greeters At Hamilton

The start of a Marvelous Marin Military Affairs Committee was made last night at a meeting of 69 leaders of Marin County at the Cabana Room of the officer's club at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Margo Margossian, manager of Sherman-Clay in San Rafael, was named to select a temporary organizing committee which in turn will organize the permanent group.

The purpose of the military affairs committee is to meet and welcome groups of notables who occasionally come into Hamilton Air Force Base, entertain them, and show them the things they want to see in the area.

Last night's meeting was the outgrowth of a recent trip by a group of Marin County Businessmen and leaders to Tyndall Air Force Base, Panama City, Fla.

There the Marin County group were met by the military affairs committee of the Panama City Chamber of Commerce. They were wined, dined and shown the area, and given opportunities to play golf or fish.

"You're from California, now what can we show you in Florida?" Earl J. O'Grady, vice-president of Pacific Telephone Co. asked at their initial meeting with the Panama City group.

"They sell their area and there is no reason why we cannot do the same thing in Marin," said Hugh E. Turner of KTIM.

Lee C. Wise, Novato manager of Pacific Gas and Electric Co., had obtained the plan of organization of the Panoma City group. They have a $10 initiation fee and when they entertain groups all members are billed the same. There are 167 members in the Panama City group, Wise said.

BOMB MAKINGS FOUND IN NOVATO

Marin County Sheriff's Deputy William Naber examines explosive equipment found in a sack concealed in grass near a mailbox at 2495 Novato Boulevard, Novato. A group of youths returning from overnight camping at Stafford Lake found the sack, which contained everything needed to make several small bombs—three pounds of smokeless gunpowder, three feet of primer cord, about 20 blasting caps, 20 percussion primers and 20 safety fuses.

ser of Egypt left Moscow today, ending a 19-day visit with what Arab diplomatic sources described as a Kremlin pledge of further aid for the battle against Israel and a hardened Egyptian-Soviet stand against any possible peace talks.

Nasser's plane arrived in Cairo at 4:15 p.m., 9:15 a.m. EDT.

An Egyptian military spokesman said 10 Israeli planes attacked for three hours along a 66-mile front between Qantara and Suez but that "heavy Egyptian ground fire prevented the raiding aircraft from reaching their objectives." However, he reported one Egyptian soldier killed and seven others injured. Israel also reported one Israeli soldier wounded in an artillery duel.

The American Air Force mission to Israel was led by Lt. Gen. James V. Edmundson, deputy chief of the U.S. Air Force Strike Command with headquarters in Miami, Fla. His visit coincided with growing U.S. and Israeli anxiety over the increased Soviet military activities in the Middle East.

The mission was accompanied by a State Department official, but the U.S. Embassy in Tel Aviv dismissed speculation the mission was connected with any impending moves in the Middle East crisis. A spokesman said the mission was on a "routine, get acquainted tour and has "nothing to do with any other matters that may be pending between Israel and the United States."

gave the government power to impose food rationing, control food prices, control ports, direct supplies of fuel, food and animal feeding stuffs, control coastal shipping and cargoes, relax certain existing restrictions on road transport, and requisition land, houses and buildings.

The regulations were to be debated by Parliament on Monday. They will be valid 28 days. Officials said the powers would be used only if and when necessary.

Rising prices did not deter the housewives. They picked grocery shelves clean of meat, butter, fruit and other imported foods. "The strike is terrible. Business is wonderful," said Malcolm Avery, a grocer in London's West End.

Leonard Moss, spokesman for wholesale butchers in London's Smithfield market, said "Today's increases are just a foretaste of things to come. The prospects are not very bright."

Hub Board Sets Closed Session

The San Anselmo School District Board will go into closed session at a special meeting tomorrow to discuss applicants for the superintendent's position.

Supt. Stephen L. Parodi, who will become assistant superintendent of business administration when the new man is selected, said the board probably will not make a decision tomorrow.

The board will also consider approving the district's 1970-71 publication budget of $1,908,826 and requesting a $500,000 loan from Marin County until the district receives its tax revenues.

of the notes found in the room said, "Death is beautiful."

The knifing terrorized the meeting of 400 Japanese Americans from throughout the country. As the word of the attack spread, about 200 women decided they were too frightened to sleep in their rooms. They slept instead in a sixth floor banquet hall while men stood guard outside. Later many delegates checked out of the hotel and headed for home.

In Stockton, Mrs. Doris Yamada described her daughter and Evelyn Okuba as good "church goers" who had "chummed together for a long time." They went to the Chicago convention because they "wanted to see America," Mrs. Yamada said.

The cycle of terror began when Miss Okuba left the Thursday night party to get a radio from her room. When she failed to return in half an hour, Miss Yamada went looking for her.

Before Miss Iawataki came looking, too, Miss Yamada had apparently managed to knock over the receiver of a telephone. A telephone operator reported she heard "heavy brathing" over the line.

Pot Conviction Nets Probation, Jail Term

Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court has placed Dennis Bruce Williams, 20, of San Francisco, on probation for 15 months and ordered him to spend four days in jail for a misdemeanor conviction of possessing marijuana.

Williams was arrested Dec. 28 in Novato when he was picked up on a traffic warrant.

Patrick's 1966 Income $900,000

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An attorney for pollster Mervin Field cross-examined an accountant for Holiday Magic Inc. today and disclosed that William Penn Patrick of San Rafael was paid $900,000 in 1966 from the company, which was worth only $2 million.

Attorney David Ring asked C. Robert Angell if this was consistent, since 500 of the nation's largest corporations gave their chief executives less than $500,000 a year.

Angell said there are many things to consider. Of the $900,000, Patrick's income was $534,000 and he borrowed $371,000 from the company, the accountant said.

The attorney was attempting to open up the worth of Patrick in a $4 million suit against the cosmetics millionaire, who ran for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in 1966.

Patrick's lawyer, Jim Rhode introduced W2 forms for the next three years. They showed Patrick earned $450,000 in 1967, $160,000 in 1968, and $370,000 in 1969.

Patrick is accused of defaming the Field Poll by saying that representatives of George Christopher, who was also running, "bought" it for $16,000.

handful of skirmishes, all in the northern war zone.

One indicator of battlefield activity dipped to its lowest point in more than six months. U. S. spokesmen said American aircraft losses during the seven-day period ending Tuesday dropped to 14. It was the lowest figure since 12 were reported lost during the week ending Jan. 6.

American and South Vietnamese forces reported killing 40 Communist soldiers in six scattered clashes in the northern war zone. Spokesmen said there were no American casualties and that South Vietnamese losses totaled two wounded.

South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu flew today to Neak Luong, 30 miles southeast of Phnom Penh and site of one headquarters of the 18,000 man South Vietnamese force in Cambodia, for talks with Premier Lon Nol and Prince Siri Matak, No. 2 man in the Cambodian government.

South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam said Lon Nol sat in for three hours on the meeting but Cambodians would not confirm his presence and newsmen who tried to move in for a look were shoved back by security guards.

Lon Nol flies to Bangkok next Wednesday for talks with Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn and other officials. UPI correspondent Leon Daniel reported from the Thai capital that he is likely to find Thai officials sympathetic but cautious.

Lon Nol has asked for the aid of Thai ground troops in driving the Communists out of Cambodia and some Thai officials have urged the move because they would rather fight the Communists in Cambodia than in Thailand.

Daniel said the Thais are dragging their feet until they find out how much American aid they can expect. The country is faced with a budget deficit of $500 million this year, and there was sharp criticism in the U.S. Senate over the $200 million laid out by Washington to finance Thai troops fighting in South Vietnam.

The battle for Kirirom was the biggest action reported in either Cambodia or South Vietnam.

A military spokesman said the five government battalions, three of them made up of tribesmen trained by U.S. Green Berets in Vietnam, had suffered "fairly heavy" losses in the six-day battle that ended Thursday afternoon. No Communist casualties were given.

A 47-year-old Viennese suffocated in a wheat silo when he tried to clear a plugged-up connecting pipe and fell into the grain.

ECONOMY

Walter Heller, chief economic adviser to former President John F. Kennedy said inflation is "at last on the wane." He urged the Nixon administration to ease up on economic restraints that could produce a recession.

But Raymond J. Saulnier, top economic adviser to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, disagreed. He said: "There is as yet too little evidence that inflation is being overcome to justify a relaxation of restraint."

House and Senate negotiators have agreed on a housing bill which could generate construction of several million homes in the next few years.

The legislation would make about $2.75 billion available in mortgage money for buying or building homes. It can be expected to ease the tight money situation which has brought the homebuilding industry to a near standstill.

Routine approval by each chamber of the compromise bill is expected soon.

One new program in the bill would authorize $105 million a year for three years to pay an interest subsidy to allow middle-income families to buy homes bearing 7 per cent mortgages.

The subsidy would make up the difference between what they paid in interest on mortgages and what the lending institutions collected. That provision was expected to generate construction of 250,000 homes a year for three years should Congress fully fund the authorized amount. Money must be approved in separate legislation.

The GNP increase was due prinarily to a spurt in spending by consumers. Both government spending and business investment were almost unchanged. Disposable personal income increased by a record $19 billion, pushed up by retroactive increases in Social Security and government employe salaries.

The Commerce Department also reported home building increased last month, possibly signaling the end of a severe 16-month slump in housing.

were to protect the ship from piracy. An attempt had been made to steal the ship several months ago, she said.

Drake said, "I'm a working man. . .I didn't commit any crimes. . .I really don't have anything to hide."

All seven defendants were to appear today in Marin Municipal Court. Drake, Harris and Oldenburg were held on suspicion of selling marijuana, Miss Edwards on suspicion of offering to sell marijuana, Miss Hartzell and Lawson on suspicion of possessing marijuana, and McDonald on suspicion of having marijuana and a tear gas gun when arrested.

The district attorney's office was reviewing the case this morning to see if gun charges or other charges would be filed today.

Arm Severed By Cable Car

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A 70-year-old attorney from Belvedere was reported in critical condition today at San Francisco General Hospital after he had part of his left arm severed by a cable car.

San Francisco police said Bryan Darwin of 4 Lagoon Drive apparently lost his balance and fell off the cable car at Powell and Bush streets about 4 p.m. yesterday.

The vehicle's wheels severed the arm just above the elbow, police said.

JOHN J. ANTHONY

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Radio personality John J. Anthony, better known as the advice-giving "Mr. Anthony," died Thursday at the Sheraton Palace Hotel. He was 68.

Cause of death was believed to have been a heart attack.

Since his retirement from radio, Anthony had been living in Los Angeles. But he had been in San Francisco in recent days to fill in for Ira Blue on his KGO radio talk show.

Anthony's advice to the troubled was a favorite national radio show for more than 20 years.

DECRIES 'NEGATIVISM'

Walton Claims Press Hindered Job At King

Sidney F. Walton Jr. yesterday blamed the press for many of the problems he encountered during his year as principal in the Sausalito School District.

"I think the press. . .was the catalyst for negativism in the district," Walton told a farewell press conference in the Oakland Black Caucus office. He said negative articles about him and his role in Sausalito "engendered a lot of fear. . .people can't get ready for an honest black man."

It was Walton's second press conference in Oakland since his appointment last July as principal of Sausalito's Martin Luther King School. During his stay in Sausalito, the fiery educator consistently refused to meet with members of the press who sought to present his point of view to the public. Yesterday, too, he fielded and evaded many questions from reporters.

DENIES 'COP OUT'

The controversial principal accused reporters of "trying to stir up problems while we were trying to provide positive education for youngsters and teach them all facets of our society." He said the press hurt his cause by saying "very little about the positive gains" he made.

Walton denied he had "copped out" by agreeing to leave the Sausalito school system without a fight in exchange for an $8,000 settlement (about half his yearly salary). The current school board, which upheld Walton's May 4 firing by the former school board, agreed to the settlement Monday.

Walton said he decided to leave quietly "because I felt any further struggle would be costly and lengthly and would contribute further to the divisiveness in the school district."

He added: "I am hoping the fact I have left will give people a chance to coalesce together on some humanistic level and to reconstitute their efforts to resolve their problems."

Speaking from his own experiences in Sausalito, the principal said a black educator should avoid three pitfalls which can lead to his downfall. "He should guard against pseudo-white liberals and the efforts of the white establishment to divide and conquer the black community." and "He should guard against any attempt to keep him away from outspoken elements in the black community who are concerned about education."

Walton said he came to Sausalito with a product — education for humanization and social responsiblity.

He charged that, during his tenure in the district, he was "denied my basic human right to be left alone to do a job in a professional manner," but stressed he was not bitter or angry about his experience in Sausalito.

NO PRIVATE SCHOOL

Walton said he had given up the idea of privately-funded freedom schools for the children of Marin City, a proposal he made after his firing, "because people in the community expressed a desire to leave their children in the Sausalito system."

He indicated he has no plans to go to Marin City and discuss his reasons for leaving with his supporters. "That is the purpose of this press conference," he said.

The principal declined to be specific about his future plans, but said he has had job offers from several school districts in and out of California. He refused to name the distrist. He also said he is thinking about going to law school, but has made no firm decision. "I'm in a position of flux right now," he explained.

'RACIAL TIGER CAGE'

Walton's attorney John George ended the press conference by calling Marin City "a racial tiger cage. Sid Walton went to Marin City to see what makes the caged bird sing," George said.

"His present plans may be up in the air," the attorney continued, "but he's a real ripsnorter; you're going to hear from him; he'll make his mark."

Juanita On Probation In Tax Dispute

Juanita Musson, former owner of Juanita's Galley in Sausalito, was placed on one year of probation yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court for failure to pay unemployment and disability taxes.

Charges of failing to make withholding deductions and misuse of payroll deductions were dismissed after Mrs. Musson, owner of Juanita's at Fetters Hot Springs, pleaded guilty to the other charge.

The complaint had been brought by the Department of Human Resources, charging her with violations of the employment insurance code.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Musson had pleaded guilty in Central Sonoma Municipal Court to a charge of ignoring a court order to appear May 28 before a deputy labor commissioner concerning a disputed wage claim.

Judge A. F. Scheidecker placed her on summary probation for three months and suspended a fine of $50.

Oakland Boycott Of Museum Ends

OAKLAND (UPI) — Oakland's Black Caucus has ended its boycott of the new Oakland museum after the appointment of a black art expert to a curator's post.

Benjamin Hazard, 30, former University of Nevada art professor, will take over immediately as curator of special exhibits and education. Three other curators are yet to be named.

The Black Caucus had maintained its boycott of the impressive $3 million museum on grounds that the board did not fairly represent minority communities.

Crash Hurts Girl, 17

Molly Sims, 17, of 15 Harcourt Street, San Rafael, was treated yesterday at Marin General Hospital for contusions of the forehead received in an auto accident, the hospital reported. Details of the accident were not available.

Three Nabbed On Suspicion Of Burglary

Two San Anselmans and a Fairfax man were booked into Marin County Jail today on suspicion of burglarizing a San Rafael department store, San Rafael police reported.

A patrolman investigating an alarm at 12:37 a.m. today at Disco Wonderworld, 555 Francisco Boulevard, said he found Michael Thomas Trumble, 20, of 1361 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, browsing through the cameras. Albert Buck Nutter, 22, of 225 Olema Drive, Fairfax, emerged from another part of the store, police reported.

Richard Louis Mandler, 20, of 24 Ross Avenue, San Anselmo, reported seen in the area with the two, was arrested later by San Anselmo police.

The store was entered by removing part of the metal roof, police reported, and merchandise valued at $1,281 had been gathered in a sleeping bag and in a pile located in the toy department. Camping and stereo equipment and cameras were among the items removed from displays.

The three were held to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Marin's Recreation Programs For All Ages

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Marin County park and recreation departments, utilizing the county's generous environment, their cities' facilities and a great deal of imagination, have fashioned summer recreation programs which offer something for everyone —tony tots, school children, teen-agers, adults and senior citizens.

The various programs, which include all the normal summer bill of fare such as tennis, golf and swimming, reflect in their broad scope of activities the diversified interests of the people of Marin. Judo, yoga, dog training and folk guitar, subjects not usually classified with summer activities, are among the popular courses being offered by most cities.

The most extensive and complete schedule belongs to San Rafael, Marin's largest city. Using its many schools, playgrounds and parks, San Rafael provides instruction in activities ranging from weight training and badminton to Balkan dancing and cake decorating. The city's aquatic program is especially impressive, utilizing both the Terra Linda and San Rafael High School pools.

The summer program is conveniently oriented for every age group. Classifications for children include pre-school, elementary school, junior high and high school.

Perhaps the program most indicative of the personality of its community is the one at Mill Valley. Emphasis there is placed on cultural activities, and on what the park department terms, "Environmental Recreation." The latter includes art-ecology workshops and "Themes and variations in the natural world."

Some of the culture courses are primitive ceramics, creative writing and film making for children.

The most ambitious summer schedule for a city of its size is San Anselmo's. This year the city is sponsoring 22 youth excursions, within and outside the county, including two to Marine World in Redwood City and two each to Candlestick Park and the Oakland Coliseum for Giants and A's games.

Also being offered in San Anselmo are all the usual activities, plus some unique ones such as archery and astrology.

It is not surprising that the small city of Fairfax, nestled in the foothills of Mount Tamalpais has probably the best day camp setup in the county. The grounds of Deer Park school provide a perfect setting for the camp-outs and nature hikes that are part of the day camp program. And once during each of the three summer sessions there is an overnight camp-out at Devil's Gulch in Samuel P. Taylor State Park.

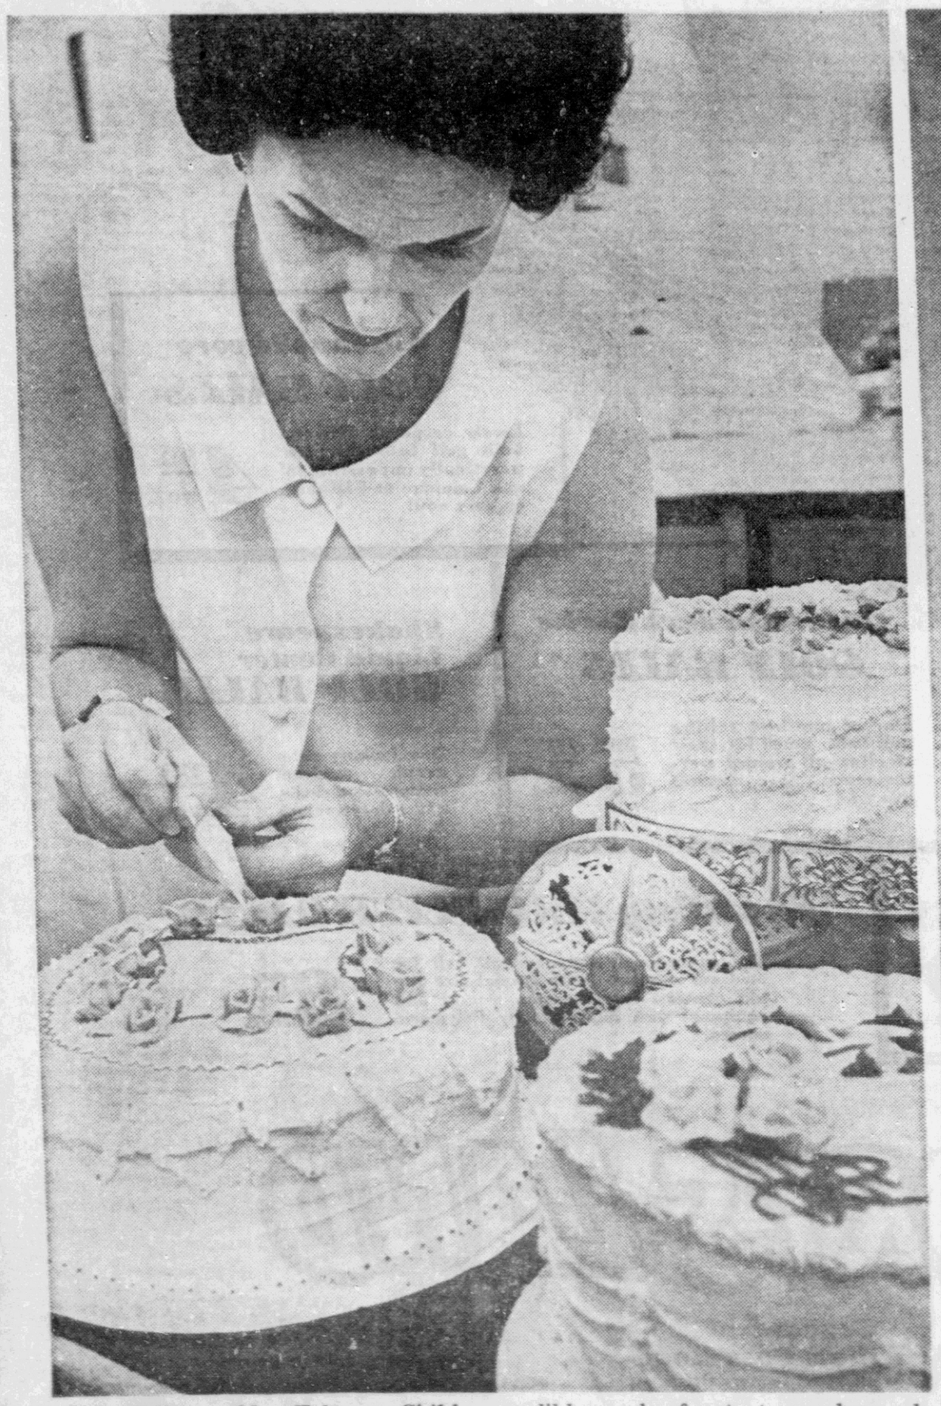
Fairfax is admirably unique concerning its drug abuse program, which is being offered as part of the summer schedule, for fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grade students and their parents.

The summer program in Novato, extremely well organized and complete, includes a unique club for teen-agers 13-18. The club, at Novato High School (1-5 and 7-10 p.m., Monday through Friday) features films and music concerts as well as athletic activities such as bowling and swimming.

Like San Rafael, Novato has an outstanding swimming program, held at the Novato High School pool.

Larkspur centers its program around its six playground areas, where a potpourri of activities is conducted. Included are basketball, softball, tumbling, knitting and folk dancing.

Larkspur's unique course is canoeing, offered in conjunction with the Marin chapter of the American Red Cross and the Marin Canoe Club. There are beginning and advanced classes with a trip for advanced students down the Russian River.



TOP THIS — Mrs. Talmage Childers puts the finishing touches on an edible work of art at an advanced cake decorating class in San Rafael.

TIRED FEET? — Adrian Taylor in an extremely restful yoga position.

OOF! — Someone always ends up on the ground. In this case it's Jeff Hamilton, victim of a grab and throw technique.

Teacher Has A Hit On Her Hands

By GEORGE NEVIN

UNLIKELY STAR — The singer-composer of "Mill Valley," 26-year-old Rita Abrams, says, "People are surprised when they meet me because I'm not the stereotype of a teacher — but then, I'm not the stereotype of a singer, either." (Independent-Journal photo)

Rita J. Abrams has to be the world's most unlikely hit singer.

The 26-year-old Mill Valley teacher, who just finished her first year of teaching a kindergarten class at Strawberry Point School, is astounded at the success of her song, "Mill Valley."

"I get calls from disc jockeys all over the country," the dark-haired Miss Abrams said as she sat in her sunny apartment, alternately stroking a psaltry, a string instrument mentioned in the Old Testament, and her two kittens, Crunchy and Granola.

Prone to easy laughter and insightful comments on her song's success, she is sure of one thing: "I want this to develop into more than a one-shot venture."

But, she said, "I don't want it to be the typical show-business run, but to keep on being just as personal and meaningful as it has been so far."

The soft strains of "Mill Valley" seem to be a universal solvent into which everyone from ultra-straight to ultra-hippie can dissolve, she said.

The song has cut across all barriers and touched almost everyone who has heard it. When Miss Abrams and the third grade class at the school performed at Mill Valley's fourth of July celebration, it turned into a sing — along, with longhairs joining retirees in singing, "Mill Valley, That's My Home."

How did this simple song come about, this tune that has drawn comment from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., to Canada, and made its young author-singer-composer the object of a string of newspaper and magazine articles?

"I was walking in Mill Valley on Christmas Day, enjoying the town and feeling how different it was from the East," she said. "I just decided to write a simple song that my class could sing. I finished it that night,"

She taught it to her kindergarteners when school began after the holiday, and they sang it for weeks without anyone being the wiser.

Then fate intervened. "I was talking to Erik Jacobson, a music producer, and I mentioned that I had written a song for my class. He was interested in recording children's voices, so I dragged him over to my apartment to hear a tape of the kids."

Jacobson liked what he heard, and so did a group of executives at Reprise Records, who met at a promotional meeting in Los Angeles — they stood up and applauded.

Miss Abrams was too much a veteran musician to think the battle was won, however. With 10 years of classical piano and a stint in an all-girl rock band behind her, she knew that a lot could happen to a song between writing and recording.

"I've had disappointments before. I almost had a song recorded when I was in the band in Boston," she said, chuckling at the unintentional pun, "and so I knew better than to get my hopes up."

But this time she was working with professionals, and Miss Abrams found that made a difference.

A chorus of third-graders was substituted for the kindergarten class because the older voices are more mature and even, and on April 15 she accompanied 26 students to a San Francisco recording studio.

Miss Abrams still is dizzy from what has followed. The record is fifth on the chart at KFRC, a top-40 station. It's played on underground KSAN and easy-listening KSFO, where someone said, "It's the freshest thing that's happened to us in years."

A disc jockey calls her from Niagara Falls frequently, and a Canadian announcer said, "Everyone has a Mill Valley in his heart."

"So far, I haven't been in Look or Life, and Ed Sullivan hasn't called but that's about all," she said.

Although "Mill Valley" seems to be quite a hit, the financial return may be small indeed. Miss Abrams earns 8 cents a record, and 25,000 records have been sold, 9,800 of them in the Bay Area.

These sales will mean $2,000 for Miss Abrams, but production costs of $3,000 must be paid first. "If there are any substantial royalties left over, I'll give some to the kids, either individually or as a gift to the school," Miss Abrams said.

Miss Abrams hopes a music career will follow the success of "Mill Valley." "I'm not teaching at Strawberry next year," she said. "I feel I have to get away from school to refresh myself." She hopes to participate in a special music program with the Mill Valley School district in the fall.

And, above all, she hopes to be able to stay in Mill Valley no matter what her future holds. A look at the last verse of her song shows why:

"I know that there may come a time I have to leave
Mill Valley,
And every memory will seem like make believe,
And all the good things that are mine right now
Will call to me and ask me how
I could have left them all behind
How could I leave Mill Valley?"

College Acts To Hasten Flood Control Project

Marin Junior College District trustees last night approved a general fund publication budget of $4,658,323 expected to bring a slight dip in the tax rate.

Business Mgr. Norman D. Bird estimated the tax rate would be about 90 cents per $100 assessed valuation, compared to last year's rate of 93 cents.

The proposed budget is $361,472 higher than the 1969-70 expenses.

The general fund budget doesn't cover the district's building budget of $6,534,598, compared to $5,789,740 last year, but bolstered by $3,333,018 in funds left over from last year.

The district's tax rate is limited to 35 cents for the general fund and 35 cents for the building fund with the remainder of the total rate in override taxes.

On planning for a north campus at Novato approved procedures recommended by Supt.-President John A. Grasham which included reactivating a citizens' advisory committee.

The Marin Junior College District Board Also:

NURSING COORDINATOR — Hired Lyla M. Cromer, a nursing teacher at the University of California campus in San Francisco, as coordinator of the registered nursing program at $15,424 a year, including 20 working days beyond the normal school year, to succeed Shirley Conklin who resigned. Miss Cromer, who has a master's degree from the University of California School of Nursing, taught four years at San Francisco State College and was a public health nurse in the Los Angeles area for two years.

PUMPING STATION — Passed a resolution of intention to convey to Ross Valley Sanitary District a .14-acre piece of college property in the "oxbow" bend of Corte Madera Creek for $2,750. The site is to be used for a pumping station in an area designated as an "ecology center."

PARKING — Approved additional parking projects, a gravel lot in the physical education area near Tamalpais Creek, 175 spaces at a cost of $10,000, and a paved lot for 25 cars at 139 Kent Avenue at a cost of $18,000.

SCIENCE CENTER — Agreed to a special session sometime this month, date not set, to review the proposed list of equipment for the new Science Center, estimated to cost $381,041, with the state scheduled to provide $175,675. The list was up for approval but Trustee Harry J. Moore questioned "refurbishing everything". He said the extent of the expenditure required "in-depth study." Cuts of 20 to 25 per cent could be made, he said.

HEALTH FEES — Approved payment of the increase in the cost of group health plans for employees, estimated at $15,339, with the cost to be paid from the override tax levied for health and welfare.

ASCOM BUDGET — Approved a $30,300 budget for Associated Students during 1970-71 with a provision that the board be notified of any changes in the budget during the year. The district will put up $22,790, which is scheduled to be reimbursed from book store profits.

MINOR PROJECTS — Approved minor capital outlay projects for 1970-71 estimated to cost $29,730.

SAN QUENTIN — Approved renewal of its agreement with the state Department of Corrections to provide an instructional program at San Quentin Prison at no cost to the district for 1970-71.

POLICY — Approved a revised adult education policy which provides that adult education instructors have access to instructional materials owned by the college upon request.

MEETING SCHEDULE — Adjourned until 8 p.m. Monday at the Testing Center for a special session on computers, with a special session on a bond and possible tax rate election Nov. 3 scheduled at the Testing Center at 8 p.m. Wednesday. The next regularly scheduled board meeting and public hearing on the proposed 1970-71 budget will be at 8 p.m. Aug. 6 at Olney Hall. Trustees canceled the regularly scheduled meeting of Aug. 20.

CLERK — Hired Genevieve Underwood as accounts payable clerk at a salary of $590 a month.

COMPUTER PROJECT — Authorized submission of a proposal to the National Science Foundation to participate in a computer project at Stanford University sponsored by the foundation at a cost of $1,260 to the district.

CLOSED SESSION — Recessed to a closed session to hear charges against an employee.

College Publication Budget Approved; Tax Dip Expected

Marin Junior College District trustees last night called for a speedup on the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control project on the College of Marin campus after reports the job is behind schedule.

With memory of last year's destructive flooding, trustees feared a repeat disaster if the work is not completed before fall storms.

Under construction is Phase 3A-1 of the creek project, from College Avenue, upstream through Granton Park, scheduled for completion Oct. 29.

Trustees sent a letter to the contractor, J.B. and C. Construction Co. of Scottsdale, Ariz., urging every effort to expedite construction to meet the completion date.

Supt. John A. Grasham said the contractor was considerably behind his own schedule, and the lag would be difficult to make up in the remaining time.

Planning Director Dale A. Fleming said there was "a serious question" that the job could be completed on time, pointing out that the creek has not yet been dried up and excavation is minimal.

Trustees wrote they "were gravely concerned that more progress has not been made."

They notified the contractor that for many years winter floods have been destructive on the campus, and "during storms last December and January the rush of water through the natural creek bed was so intense that it eroded away approximately one-third acre of college property and ripped out 30 trees."

Fleming reported that the Army Corps of Engineers, in charge of the project, is aware that the job is behind schedule and is pressing the contractor.

J. B. and C. Construction Co. began work on June 22, and Fleming said concrete poruing was supposed to start last Friday. He reported that the contractor has had men working extra hours and on weekends.

Murderer Again Sentenced To Gas Chamber

OAKLAND (UPI) — A second California death sentence has been handed Chester A. Johnson.

Johnson, 22, was sentenced to the San Quentin gas chamber Thursday for the slaying of Oakland dentist Dr. Glen Olsen in February of last year.

Johnson was earlier given the same sentence by a Los Angeles County Superior Court for the murder of Loren Silliphant, son of Hollywood writer-producer Stirling Silliphant, a week before the Oakland killing.

Johnson's co-defendant in the Olsen slaying, Terry Jean Phelps, 19, was sentenced to life imprisonment last week.

Miss Phelps and Johnson were arrested in Muskegon, Mich., their hometown.

The deepest oil well drilled in Texas to Jan. 1, 1969—25,340 feet—was a dry hole.

Parking Meter Cheats, Businessman Claims

A San Rafael businessman, suspicious that some Fourth Street parking meters were short-changing motorists, has put one of the machines through a test. It failed, and he says the ticket he got as the result of his experiment proves it.

Emerson Yates, owner of Contractors Engineering and Administrative Services at 110 Belvedere Street, has complained to the city and it appears he may get results.

Yates, in a letter to San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini, says that on Tuesday morning he deposited a contribution in the meter at the corner of Fourth and B streets getting 48 minutes time. He returned 45 minutes later thinking he had three minutes to spare, only to find the red flag flying, a ticket decorating his windshield and a meter maid motoring away.

"If it weren't the second time within a week, at two different meters, I'd be inclined to treat the situation lightly," his letter began. It ended by saying the fine would be paid, but "under vigorous protest."

"I'm convinced that at least some of the meters on Fourth Street are now shorting the parkers by as much as ten per cent on the parking time paid for, and that potential Fourth Street customers are being put to additional penalty to boot," he wrote.

City Mgr. James H. McCown said today he felt Yates has a valid complaint. "I intend to do two things," he told the Independent-Journal. "See that the meter is fixed and do everything I can to have his fine refunded.

McCown agreed that some meters do not accurately reflect time and blamed youths who hit the meters with their hands with damaging a tiny spring in the timing device.

He added the city has two men constantly checking and repairing the meters.

"This is the first complaint we've had in months, but if they continue, I'm going to look into the matter more deeply."

He commented that he had no ready solution to the problem, concluding that other residents who experience a similar situation should notify the city.

Greenbrae Man Chosen President Of Independents

Clifford A. Gerstner of Greenbrae has been elected president of the newly formed county central committee of the American Independent Party.

The group also elected Raymond R. Crawford of San Rafael as vice chairman, John H. Winters of Larkspur, treasurer; Viola Mae Winters of Larkspur, secretary, and Raymond C. Kesner of Larkspur, finance chairman.

Other committee members are T.R. Smith of San Anselmo, John O. Goff of San Rafael, Mary P. Gerstner of Greenbrae, Lawrence R. Binggeli of Novato and Anne Smart of Larkspur.

Mrs. Smart is the party's candidate for state senator from the fourth district.

The next meeting will be Sept. 17 at the Hall of Justice.

Case Transferred

The case of Stephen Allan Thomason, 18, of Novato, has been transferred to juvenile court from Marin Municipal Court. He is accused of stealing a car belonging to a Novato man on June 14.

COAL INVADES THE NORTHWEST

The Pacific Northwest, long the bastion of hydroelectric power, soon will have its first coal-fired thermoelectric plant on the line. The 1.4 million kilowatt plant will supply the energy needs of a city the size of Portland. It's being built at Centralia, Wash., by a group of companies and utility agencies, at a cost of $200 million and is to start operating in September 1971. (UPI Telephoto)

Polaroid Reports Small Profit Dip

CAMBRIDGE, MASS. (UPI) — Polaroid Corp. has reported earnings of 76 cents a year earlier.

Actual net was $24.92 million against $24.16 million last year. Sales, exclusive of those from overseas operations, were down to $184.9 million from $192.72 million a year ago.

However, second quarter earnings were off, 48 cents a share against 52 cents a year ago on a drop in sales to $107 million from $123.17 million.

Stock Market Rises Again, Trade Volume Jumps Today

NEW YORK (UPI) — A vigorous stock market advance swung into the final hour today, with volume running almost two million shares ahead of the previous session.

The UPI market indicator, measuring all stocks traded, posted a gain of 1.52 per cent on 1,544 issues crossing the tape. Advances battered declines by more than three-to-one, 1,012 to 291 to 291.

The Dow Jones Industrial average of 30 selected blue chip companies climbed about 9½ points to 732.82.

A four-hour turnover of 10,760,000 shares was up from 9,080,000 shares which changed hands during a comparable period Thursday.

Analysts attributed optimism to a variety of reasons, including a smart step-up in volume in an advancing market, belief that institutions are finally beginning to show some real appetite for stocks, and better-than-expected June quarter corporate earnings which raised hopes that the economic slowdown was not so bad as had been feared.

On analyst said the ingredient needed for a strong market recovery was a more active participation by institutional investors, and he noted that they now appeared to be making their move.

Large block trading, which showed a marked pickup earlier in the week, continued to account for a good portion of today's activity. Such trading is normally regarded as a sign of institutional participation.

Tiburon Panel Trims, Adds To Outlay

A committee of the Tiburon City Council made minor deletions and additions to the city's operations and capital improvements budgets last night as it prepared the 1970-71 budget for presentation to the full council.

City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose said he has not yet "totaled up the pluses and minuses" but not more than $1,500 would be added to or subtracted from the city's $683,160 budget as a result of the changes.

At prior meetings the finance and administration committee had deleted about $28,000 from the budget, including $6,000 in salary increases, $9,000 as a subsidy to Marin Transit Systems, the operator of feeder bus service to the Tiburon ferry, and $5,000 for radio equipment for the city's public works fleet.

Rose said committeemen Denis T. Rice and Albert H. Sennett refused a request by two parks and recreation commissioners to add $34,000 for parkland acquisition.

George Ellman and F. G. Knight asked for the funds, but Rice and Sennett, although sympathetic to their request, said that such an addition should come from another member of the council, Rose said.

The committee also decided to recommend that the council not speed up payments on capital improvement equipment. Rose had requested the acceleration to cut the size of interest payments.

The only segment of the budget yet to be examined by a committee is the streets budget, which will be considreed by the public services committee, comprised of Sennett and Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood.

Rose said that any major cuts will have to come from this budget. About $141,000 is involved, but $116,000 of this is for gasoline tax projects, which don't affect the property tax rate, so the committee probably will give close study only to some $25,000 in betterment projects to be paid for through the general fund, Rose said.

The city council will consider granting city employees a 5 per cent pay hike, as recommended by the finance committee, when it meets July 27 at 8 p.m. at city hall.

New Sewer Plans Add To Cotati City Budget

A proposed 1970-71 budget of $486,052, including a 5 per cent raise for employees, was presented last night to the Cotati City Council.

The overall budget represented an increase of $166,069 over the 1969-70 budget of $289,983, reflecting plans for a major overhaul of the sewage system.

Taxpayers in sections of the city not served by sewers would see a tax rate increase from $1 per $100 assessed valuation to 1.25. Sections linked to sewers would continue to pay $1.25 per $100 assessed valuation.

Budget appropriations by department (with last year's figure in parenthesis) included: city council, $2,350 (none last year); city manager-clerk, $24,537 ($24,232); city treasurer, $5,100 ($4,400); city attorney, $5,600 ($4,600); planning, $28,306 (6,436).

Governmental buildings, $3,256 ($2,000); non-departmental, $51,453 ($24,094); police, $51,062 ($29,901); building regulations, $1,325 ($1,600); engineering, streets, $14,700 ($7,500); public works, streets, $57,424 ($39,914); water department, $24,635 ($47,638); sewer department, $132,619 ($37,008); parks and recreation, $3,680 ($4,170); street lighting, $3,000 ($3,500); select street system, $67,012 ($52,994).

A special session to review the budget was set for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Cotati fire hall.

Cotati May Acquire School As Its First Full City Hall

The Cotati City Council last night agreed to consider purchase of the Cotati School for a new city hall, to replace outgrown, rented city offices.

In passing a resolution of intent to purchase the building, the council appointed city Mgr. Paul W. Salfen to begin negotiations on price with the Cotati School District.

Part of the school was abandoned by the district when it failed to meet minimum earthquake standards; other classrooms had been plagued by roof leaks.

Salfen said he felt the large school could be renovated more economically than constructing a new building.

Previously, the council had considered a new city hall adjacent to the Cotati Veteran's Memorial Building on Old Redwood Highway.

The Cotati City Council also:

SEWERS — Awarded the contract for new sewer lines and an interconnection with the Rohnert Park sewage disposal plant to Gem Construction Co. of Oakland with a low bid of $80,903.

GENERAL PLAN — Approved agreements with the state, county and Harman D. Ruth Associates of Berkeley for the development of a Cotati master plan.

SUBDIVISION — Approved the request of Margaret Illias for a minor subdivision of property at Maple Avenue and School Street.

Arraignment Set For Pot Suspect In Robbery Case

Roy Morgan Jr., 22, of 19 Park Circle, Marin City, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on suspicion of possession of marijuana July 15 and ordered to appear today with counsel.

Morgan was to be arraigned today on a charge of robbery, in connection with a July 11 hold-up in Mill Valley.

Paul Robert Reynolds, 21, no known address, pleaded innocent yesterday to the robbery charge and Judge Peter Allen Smith denied motions to reduce bail or release him on his own recognizance. Preliminary hearing for Reynolds was set for 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

Another suspect is still sought in the case, according to police.

Stolen Boat Found With Oars Missing

A 10-foot boat was stolen Monday night from the rear of 55 Summit Drive, San Rafael, and recovered at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday near 269 Third Street, San Rafael police reported.

The boat, property of C. John Bernt, 55 Summit Drive, was missing only the oars when recovered, police reported.

Emporium Division Manager Suspect Of Embezzling

A division sales manager for the Emporium at Northgate Shopping Center has been arrested on suspicion of embezzling an estimated sum of $7,000 over the last three years.

Arthur E. Johnson, 30, of 1041 Eighth Street, Novato, turned himself in Wednesday to store security men during an investigation of refund slips suspected to be forged, San Rafael police reported.

He was booked into Marin county Jail on suspicion of grand theft and forgery after a citizen's arrest by the store's security chief.

Johnson was freed on $3,750 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Gallinas Officials Vote New Budget

A budget of $37,750 was adopted last night by the Gallinas Village Community Services District board.

Marguerite F. Clark, board secretary, said the budget represents an increase of $7,638 over 1969-70. The tax rate of $1 per $100 assessed valuation will remain the same.

A $10,000 sum was earmarked for capital outlay for reserve funds for the development of the new Adrian-Rosal Park.

Other allocations include: salaries, $8,180; park maintenance, $7,650; senior citizens, $1,200; recreation supplies, $2,000; office supplies, $1,600; recreation center rental, $4,020; utilities, $2,400, and insurance, $700.

Turban Warning: Very Flammable

Women shopping for turbans to keep their hair in place should beware of one such product, the Federal Trade Commission warns.

"Lu Wane magic turban" manufactured by the Lu Wane Products Company of Wayne, N.J., is dangerously flammable, according to the FTC.

The $1.50 item, which may be white, pink, blue or purple, comes in cartons picturing a woman wearing the turban on the front and instructions and illustrations on the rear, the commission said.

DINING OUT AND INNS

The Fondue Pot Offers Unusual Menu, International Atmosphere

If you are fascinated by an unusual menu, the place for you to try is The Fondue Pot, in the Paradise Shopping Center, Corte Madera.

This place, opened only a little over four months ago by Don Fandre and York Fischer, gives out a certain German atmosphere by reason of German sausages and pumpernickel on the menu and its plentiful stocks of imported beers and long-necked bottles of German white wines — but it's more international than that. The swiss take some credit for fondue — and it seems the Chinese do likewise. Quiche is undniably French, but one salad here is Greek and the other seems Slavic, quasi Asiatic.

If you are diet minded, stay off the cheese fondue and order the beef, prawns or swordfish to deep fry in a fondue to your own taste. If there are several of you, order one or more of each for variety. They make good choices even if you are not on a diet. If you positively need extra calories you'll find them in a chocolate fondue for dessert.

The food is good. How it tastes depends on your own skill in preparing it at the table.

If the menu is fascinating, so is the decor. Knives, forks, condiments and other table accessories are cached on the wall - or suspended from the ceiling if your table is in the middle of the room. Adding to the overall scheme are certain decorative items for sale such as paintings, pottery, handwork, pots, pans, utensils and salt and pepper mills.

You're likely to find the Fondue Pot more popular than you anticipated. Unlike some unusual places that are good for one, maybe two trips, spaced far apart — you could get carried away and return here quite often.

SAN RAFAEL JOE'S gets feature mention and a photograph in this month's issue of Hospitality, a national restaurant trade magazine, for its noonhour broadcasts over radio KTIM with Tugh Turner at the microphone Al Gehi at the Baldwin organ.

A NEW RESTAURANT in Petaluma that opened over the Fourth of July weeekend and has so far played to a couple of packed houses.

This is the Cattleman's Restaurant at 5012 Petaluma Boulevard North. Possibly one reason for its initial popularity is its exposure to 101 Highway traffic. The location is the original site of Sonoma Joe's and in fact it is almost directly across the highway from the old Joe's bar. Cattleman's is a steak house, serving only dinners, with a seating capacity of 320.

It is owned by the Twin Falls Cattle Feeding Co. of Idaho and is the second Cattleman's Restaurant of this organization — the other being at Redondo Beach in Southern California. Co-owner Pete Gillham of Twin Falls Cattle Feeding is managing the restaurant.

Cattleman's ages its own meat and certainly is in a position to know and supply good beef with this background. The staff was trained at the Redondo Beach restaurant.

Steak dinners run from $3.25 to $4.95 and are served seven days a week from 5 p.m. Take the Penngrove cut-off from Highway 101.

YOUNG LOUIS PEPPRAS, who was chef at Bob's of Marin at the time it reverted to the Compton Corp. and was changed back to the Edgewater Inn Restaurant, has taken over the complete food operation at Taberna in San Rafael. He had done some work here previously.

He's now preparing lunches from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. and dinners from 7 to 10 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays. Sunday food service is confined to spaghetti feeds.

Lou also does catering of parties — both at Taberna and if helw elsewhere.

OUT AT STINSON BEACH, the San Dollar has added Thursday to its open days (service is now Thursdays through Sundays). This schedule will continue through Labor Day.

Newly added to the menu are a captain's platter and filet of sole marsala. And on Friday's there's usually an extra seafood item, making four with the lobster.

SENIOR ALFREDO'S MEXICAN RESTAURANT in San Anselmo has won an award from the National Restaurant Association for its menu and this will be on display at the association's western convention in San Francisco during September.

Now handling the food department at Alfredo's in Gonzalo Canto of San Anselmo, formerly of El Sombrero in San Francisco. He was at both restaurants — the one on Geary Street and at the Cannery.

NEW PAINTINGS on display at ernard's Executive Lounge in San Rafael are those of Angela of Terra Linda.

There is a new lunch menu at Bernard's — expanded to include about 10 more items. Dinners are still served from 6 p.m.

STARTING NEXT WEEK, the Crocker Galleries at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael is featuring the Naif painters of Europe. These painters have in common their lack of training. They are farmers, sailors or housewives first, and artists second. Among those having their art on display at Dominic's are Andre Demonchy, Cecile Favier, Marcel Favre and Daniel Ferrara.

MCKEE'S in San Rafael is sparkling again after interior repainting. Nightly $1.75 dinner specials are still the big favorites here.

ARTIST STEVE ELVIN, who has just completed a ceiling mural in oils at the Trident in Suasalito, is preparing to take on another commission from Mike Considine at the Lion's Share in San Anselmo. And in the course of all this he has decided to move his studio from Pacific Grove to San Rafael.

FOLLOWING UP HIS SUCCESS with Sunday "family nights" and chicken and dumplings at Bill and Adolph's West End Villa, San Rafael, Bill Bisson has decided to match it with another special night on Wednesdays, with champagne for all the ladies.

CURRENTLY ON DISPLAY at Eugene's Country Club Restaurant in San Rafael are the works of San Rafael painter Jean Vaccaro, who I understand took some honors at the recent Marin-Sonoma Fair in Petaluma.

Eugene's is open seven days a week from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. A favorite on the $1.35 lunch is beef Burgundy—and to that you might add the hot turkey sandwiches. Next Sunday during the Elks Women's Auxiliary fleamart in the Country Club Bowl parking lot, Eugene's will serve a special $1.25 breakfast and also a $1.25 lunch.

ACCORDING TO MANAGER ROBERT WINEGARNER of the new McDonald's just opened on the San Rafael Miracle Mile, this place has a capacity to provide some 1,800 sandwiches per hour, plus the French fries and milkshakes to go with them.

McDonald's gained its popularity by featuring a moderately priced, limited menu built around hamburgers and assembly line techniques. Although it is classified as a drive-in, car hops and tipping are eliminated, and because of a large family clientele no juke boxes, public phones or cigarette machines are permitted.

Robbery Suspect Is Due In Court

A 22-year-old Terra iLnda man was held to appear in Marin Municipal Court today on suspicion of robbery after he allegedly threw a Mill Valley tavern owner to the floor yesterday and stole $7.

Police said Arthur Vette Hatter, of 1049 Las Gallinas Avenue, entered Quinn's Tavern, at 2 Corte Madera Avenue, yesterday at 9:45 p.m. and demanded a drink.

When the owner, James F. Quinn, told him that the bar was closed, police said Hatter threw Quinn to the floor, grabbed $7 that was lying on the bar, and fled. He was arrested moments later at the bus depot, officers said.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The National Automobile Club advises that of the 108,500,000 drivers in the United States in 1969, 59 per cent were males and 41 per cent females.

Six-year-old Ken Barton's nameless hamster maneuvers over Ken's shoulder to take a good look at the camera. The nameless rodent was one of about 75 animals paraded through Mill Valley yesterday in a pet parade sponsored by the city's parks and recreation department. Land Board Decides Tax Break Shouldn't Go To Small Holdings

Most Marin land holdings of less than 100 acres should not be getting the agricultural tax break, the Marin Land Conservation Advisory Board decided yesterday.

Chairman Boyd Stewart and five board members yesterday pored over a list of 45 parcels of less than 100 acres and decided that 38 should be deleted because they are not bona fide agricultural land. To determine bona fide agricultural land, the advisory board used this yardstick: Is the agricultural operation on the land capable of providing a livelihood for the owner or owners?

Only seven of the smaller (less than 100 acres) parcels met that criteria and should be retained under agricultural preserve contract, the board decided. The remaining 38 should get notices of nonrenewal of contract.

The seven designated as bona fide agricultural are:

1. Eugene C. Brown's 96-acre sheep and chicken ranch on Fallon Road near Sonoma County.
2. Herbert E. Burbank's 96.80 acres of grazing land on the Sonoma County line. This property is adjacent to another 300 acres in Sonoma County which is also under agricultural preserve contract.
3. George Flanders' 6.47 acres in Lagunitas. Mrs. Flanders owns half interest in surrounding property of 444 acres, which are also under contract.
4. Irvin M. Jensen's 60 acres on Tomales-Dillon Beach Road.
5. Alexander Pomi's 8.80 acres on Red Hill Road near Petaluma.
6. Mable G. Sonnichsen's 78.08 acres on Chileno Valley Road.
7. Earl J. Dolcini's 27.80 acres on Wilson Hill Road near Petaluma.

Chairman Stewart emphasized that these are only recommendations, and the final decision must come from the Marin County Board of Supervisors. The land conservation advisory board will meet one or two more times before gathering all its recommendations and turning them over to the county supervisors. Next meeting of the advisory board is 9 a.m. on July 30 in the civic center.

The aim of the advisory board is to make sure that nonagricultural land is not put under agricultural preserve contract as a tax dodge.

Of Marin's total land area of 333,440 acres, the total acreage designated as agricultural preserve area is 213,264 acres. These would all qualify for reduced taxes, but most owners have not signed contracts to get the tax reduction. Contracts have been signed for only 92,500 acres.

The land conservation advisory board will recommend that (1) the agricultural preserve area will be limited to the 92,500 acres already under contract, and (2) even within the 92,500 acres, the 38 smaller parcels sifted out yesterday be taken out of the preserve contract.

Suspect Charged With Indecency

A 25-year-old San Francisco man was arrested by California Highway Patrol officers yesterday as he walked along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Lagunitas clad only in a coat.

Kenneth Vernon Ross was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of indecent exposure, battery and resisting an officer and held in lieu of $6,250 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Officers said they tried to arrest him after they saw him walking in front of a group of people at 5:20 p.m. A brief scuffle ensued, during which Ross threw a punch at the arresting officer, the patrol said.

Official Nod For Landfill Near Cotati

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA—General plans for a large sanitary landfill near Rohnert Park and Cotati were approved yesterday by the Sonoma County Planning Commission.

Representatives of the department of public works and planning staff recommended two sites. The commission gave approval to both possible locations, but preference to 395 acres on Stony Point Road, between Gravenstein Highway and Roblar Road.

The other site, 190 acres, is located on Hamlin Road near Meacham Road. Both sites are west of Cotati and Rohnert Park.

Staff members told the commission that the landfill areas should be large enough to serve the central Sonoma area for 30 years and be able to handle 98 per cent of solid wastes when burning is banned.

The commission also approved a one-year study zone 1.5 miles south of Cotati on both sides of Old Redwood Highway, Minnesota, Rose and Penngrove avenues.

Bald Tires, Bad Road Hints In Probe Of Bus Fatalities

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (UPI)—A federal hearing was ordered today to determine what caused a chartered bus to skid off rain-slicked Interstate 78 Wednesday, killing seven school children and injuring 52 persons.

John H. Reed, chairman of the National Transportation and Safety Board, who is investigating the accident, said he will schedule a hearing within 4 to 6 weeks to obtain "eyewitness" testimony.

Reed said the S-shaped portion of the highway where the busk skidded was "an accident-prone stretch of highway" and scene of three accidents within a week.

Lt. William J. Walker, commanding officer of regional state police barracks, disclosed Thursday that the rear tires of the bus were "bald" and investigators were attempting to learn if the vehicle was travelling at "excessive speed." Walker said the road had an "old concrete" surface which was less resistant to skids than newer pavement.

Two bald rear tires were impounded by state police as part of the investigation.

Reed said he was denied permission to talk to the hospitalized children. He said he would interview as many witnesses and children as he could in the next two or three days and a public hearing will be held "in the near future."

The windows in the bus, designed to pop out on impact, did not provide enough protection, Reed said. Many of the children were thrown out of the bus, some of them crushed under the wreckage. Reed also said the guardrails were "not of the most modern type."

In Harrisburg, the state capital, a transportation department spokesman said the section of the road was earmarked for improvement, but construction work was delayed due to lack of funds.

Walker said state and federal investigators would soon be able to determine the speed at which the bus was traveling by examining a "tachometer" device in the vehicle. The device measures speed and time of day, and records both on a graph.

Police said they hope to question the driver of the bus, Heiber Daye, who is hospitalized in critical condition. The bus was chartered from Academy Charter Co. of Bayonne, N.J., by a Hebrew day camp at Lawrence, N.Y., to carry the children on an overnight excursion to Pennsylvania Dutch country.

The investigation itself was described by state police as "the most intensive accident investigation we've had in this area."

The driver of the fatal bus has had at least eight previous accidents and his license should have been revoked, a state official said today in Trenton, N.J.

New Jersey Motor Vehicles Bureau Director Ronald Heyman said the traffic record of the bus driver, Hubert Daye, "clearly indicated that he should not have been granted permission to drive a commercial vehicle on state highways."

Nicasio Budget Rises; School Tax Decreases

A publication budget of $54,600 was approved by the Nicasio School District board last night, secretary Beverly Albirigi said today.

Although the figure is $3,100 above the 1969-70 budget, she said the general fund tax rate will be reduced by about 6 cents from last year's $1.065 because of an unexpectedly large reserve.

Last year's budget anticipated a carryover of $3,000, but the total came to $17,000 because of higher average daily attendance than expected which resulted in more state and county assistance than was anticipated, she said.

The board decided to use the windfall to cut the tax rate and add $4,500 to the tentative budget of $50,000 approved June 30, the secreatry said.

Added were $1,000 to buy land behind Nicasio School from the Marin Municipal District, another $1,000 to fill and fence it, $500 to instruction for a reading program and $2,000 to the reserve fund, she said.

Public hearing on the budget is set for Aug. 4 at 8 p.m. at Nicasio School.

25 years in the making.

We'd like to thank the makers of the other new economy cars for giving us such a nice head start.

It gave us time to develop an inspection system so ridiculously scrupulous that it expects every VW to pass 16,000 examinations.

It allowed us to find out (at a reasonably scientific pace) how we could double our horsepower without doubling the cost of your horsepower. (The VW still gets about 26 miles to the gallon and requests only a smidgen of oil.)

It permitted us to work on things that didn't even have to do with the actual making of the car. Medi-car, the VW Diagnosis System, for example. Electronic equipment that can spot trouble in a car before it gets to be trouble. When you buy a new VW, you get 4 free Medi-car checkups.

Of course, it took great fortitude to resist squandering our time on phony styling improvements..

The beetle looks just as good (or bad) as it did 25 years ago.

Yes, The I-J Goofed— How About City Council?

Tiburon's city administration caught the Independent-Journal this week in a tender spot.

The I-J goofed, crowed City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose, City Atty. Robert I. Conn, and city councilmen, on (of all things!) the Ralph M. Brown act.

The I-J had reported that a series of secret meetings of a council committee to discuss the proposed city budget had violated the Brown Act, which requires that meetings of public bodies be open and announced.

ATTORNEY CONN read to the council a sentence in Section 54952.3 of the California Government Code — part of the chapter known as the Brown Act — which exempts from the open, announced meeting requirement "a committee composed solely of members of the governing body of a local agency which are less than a quorum of such governing body."

The secret sessions had been held by the finance and administration committee, composed of Mayor Denis T. Rice and Councilman Albert H. Sennett — two out of five council members; therefore not a quorum.

The councilmen had a good deal of fun at the I-J's expense. Well they might. The I-J is rarely caught in error on the Brown Act.

BUT LET'S CONSIDER what happened.

Late in June, City Manager Rose submitted a budget calling for outlay of $711,160, up approximately 25 per cent from last year's budget. It was announced the finance and administration committee would review it before consideration by the full council this month.

The I-J inquired from time to time as to when the committee meetings on this big outlay of public money would be held. Mayor Rice said he would let the paper know, and "of course they will be open to the public."

This week, the committee submitted the budget to the full council, disclosed the meetings had been held in secret, and crowed with delight because it was all legal.

MORE THAN A CENTURY ago, when Fernando Wood was mayor of New York and his board of aldermen was known as "the 40 Thieves," a man named Robert W. Lowber obtained a $196,000 judgment against that city for a plot of land it had taken by condemnation but for which he had not been paid. He demanded immediate payment.

Lowber presented his claim during a "dry period" before tax collections. The city did not have enough money to pay him and meet its payroll.

Mayor Wood sent runners to summon the board of aldermen to a special, unannounced meeting. At it, the board voted to sell the city hall to satisfy Lowber's judgment.

There was no trouble finding a buyer. Alderman Daniel F. Tiemann (who later became mayor) offered to buy the city hall for $50,000. His generous offer was promptly accepted. He then rented the hall to the city for conduct of its business.

When tax money came in, Tiemann sold the city hall back to the city — at a profit, of course.

NATURALLY, what had transpired eventually came to light. Naturally, there was some uproar. Mayor Wood, the aldermen and city attorney took high ground. Everything that had been done, they declaimed, was perfectly legal.

And so it was.

We are not comparing the Tiburon City Council with Mayor Fernando Wood and the 40 Thieves. We cite the famous New York City H211 transaction as evidence that, when it comes to deciding how to spend the people's money, members of a public body have a little higher obligation than just "being legal."

The Great Train Robbery

Whales In Danger

If you think whaling practically disappeared with canvas sails on the square-rigger, think again. In the decade of the 1960s, more whales were slaughtered than in any decade in history.

Now, huge factory ships roam the world, seeking the large species, such as the blue whale and the sperm whale. Although the killing of whales is limited by treaties and conventions among the major whaling countries, many marine biologists are concerned that whaling, if continued at the present rate, will soon result in the extinction of some of the bigger species.

If we lose the big whales through greed and neglect, we lose something truly marvelous. Not only are they the biggest mammal, they are highly intelligent — ranking close to the chimpanzee. We humans are just beginning to appreciate these remarkable beasts. We hope it is not too late.

Wetback Case Shows How One Agency Negates Another

By JACK COOPER

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The Court of Appeals here turned down some migrant farm workers who sought to enjoin some Central Valley growers from knowingly hiring wetbacks.

The action was a class suit brought on behalf of all Northern California migrant workers, and had the injunctive relief been granted, it would have had widespread implications.

The plaintiffs alleged that the illegal entrants accept work under inferior conditions and unlawfully compete with domestic farm workers for the available employment.

They further alleged that this increases the rate of unemployment and depresses the earnings of Northern California farm workers, that the hiring of illegal entrants cost Northern California farm workers $2.7 million in lost wages in 1969 and costs the public increased annual welfare expenditures of not less than $1.4 million for support of domestic farm workers and their families.

THE DEFENDANT growers admitted the truth of the allegations of fact, but held an injunction would invade the federal sphere of immigration regulation, and that Congress has exempted employers from criminal liability for hiring illegal entrants without inquiry.

The whole thing sounded like an exercise in futility, and perhaps it was, but the appeals court's decision is an indictment of federal inaction in protecting American workers against foreign competition.

"Plaintiffs seek the aid of equity," the court said, "because the national government has breached the commitment implied by national immigration policy."

In spite of decades of protest and officially expressed concern, the court went on, there has been no solution to "the dilemma posed by agriculture's heavy, short-term need for manpower and society's inability to absorb that manpower when agriculture's need is past."

"IT IS OBVIOUS that the aliens enter the country to get jobs and would stay home if jobs were not available," the court said.

"Officially oblivious to the utterly obvious, the Social Security Administration issues cards and account numbers to illegal entrants with no inquiry as to alienage or immigration status."

"In a continuing display of incredible insularity, one agency of the federal government puts its foot in a door which another agency (The Immigration Service) is striving vainly to close."

So you think you have troubles? Artist Salvador Dali, conversing with Author Alain Bosquet, confided, "I'm in a constant interrogation of myself: When does the deep and philosophically valid Dali begin and where does the looney and preposterous Dali end?"

Mrs. Frotzponem, a very careful shopper, dug her hands into the fresh peaches on a Hester Street pushcart and inquired, "How much?" "Two for 15 cents," was the answer. "And how much is one?" she asked. "Eight cents," said the peddler.

Mrs. Frotzponem said, "I'll take the other one."

60 Taxpayers To Support Chamber

A letter of mine a few days ago regarding the $30,000 tax subsidy to chamber of commerce elicited phone calls and a packet of mail from the Chamber. I should like to give my reasons for opposing this exceedingly generous gratuity of my tax-money by the board of supervisors.

The chamber letter detailed the good work it does for the business men of Marin, and sent me "testimonial" letters from these same businessmen saying so. I agree, the chamber does good work for the business men of Marin. That is its reason for existence.

But why tax money? The chamber could not answer that question. Many organizations serve all the citizens of Marin, yet ask no dole. I cite the Cancer Society, the Heart Association, or the TB Association, which, incidentally, gave to the county the x-ray machine now in use. There are many other such organizations—not asking for a tax handout, yet, benefitting all the citizens.

Why then $2,500 per month to an organization which serves the private profit of a very few? This is the total tax take from about 60 homes per year! Think about it — 60 homes whose taxes cannot pay for fire, roads, police, schools or even the supervisors' salaries.

SEATO Allies Cop Out On U.S. 'Commitment'

(John S. Knight in Detroit Free Press)

Secretary William P. Rogers, the State Department's traveling man, is just discovering what the rest of us have known for a long time.

He learned at a Manila meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization from South Vietnam, South Korea, Thailand and the Philippines that the United States must not reduce its military, political or economic "commitments" in the Pacific region in any serious way.

SEATO, a collective defense pact devised by the late John Foster Dulles in 1954, has been used by Lyndon Johnson, Dean Rusk and now the Nixon administration as the rationalization for our involvement in Indochina.

It is this so-called "commitment" which has cost 42,919 American lives and another 282,966 wounded, to say nothing of countless billions in U.S. resources.

The treaty, despite the claims of its supporters, is not a binding legal instrument and has no force or effect upon the United States. Nevertheless and notwithstanding our failure to act "in accordance with constitutional processes," each administration from Kennedy to Nixon has upheld the fiction of SEATO while ignoring the requirement to consult with the Congress.

MEMBERS of SEATO, other than the United States, are Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Philippines, Pakistan and Thailand — all presumably interested in saving Southeast Asia from communism.

Since 1954, Britain and France have made no contributions in men or money; Australia, New Zealand and the Philippines provided only token forces; Pakistan is disinterested and Thailand is miffed over U.S. refusal to pay for Thai activities in Cambodia.

In 1954, I warned that any involvement in Vietnam would find the United States without significant support from its allies who had the most to lose in Indochina.

The U.S. casualty statistics and the present plight of America will attest to the accuracy of that prediction.

But now come our friends to beg us not to leave, or even to reduce the "American presence." Secretary Rogers has reiterated that the United States intends to remain a Pacific power, and that the Nixon Doctrine does not mean isolation but simply readjustment to the new realities of world and domestic politics...

Of incidental interest is the intelligence that Thailand, which always has its hand out, fought with Japan against the United States in World War II.

THOUGH OUR Mr. Rogers stated in Saigon that the time has come for "real negotiations — to end this war and bring to the people of South Vietnam a fair and lasting peace," there is absolutely no hard evidence to indicate that President Thieu and his government have the slightest interest in reaching an accommodation with Hanoi.

As Parade magazine says in today's (July 12) issue, "The American public has not been told the full truth about the extent of the U.S. involvement in Cambodia any more than it was told the truth about our military role in Laos or how much it cost the U.S. taxpayer to get the Filipinos, the South Koreans, the Thais and the Australians to support us in Vietnam."...

The tragedy of our Indochina adventure is that it will be recounted in history as an egregious blunder.

Must we destroy America in a vain effort to bring peace and brotherhood to an area of the world where dissident peoples have been warring for centuries?

Are we willing to pay the price?

Are you?

Ways To Reduce Bridge Accidents

Regarding the recent slaughter on the Golden Gate Bridge approach:

Many of these accidents could be avoided without an investigation from experts sent out from Washington.

Make it mandatory to enforce a 35 miles per hour limit for all vehicles approaching the bridge from the south. Good policing and a $25 fine for the first offense would, in my opinion, help the elimination of this horrible slaughter until a major correction of the approaches can be made.

Return the bridge speed limit to 45 miles per hour. That is, if rigid enforcement is made.

Few At Meeting, Many At Polls

I would agree with Mr. (Richard L.) Tracy's statement ("Readers Say" July 14) that the majority stayed away from the San Rafael Board of Education meeting, but I would also add that they really turned out for the tax-rate increase election on June 2.

I wonder if Mr. Tracy took note that the San Rafael electorate approved the sewer proposition, and in turn disapproved the tax increase for the San Rafael City Schools.

Court Choice Could Revive Old Scandal

By ROY McGHEE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If President Nixon picks one particular way to repay Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., for fighting two Senate confirmation battles for him, he could precipitate yet another of those battles.

Hruska built considerable credit at the White House by campaigning long, — hard — even though in losing causes— on behalf of Judges Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. and G. Harrold Carswell, Nixon's first two choices for a Supreme Court vacancy.

Now Hruska wants to draw on that credit by having the President name Donald R. Ross, an Omaha lawyer, to the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals vacancy created when Nixon's third choice, Judge Harry A. Blackmun, was elevated to the Supreme Court.

SELECTION of Ross could produce a post mortem of one of the scandals of the Eisenhower administration. And quiet word is going around Capitol corridors that Senate liberals could be expected to take up arms all over again if Nixon goes along with Hruska and his Nebraska colleague, GOP Sen. Carl T. Curtis.

There also could be political backlash against Hruska himself.

Ross, now a Nebraska GOP national committeeman, resigned as U.S. attorney in the middle of the aforementioned scandal, although he was described as a victim of circumstances in the matter.

THE 1956 UPROAR involved the lobbying efforts of one John M. Neff on behalf of Superior Oil Company, which wanted a helpful natural gas bill enacted. Neff, a Lexington, Neb., lawyer, sent Sen. Francis Case, R-S.D., (now deceased) an unsolicited $2,500 campaign contribution, which Case rejected. Case then made a speech about the offer and a Senate investigation followed.

The natural gas bill was subsequently enacted, but vetoed by President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

DURING THE INQUIRY, Ross volunteered that Neff had asked him to intercede with Hruska and Curtis for the bill, also offering campaign contributions to the senators. He also disclosed that Neff had opened savings and loan accounts for the Ross children.

Ross testified he advised Neff against making the contributions and that he returned the savings account passbooks to Neff.

William P. Rogers, now secretary of state, was then deputy attorney general. Rose said Rogers told him his connections with Neff might reflect unfavorably on the Justice Department, and Ross resigned.

Subsequently, the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee found that Ross' "conduct in this matter is not reproachable and that he was merely the victim of an environment created by Mr. Neff."

THE COMMITTEE did, however, censure Neff, and the gas industry reverted to more circumspect lobbying.

Ross went on to a successful career as a corporation lawyer, but has kept his hand in Republican politics.

Frank B. Morrison, Democratic former governor of Nebraska and now a candidate for Hruska's Senate seat, has been telling Democratic senators that Ross' appointment is imminent. Morrison might gain from a public review of the old Republican scandal in any Ross confirmation hearings.

Democrats on the Judiciary Committee are not anxious to challenge Nixon again on a court appointment. They hope the President names somebody else and avoids a new fight. But they will feel obligated to air the 14-year-old incident if Ross is nominated.

Arms Limitation Pact Chances Considered Good

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Prospects are good for a limited disarmament agreement, in principle, at the strategic arms limitation talks in iVenna this summer.

That is the word which is circulating here. It follows consultations in which new guidelines were supplied to Gerald C. Smith, the top U.S. negotiator in the talks with the Soviet Union.

Under his new instructions, Smith will seek a generalized agreement to limit both offensive and defensive strategic weapons. The Russians are said to be receptive to such an agreement as a first step toward detailed arrangements which would be embraced later in a treaty or treaties.

There seems to be a good chance that the U.S. and Russian negotiators will agree to:

— Put a limit on the total number of strategic delivery systems — planes and missiles — which each of the superpowers could retain in its weapons arsenal.

— Limit the level of anti-missile activity (ABM) by each nation.

SUCH AN agreement would not touch such difficult issues as the deployment of MIRVs — multiple, independently targeted reentry vehicles for use on the delivery systems. Russia will not agree to on-site inspection, and there seems to be no way to limit MIRV deployment without inspection of weapons.

An agreement, in principle, of this sort would also leave a number of other difficult problems for subsequent negotiations. For example, do U.S. long-range fighter-bombers, such as the bomber version F-111, qualify as strategic delivery systems? Do intermediate-range Russian missiles, targeted on U.S. military bases and on cities in Western Europe, come within the limitation?

THESE REPORTS indicate that an agreement might include a complete ban on ABM systems. Indications are, however, that a rather tight limitation on ABM — the defense of Moscow and Washington, for example — is a more likely alternative.

In any case, it is quite clear that President Nixon's Safeguard ABM is, as its proponents have always argued, an important negotiating chip on the Vienna poker table.

EVEN IF IT were little more than an agreement to seek agreement, the initialing of a limited disarmament agreement, in principle, would have unlimited impact and implications. It would certainly be billed as an international accommodation comparable with the limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

For President Nixon and the GOP some of the impact would be political. Such an agreement would figure as a major administration accomplishment in the arena of foreign relations, which has seen few Nixon triumphs.

More importantly, the initialing of such an agreement — especially if the Vietnam withdrawal is going well — could deprive Democratic peace candidates of a good deal of their campaign thunder. Such a circumstance would help GOP candidates in the off-year elections.

Play For Sausalito Drydocks: 'King Richard M. Nixon III'

Despite the uncertain future of the Sausalito drydocks, actor Rip Torn is going ahead with plans for an intriguing production of Shakespeare's "Richard III" to be presented on the docks this fall.

Torn plans to portray the crafty, murderous Plantagenet monarch as Richard M. Nixon, complete with Nixon voice and makeup, a daring undertaking in a predominantly Republican county. "Both Richards are the same kind of politician," the actor said.

He feels the production — which will feature background music by the Jefferson Airplane — will clearly demonstrate Shakespeare's relevance in today's world. "Shakespeare is right now; he has meaning for us," Torn said, adding, "He was a very subversive — and often obscene — playwright."

THERE WILL BE some changes in the play, but most — like those in the dialogue — will be minute ones. However, Torn is thinking of a finale which Shakespeare never wrote but probably would have approved as good theater.

After the mob attacks and kills the king, Torn envisions Richard rising into the sky as a huge, purple butterfly, possibly by the use of balloons, a suggestion from one of the Jefferson Airplane.

He sees Chris Roberts' drydocks as "a great natural setting, massive and anachronistic, reminiscent of the Tower of London. And a fitting setting too, since the Globe Theater, where Shakespeare's works were first performed, was located on the Thames River in London and was reached by boat."

Meanwhile, plans for a world cultural center to be built from the docks are moving ahead as rapidly as possible since Roberts and his supporters hope to have a fairly concrete plan to present when the drydock case next goes to court. County officials are still saying publicly that the drydocks must go, but some feel privately that there may be no practical way to remove them and several have said a cultural center might be a good way to solve the problem.

WHILE THE FUROR over the City of Sausalito's decision to curtail parking on downtown Bridgeway has raged outside, employees at City Hall have been quietly keeping a notebook for residents who wish to comment on the ban.

The results show there are definitely two sides to the controversy. Of 52 comments, 40 are in favor, often enthusiastically, of the city plan to eliminate parking on a two-block section of the street.

And Acting City Mgr. H. Eric Borgwardt points out that all of the comments recorded since planter boxes replaced the sadnbags originally used to enforce the ban have been favorable.

Some typical resident comments: "Best downtown improvement in my 10 years of residence"; "First time I've been able to get into the downtown area or even through it"; "Bravo, the beginnings of a new and better Sausalito" and, from a 50-year resident: "Sausalito looks cleaner and somehow roomier .. .At long last I don't hate to come downtown now."

Hitch Seeks Tougher Powers Over Classes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The University of California's president is asking for addition of powers, including some of the curriculum control which the faculty alone has held for half a century.

President Charles J. Hitch told regents Thursday that the nine-campus university's integrity needs protection from outside groups.

His office, he said in a 5,000 word statement, needs new authority to make sure courses are given at the time and place authorized and with the specified content.

While avoiding concrete recommendations, Hitch's thrust was toward a demand for power over the curriculum, although the faculty Academic Senate has been responsible for authorizing and supervising courses since 1920.

"I shall assume a responsibility for establishing disciplinary precedures which are consistent with the policy of the regents," he promised.

Regent Edward W. Carter remarked that, "It takes great courage for a president to take on the faculty...As I read it, he is doing this."

Chancellor Roger W. Heyns of the Berkeley campus reported that 22 per cent of the 2,700 courses offered there were modified in Many and June after the U.S. invasion of Cambodia and the shooting of students at Kent State University.

There were a "small number of serious abuses," he added, but the "vast majority" of the faculty behaved very responsibly, he said. Other matters before the regents were a report on the grading system and complaints that university facilities were be ing used for nonacademic purposes. A report requested by regents showed that 21.5 per cent of the grades given to freshmen and sophomores last fall were As while only 2.6 per cent were Fs. During a 1962-65 comparative period, 15.3 per cent got A's and 3.3 per cent flunked.

W. Glenn Campbell, regent who requested the study, said the figures were deceptive, noting that the Berkeley English department gave A's or B's to 33 per cent of its students in the early 1960's and to 62.2 per cent last fall. He contrasted that to the chemistry department which gave A's or B's to 39.7 per cent last fall and to 41.4 per cent in 1962.

Donald M. Dozer, Santa Barbara Latin-American history professor, declared one unnamed professor gave all students grades of either A or A-minus, except those who distributed his political leaflets. They got A-plus. The regents audit committee was ordered to investigate assertions that Berkeley facilities were used for political purposes.

That came after an Oakland produce dealer, Grant J. Hunt Jr., complained of receiving mailings from the campus urging support for the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee.

A number on the mailing was that of the university, he continued, and when he dialed it the person who answered once responded: "United Farm Workers" and then "Huelga (strike)."

Cranston Seeks To Cancel 68 Offshore Oil Leases

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., called today for immediate cancellation of all but three federal oil leases in the Santa Barbara Channel off the coast of California.

Cranston, in an amendment to legislation he introduced last year, called for cancellation of 68 oil leases and a ban on any future leases.

Under the amendment three leases on which drilling platforms now are in operation would not be immediately canceled.

The three leases which would remain in force include the one in which an underwater blowout occurred in January 1969, resulting in an oil slick that fouled Santa Barbara beaches. The other two leases are nearby.

Cranston noted that the Interior Department has given the Union Oil Company permission to continue drilling on the first lease in an effort to drain the reservoir and thus halt the oil leak. The same reservoir extends beneath the second lease, which is operated by the Sun Oil Company.

The third lease, operated by Phillips Oil Company, is adjacent to state tidelands and will tap a reservoir being pumped on state lands by Standard and Richfield.

Cranston said a "precedent" for cancellation of oil leases had been set by the administration in a bill introduced by Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., to cancel 20 channel leases.

"I believe there has been a growing consensus that no further leases should be put into production in the Santa Barbara Channel," Cranston said in calling for cancellation of all but the three leases with drilling platforms already in operation.

Air Force Plans Command Change At Hamilton Base

In continuing streamlining of the administration of the Air Force's Aerospace Defense Command, the command structure at Hamilton Air Force Base will change on Oct. 1, the Air Force has announced.

The change will affect 13 military jobs and three civilian positions, but these people will be placed in other positions on the base, according to officials.

The 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron will come under the command of the 26th North American Air Defense Region at Luke Air Force Base, Phoenix, Ariz. The first fighter wing has been in command of the 84th squadron.

Designation as first fighter wing will be taken by a unit of the Tactical Air Command at MacDill Air Force Base, Fla.

Behr's Spending As Compared With Salary Of State Senator

Fusselman

In this column on June 5: "This (election) on last Tuesday demonstrated that you can't always buy an election. The man who tried to unseat Sen. George Murphy found this out.

"Closer to home it seems to have worked. Peter Behr or his conservative supporters spent a bundle. It will be interesting to see what they report. Certainly the man who masterminded the campaign didn't work for peanuts.

"The story is that he is the one who handled Congressman Pete McClusky's successful effort to beat our little Lolly Pop."

NOW, IN THE I-J Of July 9 a headline across page 32, "Behr Spent $84,688 In Primary Contest." The article went on to say that only about two dozen of the hundreds of candidates for the 100 contested state legislative seats reported more than $20,000 and most of only one spent more than Behr. He was Paul N. (Pete) McClosky, who spent $92,576 to win his nomination.

"Oddly, of the candidates for U.S. House of Representatives, these spent less than $40,000.

"Behr reported a total of $68,525 in contributions, including $13,000 of his own money, thus leaving a deficit of $16,-163.

"The $55,525 Behr reported as income from others included $46,675 in contributions and $8,850 in loans." This is the primary cost. There still is the cost of the final election in November.

LET THAT BOGGLE your intelligence while you consider the figures to follow. The salary of a state senator is now $16,000 a year. I understand that it will go to $19,200 next term.

This means that during the four-year term, if he is elected, he will receive in salary $7,888 less than he spent for the primary alone.

What price what? Can it be glory? A few decades ago it was still thought indelicate, you know, to try to buy your way into polite society. It seems to me that it was also considered so of public office by the nice and proper people.

Are you completely boggled by this financial picture? 'So be I."

Marin Directors Of EOC Request Action By Nixon

Directors of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council have passed a resolution asking the President to withdraw from Indochina and instead fight "the social malignancies that now threaten the very foundations of our democracy."

The resolution, signed by chairman Eloise T. Brown, urged action without further delay because there are "cries of anguish and shouts of anger, reminding us that time is working against us."

The resolution singled out welfare assistance, housing, hospitals and mental institutions as particularly inadequate.

Highway 101 at Olive, Novato

A MARRIED COUPLE show how much fun it is after building a tower of blocks to let it come tumbling down, just as children might. The couple participated in a seminar conducted in Chicago by Mill Valley resident Marian Saltman, a former consultant on child growth and development, who teaches the psychology of play to adults.

A THERAPIST, usually concerned with encouraging children to express their feelings and talents in finger painting, found out how exciting it is to do it himself during the Gestalt group's seminar conducted by Mrs. Saltman in Chicago.

A FAMILY COUNSELOR, center, having just finished a finger painting, illustrates in her uninhibited pose the complete freedom participants in the adult play seminars have to do anything that makes them comfortable or happy.

PSYCHOLOGY OF PLAY

Adults Rediscover Spontaneity

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Marian Saltman has a very unusual and fascinating occupation — teaching the psychology of play to adults.

Until two years ago, when she came to Mill Valley, Mrs. Saltman had her own practice in Los Angeles as a consultant on child growth and development, educational therapy and family counseling.

Later she made an interesting discovery — that adults can benefit as much from unhibited play as do children, whose unconscious play activities frequently produce some surprisingly creative resluts.

THE TROUBLE, she says is that adults have not only forgotten how to play but also often have so much guilt about freedom and play that their potential joy in life as well as their growth and creativity are stifled. They think that play is somehow sinful, except for children, when in fact it is necessary for mental health. Adults need the regular experience of creating just as much as youngsters.

"We have become a society of spectators — whether it's TV or baseball we pay other people to do things for us," Mrs. Saltman says. "Much of our environment discourages self-expression. By going back in an easy non-threatening way to rediscover the child within, the adult can rediscover latent potential talents."

This is important for any individual, but it is especially valuable for therapists and teachers of young children, she believes. Many have said that the sessions made them better able to cope with the children and that they were even more tolerant of their own children afterward, she notes.

Mrs. Saltman now conducts classes in how to become freer and more creative through play activities for such organizations as educational institutions, growth centers like Esalen in Big Sur, and groups of parents, psychologists and social workers. She is a member of the Association for Humanistic Psychology.

This fall she will teach a course in the psychology of play at Sonoma State College.

AN OBJECTIVE of the course, she says, will be to bring about the integration of the child and the adult, combining the adult desire to make meaning with form and ability to learn technique with the child-like quality of spontaneous free expression.

"Through study and actual participation in play activities with various media the child within emerges," she explains, "revealing the long forgotten joys and creativity of childhood, as well as the early frustrations and restrictions which may still be blocking free self-expression. Play experiences arise spontaneously in class and are not contrived."

As an example of what a session is like Mrs. Saltman described a seminar she conducted in Chicago, in which the pictures accompanying this story were taken, for a Gestalt group composed primarily of professional persons, such as teachers, therapists and social workers.

"The session started with a brief get-together, or encounter, as sensitivity training specialists call it.

"A LARGE room was transformed into a magic theater. We had all the usual art materials, including finger paint, clay, bright tempera easel paint and collage materials. The art materials also lent themselves to making headdresses and costumes. We had dress-up clothes and rythm instruments, which provided the background for music and dancing, ladders to climb and sit on, and blocks, great big ones, for building tall structures and little houses.

"Play started with individual activity, changed to smaller group involvements and ended with the entire group playing together. Each session is different, depending upon the individuals in the group.

"People learn," she emphasizes, "that what they do doesn't have to be a big thing for which they must have talent. The process is more important than the product. Yet some people do discover unsuspected talents."

Mrs Saltman, who has two children, says her present specialty actually grew out of her deep interest in child growth and development.

A native of New York, she attended school there and majored in English at Occidental College in Glendale. Later she completed work on a B.A. at San Fernando Valley State College in general elementary and primary education.

For some years she was director of a parent cooperative pre-school in Los Angeles and director of a children's summer camp at Santa Cruz.

Just before she established her own practice in educational therapy and family counseling in Los Angeles, she was an educational therapist at the Dubnoff School for Educational Therapy in that city.

European Tour Includes Visits With Relatives

To celebrate her daughter Robin's completion of work toward a teaching credential at Dominican College, Mrs. John Ericson of Belvedere took her to Europe for the month of June.

Delighted with the travel on trains crossing Europe, they first journeyed to Benidorm, Spain, where Mrs. Ericson's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Evan Barnard, formerly of Mill Valley, are enjoying their first year of retirement in a beach apartment on the Mediterranean. The Barnards intend to return to Marin this fall.

The four traveled to Granada to see the Alhambra built by the Moors. They traveled on to Avignon to see the bridge and to Saltzburg, Austria and Luxembourg, where Mrs. Erickson's niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Clive Sanders, live. Formerly of Terra Linda, the Sands moved to Luxembourg when Clive was appointed manager of the Wells Fargo Bank in Luxembourg.

In London and Paris they were impressed with the inexpensive and efficient city transportation systems.

MRS. FRANK B. Williams of Sausalito was hostess at a luncheon Tuesday at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito in honor of her granddaughter, Betsy Ann Williams. Betsy, who lives in Palo Alto, is a Peninsula debutante this year.

COL. AND MRS. Wilbur Tapscott and their 12-year-old daughter, Libby, have returned to Marin County following three years in Japan, where Colonel Tapscott was stationed with the Air Force. This was their second tour of duty in Japan, but entirely different, Mrs. Tapscott said as the first tour was in Southern Japan and the second in Northern Japan, where Mrs. Tapscott said she skiied and golfed a great deal.

While in Japan, their oldest daughter, Terri, was married on April 28 at the American Embassy in Tokyo to Capt. Louis R. Egea. Captain Egea, from Southern California, and Terri are now in the Phillipines, where they will be for more than one year as Captain Eagea is a jet pilot.

The Tapscott's son, Peter, will be a junior at Syracuse University, in New York next year but is home for the summer.

Colonel Tapscott will be leaving in September for Viet Nam, where he will be commander of the 504th Air Reconnaisance Group for all Viet Nam, stationed at Cam Ranh Bay. Prior to leaving he will go to Florida next week for a month's additional training.

While Colonel Tapscott is in Viet Nam, Libby and Mrs. Tapscott will stay with her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gerard P. Kievenaar in Lucas Valley as they have leased their own home in Lucas Valley.

Colonel and Mrs. Tapscott are both native Marinites. She was born in Sausalito, and he was born in Kentfield. They both attended Tamalpais High School and College of Marin.

MR. AND MRS. Aleksander Czubak of Novato renewed their wedding vows at a nuptial mass at Our Lady of Loretto Church on their 25th wedding anniversary on Saturday. The Rev. Albin Kudzielka of Mission Dolores in San Francisco performed the mass.

Increasing Suicides Impossible To Type

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Their cries of anguish are on the quiet side. Yet they are the people caught in a life and death struggle—with themselves.

They are the potential suicides, the persons who for one reason or perhaps for many reasons are so desperate the only way out seems to be self-destruction.

They do kill themselves at an alarming rate. Conservative estimates put the total at 25,000 suicides a year. Some authorities double, even triple, that total.

It is difficult to make an accurate count because some suicides are the "conventional" ones—an overdose of barbituates, say. But others are harder to pinpoint, like the sole occupant of a car who deliberately turns and drives into oncoming traffic. He will be listed officially as a highway fatality.

Suicide is listed as the 10th leading cause of death, the leading cause of unnecessary death.

So reports Paul Curtis, a research consultant in community services for the Center for Studies of Suicide Prevention, the National Institute of Mental Health, Chevy Chase, Md.

The institute has just published "Quiet Cries," a 30-minute drama written by playwright Elizabeth Blake, under auspices of Plays for Living, a division of the Family Service Association of America.

The play is designed expressly for presentation by amateur groups at community sessions, PTA meetings, at schools, churches, mental health association meetings, conventions, YMCA workshops and the like.

The idea is to help toward

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Without Trust In Fellow Men, Peace And Dignity Impossible

DEAR HELEN:

Don't get me wrong. I'm all for store security, but this is too much.

I work for a large branch department store. Yesterday the security guard picked out four men at random, took them to a room and made them undress. This was also done to four women by a woman guard.

Helen, these people weren't suspected of theft — they were made an example to show other employees they couldn't get away with anything. I was one of them.

This morning I got a raise and promotion, so you can see I'm not considered dishonest.

Helen, how can our world ever achieve peace when the very ingredient of trust in your fellow man is missing? — JOE

DEAR JOE:

Counter question: How can you ever achieve dignity working for an outfit like this? Spend your off-hours looking for another job. — H

DEAR HELEN:

Would you please do me a favor and print my letter? It's the only way I can contact "the girls in the 'Bug'."

You see, I am a school crossing guard who enjoys her work. On the last day of school, I realized how much it meant to me. A certain young lady passed me every day in her little car, on her way to high school with her friends. I've enjoyed their "beep-beep" and cheery "Hi!"

I can't express how touched I was, when on the last day, they stopped and gave me a bouquet of carnations with a card wishing me a nice summer, stating they won't be "bugging,' me any more.

So . . . This is to those girls in the Volkswagen bug whose names I don't know. "Dear Girls: May I always be "bugged" by lovely young ladies like you." — JOAN K. GREENLEAF

P.S. Helen, this is only one incident out of many during the past year, that shows me our new generation is very much okay.

DEAR JOAN:

Right on! And thanks for helping to prove it. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My daughter is getting married and the girls in the bridal party want to give a shower. They suggested a "greenback shower", as she and her husband will be travelling to various Air Force bases for the next few years and they don't plan on setting up a house for a while.

Is this in good taste? — MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER:

If wedding gifts of money are appropriate, so too are shower gifts — especially when the bride and groom must travel light for a while.

How about a money tree, with bills wrapped in colored foil? I'm assuming all the girls are very close friends who will get together beforehand and decide the amount to be given. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Yesterday our son's college grades arrived in the mail while he and I were out. My husband opened the letter. When our son came home, he was upset because his father had snooped. We never open each other's personal mail, but we figure we have a right in this instance, as we are paying his tuition. Your opinion? — MRS. S.

DEAR MRS. S.:

A fellow has the right to open his mail first, but you have a right to see his grades. Your husband's timing was wrong, and your son was being just a little picky. — H.

Pritchard-Montvernay Ceremony Read Saturday In San Rafael

David Wesley Pritchard of San Rafael claimed Claudine Madeleine Montvernay as his bride at St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael on Saturday.

Claudine, the daughter of Mrs. Alfred Montvernay of San Diego, formerly of France, chose Gail Baldasarri of San Anselmo as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Carla Baldasarri, Deborah Butterfield of San Anselmo and Leslie and Sydney Pritchard, sisters of the bridegroom.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID PRITCHARD

John Pritchard of Berkeley was best man for his brother, and ushers were Charles Dunn, William Londeree, and Ford Radus of San Rafael and William Di Grazia of El Sobrante.

The wedding reception was held in the garden of the Marin Country Club Estates home in Novato of the bridegroom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Lindauer. The couple will live in Oakland on their return from a wedding trip to Catalina.

Claudine is the sister of Robert Montvernay of San Rafael, Mrs. Carlys Phillips of Novato, Suzanne Jaggers of San Diego and Guy Montvernay of Clamecy, France. The bride attended high school in Clamecy and was graduated from San Diego High School. She also attended College of Marin and San Diego State College and will continue her education at California State College in Hayward.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pritchard of San Rafael are the bridegroom's parents. He was graduated from Terra Linda High School and attended College of Marin and San Diego State College. He will also attend California State at Hayward this fall.

Suicide Leading Cause Of Unnecessary Death

understanding of those desperately in need of aid and to take action. Provision is made for audience discussion later.

Curtis, in a telephone interview, said that whatever the reasons (and the medical profession and other researchers constantly probe them), suicides are on the increase among all economic and all age groups.

Until recently, in most people's thinking, the "average" suicide was white, middle-class, male, married and with children, he said. Men still are a higher risk than women.

But Curtis said that self-destruction is increasingly common among the nonwhite and lower socio-economic groups.

For instance, in the 1957-67 decade, there was a 185 per cent increase in suicide among the 15-24 age group of nonwhite females and a 136 per cent increase in the 25-35-year-old group.

The "why" still is a matter largely for researchers, but Curtis said some of them believe that as the black person increasingly takes on the problems of the white world, the suicide rate climbs.

There's also an increase in self-destruction among the under-21 set of all groups, he continued.

In the total picture, Curtis said, much more research is needed in such causatives as alcoholism, for instance. Certainly, more help is needed. Today, he said, there are close to 200 prevention centers around the nation, all community efforts.

"These people don't want to die," said Curtis. "Most don't, at least. And in some way, somewhere, they will communicate verbally, asking for help."

These are the "quiet cries."

Computer Shops

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI) — A San Diego concern plans to install a service letting housewives phone in a coded grocery order to a computer.

The computer processes the order, decides which truck will be fastest, and has the goods on their way in four hours. The $1 delivery charge will be offset by the fact there is no limit on the size of the order, so the housewife is spared handling heavy items. The service is reported in the Vermont Extension Service newsletter.

Image Importance In USA Reflected In Name Changes

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

"Things are changing" is a very popular statement today. And, indeed, things have changed to some degree. But more than things, names have changed.

For a variety of technological, social and screwball reasons, many professions, industries and people have changed their names. Suffice it to say that "image" is very important in USA, 1970.

Remember when there were porters? Then they became janitors. Today they are sanitation specialists.

Garbage men used to be garbage men — now they are refuse-removal specialists.

Cooks (who still cook) are called food specialists, dieticians and gourmets.

The undertaker is now a mortician and dead bodies are now the deceased or loved ones. (Could it be the word body now smacks of pornography?)

The social sciences have updated their titles also. Employment agencies are now Department of Human Resources. People on the "state" are welfare recipients and the poor are underprivileged and/or deprived.

Old-folks' homes are now rest estates and guest homes. Our elderly are now senior citizens.

Today the boss is called the employer, but he's still the boss-man. The employees are staff but, as with the bees, they're still the workers.

Free time is now leisure time (organized free time) overseered by a degreed recreational specialist.

The city is now an urban center, and junior colleges are becoming community colleges.

Draft dodgers are now military dissenters, and conscientious objectors, in some camps, are called traitors.

Riots are being "nice-i-fied" and referred to as social unrest and social disturbances, especially now that whites as well as blacks are involved in them.

And we black folks have really gone through some image changes. We started out as blacks (ironically) and have come from nigger to colored, to Negro and currently back to black.

We used to call the white man Mr. Charlie. Then, after a few meals of corn mush, we got cocky and called him Charles. After learning to read, we shortened it to Chuck. Today, he's the man.

Mexican-Americans have also evolved namewise. Today they are proudly Chicanos. And the American Indians are "home" again, too.

Yes, things have changed — at least the names of things. And all to make Cleotis L., John Q., Juan Z. and Running B. Public comfortable with SOS (same old stuff).

Furs And Satin From Rome

LAST YEAR designer Marucelli put nearly nude models in gong-shaped metal breastplates, so her evening gowns such as the fur and velvet shown were a surprise to the audience at her showing in Rome Wednesday. Furs in the gown include leopard, mink, beaver, monkey and fox. The hat is a little felt pancake. (UPI Cablephoto)

By BRENDA ROTZOLL

ROME (UPI)—Marucelli, the designer who put nearly nude models in gong-shaped metal-breastplates a year ago, came up with something warmer Wednesday: fur and satin evening gowns the Empress Josephine would have loved.

"Men will love those dresses," said a staid and veteran women's editor who obviously shuddered at the thought of metal brassiers.

"They will want to put their heads on the girl's shoulder because the fur is so soft."

A dozen versions of the Empire-waisted gowns came in leopard, mink, beaver, monkey and fox. The fur bodices had tiny sleeves and jewel necks stopped just below the bust.

THE SAME fur was used for hems a foot deep in satin skirts which were gathered at the bodice and hem and fell as a slim tube in soft folds.

British designer Hardy Amies, whose clients include Queen Elizabeth II, used re-embroidered lace chiffons, chiffons and cut velvets in evening clothes showed concurrently Wednesday in London.

With Amies the emphasis was on length. Every shirt in his high collection for fall and was either midi or maxi — not a show aimed at her majesty whose skirts have inched upward to knee-swimming-height, or the Princess Anne, 19, who wears miniskirts.

Marucelli also showed how to salvage last year's fur mini coat by cutting off the fur below the bust and inserting a slim tube of wool crepe to mid-thigh, where fur takes over again to the hem at midcalf or calf bottom.

HER OVERALL look was very slender and simple, and relied for interest on luxury furs and beautiful wool and silk fabrics in prints and weaves.

For daytime she liked straight-cut suits or very full capes lined with fur, worn over gaucho pants and high leather boots. She did a calf-bottom slim coat in the beige-brown shades of silver fox, then draped it with a long stole of that fox.

Her hats were little felt pancakes, worn alone or with leather four-inch ties on either side knotted at the back of the head beneath a huge chignon. Such hats are worn by women peasants in the Abruzzi mountains east of Rome. Shades of brown, purple and white were favored at Marucelli, while black got a big play at Gregoriana.

Gregoriana liked black cocktail gowns at midcalf with swirling skirts of crepe or of pleated lace, and bodices with long, tight sleeves.

She put gray wool jersey sweaters under jumpers with cut-out tops and very swirling skirts. Flared skirts also appeared in black and gold wool tapestry coats with patent leather belts and black mink hems.

Club Leader Asks Rights Support

Mrs. Earle A. Brown, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, issued a call to the federation members to urge their U.S. Representatives to sign the discharge petition to get the Equal Rights Amendment bill out of the House Judiciary Committee and onto the House floor.

"The General Federation," said Mrs. Brown, "has been on record supporting the Equal Rights Amendment since 1944 and the time has come for concerted action to get the bill before Congress.

"Representatives Martha W. Griffiths (Dem. - Mich.) and Florence P. Dwyer (Rep. - N.J.) have filed a discharge petition to force the Equal Rights Amendment out of the Judiciary Committee. For a petition to be effective, it must be signed by at least 218 (a majority) members of the House."

"It is my hope that every member of the federation will write or wire her Congressman to take the necessary action to help get the U.S. Constitution amended, once and for all, so that equality under the law will be guaranteed to women."

Special features you'll enjoy:

The importance of the availability of legal counsel for all Americans is a principle that has been emphasized more than once by appellate courts in their decisions of recent years. The Marin County bar embraced the concept even earlier. It is embodied in the Legal Aid Society and in the public defender's office for the poor. And for the middle class, it is represented by the Lawyer Referral Service. Freelance writer Paul Brindel tells you about it in tomorrow's Marin Magazine.

Historians trace the roots of civilization as western man knows and practices it today back to early Greece. And the cultural center of that place and era was the city of Athens. A unique College of Marin Department of Drama program — Summer Athenaeum '70 — is currently recreating on the Kentfield campus the life and spirit of the Athenians for 75 young men and women. You can read about this unusual program in tomorrow's I-J weekend supplement.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and from Parents' Magazine, unless otherwise noted. More vomplete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY:

"Chisum" — A rousing old-fashioned western set in New Mexico in 1878 with John Wayne as a cattle baron opposing the men who are running the town. Many familiar actors and some newcomers. (Boxoffice Magazine).

"Moon Zero Two" — Imaginative adventure in outer space in the year 2021 with Moon City as a starting point.

"Out-of-Towners" — Refreshingly funny spoof on big city life. Misadventures of a small city businessman who takes his wife with him for a job interview in New York City. Hilarious comedy.

"Sleeping Beauty" — A reissue of Disney's spectacular animation of classic fairy tale with Tchaikowsky background music, remains enchanting for whole family.

"Viva Max" — A bumbling Mexican general in a desperate attempt to impress a beautiful senorita tries to retake the Alamo with unexpected results. A gem of impudent but gentle humor.

ADULTS AND TEENS:

"Anne of the 1000 Days" — Magnificently staged and cast, this historical drama of lust and political intrigue encompasses the courtship, marriage, trial and beheading of Anne Boleyn.

"Beneath the Planet of the Apes" — Science fiction, the sequel to "Planet of the Apes" concludes the story and combines an amusing fantasy with a very real and grim message. Very well done.

"Downhill Racer" — A brilliant stury of the development of a ski champion. Action sequences are complimented by story about the dynamics of sports competition.

"Hawaiians" — Film based on last half of J. A. Michener's novel "Hawaii". The story centers on the man who developed the first pineapple plantation and a Chinese matriarch who founded a dynasty. Plot quite complicated.

"Paint Your Wagon"—A lusty, irreverent script is framework for a musical set in a mining camp during Gold Rush days. Elaborately mounted broad comedy, raucous and at times tasteless, not suitable for young children.

"Z" — Remarkable film about a political assassination. The powerful combination of action and suspense provides profound insights into today's troubled politics. English subtitles.

BORDERLINE:

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Alice's Restaurant" — A thought-provoking true story about a commune of hippies in an uncommitted life that is both sad and funny. Some of the language and actions are in very poor taste.

"Getting Straight" — Satiric melodrama that presents both sides of rebellion and rioting among students on a college campus as experienced by a student-teacher. Violence and sex scenes and foul language are abundant.

"Goodbye, Columbus" — Sophisticated, very frank comedy about a summer love affair of a teen-age Jewish girl. Her characterful family's behavior and mannerism are real and humorous. A dispute over the use of contraceptives is very explicit.

"Woodstock" — Interesting documentary of last summer's famous rock festival. Nudity, obscene language, use of drugs and love-making may keep from the audience those most interested in seeing it. Parental guidance advised.

ADULTS ONLY:

"Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice" — An irreverent social satire, slick in its trimmings and with a sharp bite in its characters, dialogue and frank appraisal of modern marriage and morals.

"M-A-S-H" — Title stands for Mobile Army Surgical Hospital. The antiwar film deals with three surgeons; scenes are gruesome as they are funny. Bittersweet element of truth in action and dialogue.

"What Do You Say to a Naked Lady" — Allen Funt of Candid Camera extends his debasing Peeping Tom technique to feature length with sex and nudity as the trashy gimmick.

Owners In Corte Madera Can Get Flood Insurance

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Corte Madera homeowners and businessmen have qualified for federally subsidized flood insurance, Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, reported yesterday.

Owners of one to four-family residences and of small businesses will be able to buy the insurance as of today from their local insurance agents at a low subsidized rate under the government's new emergency flood legislation program, Mailliard said.

The town qualified under the program when it agreed to adopt land use and control measures that will minimize flood damage to future construction, Mailliard said.

Local insurance agents may obtain policies and other information on the program from the National Flood Insurance Association service office, Fireman's Fund Insurance Co., Box 3136, San Francisco.

Youth Staff Seeks New Coordinator

The Marin County personnel director has asked the county juvenile delinquency prevention commission and the youth commission to interview Marin probation workers to replace their coordinator before looking elsewhere.

Present coordinator Gwen M. Monroe said commissioners have agreed to Personnel Director Maren Rinne's request to consider the eight who are qualified as probation supervisors.

Miss Monroe, who is on loan from the California Youth Authority, said she must return to CYA Aug. 14.

Representatives of both groups are expected to conduct the interviews.

The Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission also voted yesterday to complain to County Administrator Alan Bruce about his refusal to put up $40,000 in county money to get $60,000 from the California Council on Criminal Justice for a delinquency prevention and planning group in Marin, Miss not by Mr. Bruce," Rev. James "That decision should have been made by the supervisors, not by Mr. Bruce," Rev.. James Upshaw declared. "We should tell Mr. Bruce we don't like his action."

Since only six of 11 members attended, the commissioners set another meeting for 4 p.m. Wednesday in the Hall of Justice to continue discussions on juvenile delinquency interviews finished in June.

Fiesta Planners Seek Amateur Art, Photos

Entries in the amateur art and photography competition at the Petaluma Old Fiesta must be submitted by Aug. 10.

Subject matter is limited to the artist's or photographer's impression of the historic old adobe where General Mariano Vallejo supervised a successful rancho and trade center before the Bear Flag Revolt in 1846.

Winning entries will be exhibited Aug. 15 and 16 during the fiesta when the state monument becomes the scene of demonstrations of 19th century handicrafts.

Entrants may submit paintings, sketches, black and white or color photographs. Photos should be mounted or matted at the size of eight by 10 or larger.

Judging divisions include categories for young children, six or older, teen-agers and adults. Three winning artists will receive new sets of materials matching those used in the entries.

The color photography division will be judged separately with no age classifications.

Entries may be submitted at the Glass Owl, 113 Washington Street, Petaluma. Individuals may submit up to three entries.

Judges in the art division will be Janet Gunthorpe, Novato Art Teacher; James Morris, Petaluma Junior High School Art Teacher; and Artist Paula Palmer.

Photography division judges will be Ernest Bennett, retired Associated Press photographer; Phillip Palmer, professional free-lance photographer; and David Richardson, Petaluma Senior High School photography instructor.

Vacancies Stall Commission Work

The Mill Valley Youth Commission is looking for three adults to fill vacancies on the commission.

Vice Chairman Carol Prichard said the terms of Ken Pratt and Richard Bowen expired July 1 and Leonard Anderson resigned in May. "As long as we have these vacancies we don't have a quorum," she said.

Persons interested in serving may obtain application blanks at the Community Recreation Center, Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue.

Two Businessmen Arraigned Over Parking Barriers

Sausalito businessmen William Thompson and Harold Hobbs were arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on charges of destroying some of Sausalito's controversial parking barricades.

Attorneys appeared for both men and they were ordered to appear July 30 for further proceedings.

Thompson and Hobbs are charged with battering down two of the barricades Monday in a demonstration of the business community's protest against the barricades, which merchants say are destroying downtown business.

Thieves Take Radio, Recorder From Cafe

Thieves have taken a tape recorder and radio valued at a total of $300 and damaged food supplies at the Chimes Restaurant, 831 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael police reported Wednesday.

Entry was made between 11:30 p.m. Sunday and 5:45 a.m. yesterday through a ceiling vent, police reported.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
FOURTH SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, JULY 17, 1970 21

SEALED BUILDING — Ground floor windows of the Los Angeles Herald Examiner, once opening on the street, have been filled in with sturdy building material. The filling in followed repeated window smashing and other violence marking the paper's 3-year-old strike by the International Typographical Union.

Grim Toll Of Newspaper Strikes

The death yesterday of Allan W. Daly climaxed more than six months of violence surrounding the strike by San Francisco Typographical Union 21 against the Independent-Journal.

His death — as well as other attacks on I-J employees and persistent acts of vandalism — paralleled violence which has marked union strikes at other West Coast newspapers in recent years.

In Los Angeles, where the International Typographical Union local and 10 other unions have been on strike against the Herald-Examiner since 1967, one nonunion printer has been fatally shot and another wounded. The killer has never been caught.

In addition, the beatings of more than a dozen Herald-Examiner employees and a news vendor have been reported. There have been numerous cases of arson and vandalism and many threats to employees, advertisers and dealers handling the newspaper.

Picketing still goes on at the paper, which continues to publish.

Violence also was reported during a strike by the stereotypers union at Portland Oregonian which began in 1959 and was ruled illegal by the National Labor Relations Board five years later.

The newspaper's general manager, working in the basement of his home one night, was wounded by a shotgun blast through a window. Two trucks delivering newsprint were dynamited. And the paper's chief engraver was badly beaten while entering the plant during mass picketing.

Since the I-J strike began Jan. 7, a total of 23 persons — including the three accused of killing Daly — have been arrested for strike-related crimes ranging from vandalism to assault on police officers and carrying concealed weapons, including slingshots used to break windows of businesses which have continued to advertise in the Independent-Journal.

The three in custody in the Daly killing are Frank Thurber, 45, of San Bruno, a member of San Francisco Mailers Union 18, which is affiliated at the national level with the ITU, and two teen-agers, Larry G. Rutherford, 16, and Richard A. Wamsley, 17, both also of San Bruno.

The ITU and Mailers Union have deplored the shooting and denied any connection with it. The ITU also has denied connection with vandalism and threats to employees and advertisers at the paper.

On July 8, four days after Daly was shot, firebombers attacked the Petaluma home of a nonunion printer at the I-J. Two employees and the family of one who were inside narrowly escaped death when a Molotov cocktail crashed through a bedroom window and exploded.

Earlier firebomb attacks occurred on Jan. 7 and Feb. 4 when bottles mixed with paint thinner and mixed with ink were thrown at employees' homes in Santa Venetia and San Rafael.

A similar missile crashed through the front window of the Novato home of another employee on Feb. 8 and Molotov cocktails were hurled April 22 at an employee's apartment in San Rafael and at the home of a Mill Valley man whose name is similar to that of an I-J employee.

About 40 businesses have been vandalized and damage is estimated to run into the tens of thousands of dollars.

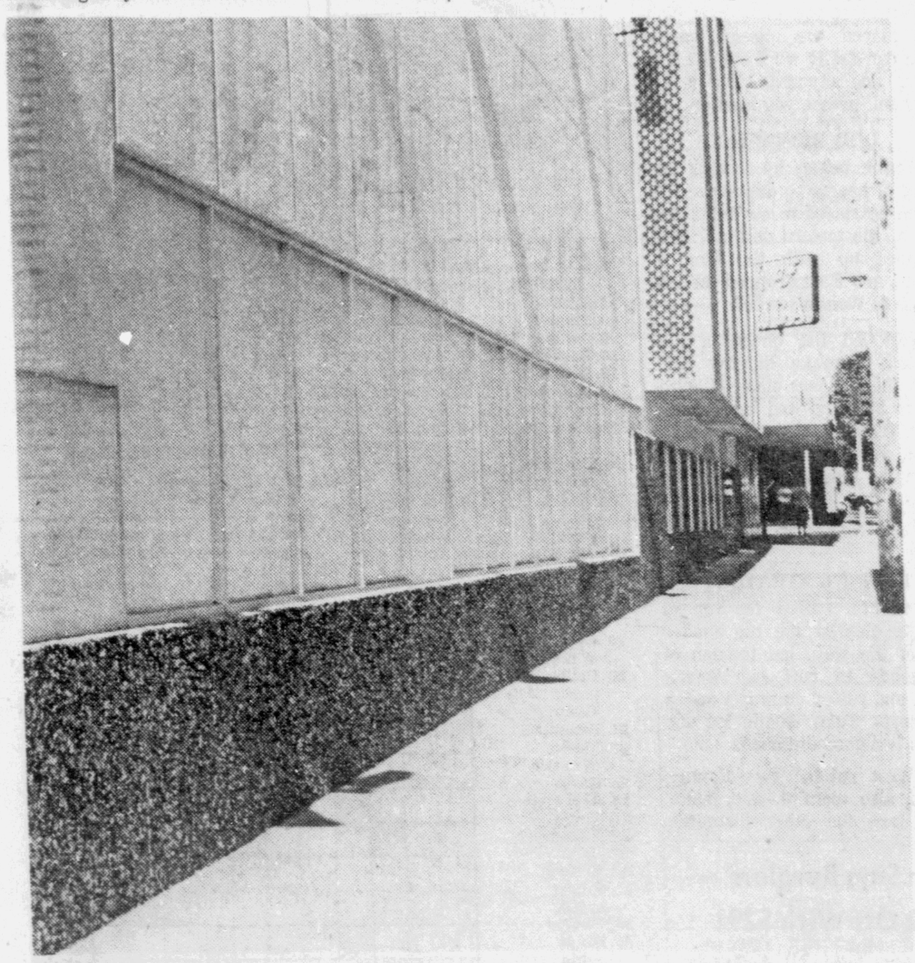
On June 3, three ITU members were arrested outside Stan's for Sports in Strawberry, a frequent target of night-riding vandals. Sheriff's deputies confiscated slingshots and typemetal slugs from their car.

The men — Dennis Joseph Crowley, 41, of San Jose; James Robert Brocato, 31, of Santa Rosa, and Grant William Anders, 30, of Pleasant Hill — are charged with conspiracy to break windows of six San Rafael and three Novato businesses.

Their case is being heard in Marin Municipal Court, and Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. has indicated he will rule Wednesday on whether the officers had cause to halt the suspects' car.

On Feb. 14, 12 persons were arrested during the riotous Valentine's Day labor rally outside the I-J building and seven subsequently were indicted for crimes ranging from assault on a police officer to participating in a riot.

The cases of the seven have been transferred to Fairfield for trial, which begins Aug. 4. in Solano County Superior Court.



BOARDED UP—Independent-Journal windows along Fifth Avenue in San Rafael are sealed as a protection against violence that has marked the San Francisco Typographical Union 21 strike. These and every other ground floor window were destroyed in the Valentine's Day riot when hundreds of union sympathizers stormed the building.

Innocent Plea By Thurber In Daly's Death

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Frank Thurber, 45-year-old union member, pleaded innocent today in municipal court to a murder charge in the shooting death of Allan W. Daly, Independent-Journal employee.

Thurber, represented by attorney Nathan Cohn, was denied bail by Judge Joseph G. Kennedy, who set a preliminary hearing for next Friday.

Thurber is being held in San Francisco County Jail.

Thurber, who lives in San Bruno, later appeared before Municipal Court Judge Janet Aitken and pleaded innocent to other charges arising from Daly's shooting — conspiracy, robbery and burglary.

Judge Aitken ordered the cases transferred to Judge Kennedy to be heard at the same time next Friday.

Two youths arrested in connection with the July 4 shooting, Larry G. Rutherford, 16, and Richard A. Wamsley, 17, both also of San Bruno, are being held in the youth guidance center awaiting murder charges. A juvenile court hearing has been tentatively set for July 29.

Auto, Bicycle Collide Hurt Fairfax Girl, 16

A 16-year-old Fairfax girl was reported injured in a bicycle-auto accident at 8:30 a.m. yesterday on Center Boulevard at San Anselmo Avenue in San Anselmo.

San Anselmo police reported that Doris J. Field of 137 Wood Lane was injured when her bicycle collided with a car driven by Albert E. Powell, 22, of 462 Cascade Drive, Fairfax.

She told police she was going to Marin General Hospital, but the hospital had no record of treating her.

SAUSALITO SAILING DELAYED

Legal, Construction Snags In Path Of Ferry Service

An unexpected tangle of legal and construction problems will delay the start of ferry service from Sausalito to San Francisco, Golden Gate Bridge District officials said yesterday.

The daily service originally was to have begun on Aug. 1, but now Sept. 1 is a more likely target date.

The district's attorney, Thomas M. Jenkins, outlined the legal problems in a 50-minute closed meeting with the joint transportation and finance-auditing committee. After the meeting, he told newsmen there were at least 10 to 12 "major problems," but he declined to elaborate.

Several of these problems could lead to litigation, he said.

The Independent-Journal learned, however, that the legal problems concern the bids the district received from four bus companies to provide feeder bus service to the Sausalito ferry and to provide charter buses for commuter clubs.

The legal issues involve rights of Public Utilities Commission franchises, conformance of the bidders to the bid specifications, and the legal powers of the district to contract for bus services instead of operating them itself.

The immediate victim of the legal tangle was the district's plan to contract with a bus company to provide the feeder service to the Sausalito ferry.

Jenkins only hinted at these problems when he advised the committee he needed more time to study the complicated bids before deciding what action should be taken on them. He recommended that "some alternate method be explored" to insure feeder bus service to the ferry.

Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring told newsmen, "We may even have to operate buses ourselves."

The district has been seeking to contract for bus services until it buys its own buses. The Sausalito City Council granted a permit for the ferry on condition that feeder bus service be available.

The lastest construction problem, as reported last week, was a belated discovery that the district's ferryboat did not meet fire safety standards.

Luehring said he was "quite certain" ferry service could begin by Aug. 15, but director Lowell Edington of Napa County insisted: "We just aren't ready to go. We've been trying to cram too many potatoes in one sack in too short a time," he said.

Edington's suggestion that the service start Sept. 1 was endorsed by board president William Moskovitz of San Francisco. "If we get it out by Sept. 1, we'll be doing well," Moskovitz said.

The Aug. 15 target would be "unrealistic," added committee chairman Joseph E. Sheeks of Belvedere.

In related business, the committee set a basic 50-cent fare for the ferry, the same fare the district charged when it temporarily ran the Tiburon ferry.

Proposals for a monthly pass and for making commutation books usable both on the ferry and bridge were referred for study to the finance-auditing committee.

Riders will be able to park free weekdays in the district's parking lot planned at Marinship, and will have to buy their ferry ticket as they board the feeder bus. The bus also will pick up commuters between the parking lot and downtown ferry landing for free, but again the ferry tickets will have to be bought upon boarding the bus.

Twenty-ride ticket books will be available with no discount at $10. Children under 5 years of age will be carried free when accompanied by an adult. Children between the ages of 5 through 16 will pay 25 cents each way.

Adult ferry riders who board the feeder bus between Mill Valley and the Marinship parking lot will pay 25 cents more, and children will pay 10 cents more.

The committee's recommendations will go to the full board for its ratification next Friday.

The district's transit manager, Donald White, pushed hard but unsuccessfully for a discounted monthly pass. It would eliminate some 43 money transactions a month for each ferry rider, he said.

"It may be politically unpalatable," Sheeks said, but the district may have to hike bridge fares to encourage use of the ferry—and busses when the district gets them."

In other business, the committee recommended leasing the former heliport building at the San Francisco Ferry Building for use as a ferry terminal and offices for $450 a month.

District engineer Robert E. Shields reported that the selection of the Marinship parking lot had boiled down to two parcels, which he declined to identify. One was about 1.4 acres, which could hold 200 to 250 cars, he said, "with expansion possibilities up to seven acres."

A hearing aid consultant was testing an elderly woman's hearing when he found her ear blocked by a grasshopper. It had apparently been there for months without her knowledge.

Today is Friday, July 17, the 198th day of 1970 with 167 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase.

The morning star is Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

On this date in history:

In 1936 the Spanish Cvil War began with General Fransisco Franco leading army troops against the government.

In 1948 Southern Democrats from 13 states organized a state's rights party to oppose the Truman-Barkley ticket. Its presidential ticket was headed by Strom Thurmond.

In 1955 Arco, Idaho, a town of some 13 hundred people, became the first community in the world to receive all its light and power from atomic energy.

In 1968 a National Airlines jetliner with 64 aboard was hijacked to Cuba.

A thought for the day: Roman orator Marcus Tullius Cicero said, "If you aspire to the highest place it is no disgrace to stop at the second or even the third."

Defense Fund Allocated By Elks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Elks are allocating more than $1.5 million for national defense, in case of an emergency.

At their 106th annual grand lodge meeting Wednesday, the organization authorized assessing each member $1 for use in a national disaster or for national defense.

During World War II, the Elks used a similar allocation for a recruiting drive benefiting the Seabees and air cadets.

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Expert's Favorite Hand Needs Odd Approach, Clever Strategy

When a bridge expert tells you about one of his favorite hands and relates that he played it in a tournament a few years ago, don't question him too narrowly. If you force him to admit that he made the hand up, he may ask equally embarrassing questions about your own favorite hands. This explains why I can't tell you exactly when and where Swedish expert Jan Wohlin played today's hand.

GIVEAWAY DOUBLE

West led the king of diamonds, and Wohlin won with the ace. West was a conservative player and had doubled with a very decisive air, Wohlin told me, so it wasn't hard to place him with A-K-J of clubs.

Now that you know how Wohlin placed the missing cards, you can easily work out the winning line of play. Try it for yourself before you read on.

ODD BEGINNING

Wohlin began by leading the king of hearts to dummy's ace. Then he ruffed a low heart and led a club toward dummy. West stepped up with the king of clubs, and East dropped the ten, much to Wohlin's relief.

West led the queen of diamonds to make dummy ruff. Now the plot was clear. If South got to his hand and led another club, West would take the ace of clubs and lead another diamond to maike dummy ruff with the queen. That would set up West's jack of clubs as the setting trick.

RUFFING STRATEGY

Wohlin ruffed the ten of hearts, cleared the top spades out of the way, led the ten of diamonds to ruff out West's jack, and ruffed dummy's queen of hearts. Then Wohlin led one of his two good diamonds.

If West ruffed low, dummy would also discard, and South woul lead the other diamond. If West ruffe low, dummy would overruff and lead a good spade. If West ruffed high, dummy would discard; and declarer would easily make the rest.

Not exactly the kind of hand you want to play after a long day's work.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold:

♠ - 10 8 4 3 2
♦ - 7 5 3 2
♣ - 10.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

In theory, this hand is not worth a response. In practice, no expert would pass. You just have to make some effort when you have so many spades and a side singleton.

'Reservations' To Gigantic Water Project

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — "Strong reservations" about the ecological effects of California's multibillion-dollar water project were expressed yesterday by the head of a federal study of San Francisco Bay.

Donald S. McCulloch, a marine geologist with the U.S. Geological Survey, issued his warning in a presentation of the study's findings to the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission. (See another BCDC story, page 21.)

The report concluded that fresh water from the Sacramento River, which is to be diverted by the project to Southern California, "is a major quality control" of bay waters, and that a reduction in its flow "could have significant effects on the overall quality of the bay."

The report was released on July 1, and promptly was cited by opponents of the water project as a reason to halt the project. State officials, however, have stuck by their previous assertion that the quality of the bay depends primarily on tidal action, and that the federal report was inadequately documented.

The report stopped short of suggesting a halt tot he water project, but McCulloch — pressed yesterday by opponents of the project —reluctantly conceded his fears about the project.

Asked if he thought the project should proceed in light of the report's findings, McCulloch said, "I would at least have strong reservations without doing some critical thinking on this."

The study clearly demonstrated that the quality of bay waters had "a real dependence" on the amount of fresh water discharged from the river system, he said.

He and his colleagues, in a two-hour presentation, detailed the evidence they gathered through monthly inspections since early 1969 at 39 check points in the bay.

Their findings also convinced them that there was a connection between salinity and fresh water flow, with salinity in the south bay exceeding the salt level in the ocean during times of low fresh water flow.

They also said their evidence "strongly suggests" that decreased fresh water flow affects plant life in the bay.

McCulloch acknowledged the river flow was difficult to measure. The next step should be to measure flows over a longer period, "but that's beyond our funding capacity," he said.

Commissioner James F. McCormick, also a member of the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board, commented that the report's findings showed that fresh water from the river was "far more important than suspected in the past."

Commission chairman Melvin B. Lane shut off criticism of the water project, saying, "We're not sitting in judgment of the water project — but we are concerned with anything affecting the bay."

The commission's review of the water project will conclude on Aug. 6 with a presentation of the project by Norman B. Livermore Jr., secretary of the state Resources Agency.

Bay Area Planning Agency Squeaks By

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill collecting nine San Francisco Bay Area counties under a vast regional government planning agency has won bare Assembly approval after an intense floor fight.

The proposal, drafted after three years of negotiations, went to the Senate on a 41-22 vote, the minimum needed for passage.

The floor struggle crossed party lines and split the ranks of Bay Area lawmakers, some of whom criticized it as "premature" while others praised it as "long overdue."

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, voted for the bill.

The bill by Democratic Assemblyman John Knox of Richmond creates a "Bay Area Conservation and Development Agency" which would develop a regional resources master plan for land use and control.

The agency, if approved by the legislature and endorsed by the governor, would be subject to voter ratification next June. The agency would have no operative powers of its own but would be authorized to prohibit the 90 Bay Area cities and hundreds of special districts from violating the plan.

Included in the regional plan would be the counties of San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Alameda, Contra Costa, Solano, Napa, Sonoma and Marin.

The planning agency would be financed by a gross receipts tax on businesses and by a maximum one per cent surcharge on a taxpayer's state personal income tax.

The agency's 40 member governing board would include 20 persons elected by the voters and 20 city councilmen and county supervisors who would be appointed from their jurisdictions.

Knox, chairman of the Local Government Committee, conceded he was not satisfied with the makeup of the board membership but said he agreed to it to win support of the Advisory Association of Bay Area Governments.

But he drew opposition from Republican Assemblyman Don Mulford of Piedmont and Democratic Assemblyman John Burton of San Francisco, usually foes on other issues.

"This measure is premature for the people in the East Bay," Mulford argued. "This is a new tax measure."

He said it should be shelved until "we seek the advice of the people in the Bay Area who will be paying the new taxes for this new layer of government." Knox said Bay Area leaders already had been consulted and supported the plan.

Burton, who said he could "go as far as abolishing the county boards of supervisors within the region," challenged the wisdom of giving the appointed board members the power to levy regional taxes.

"The power to tax is the power to destroy," he declared. "I would rather have no government than an appointed government."

Assembly Democratic Leader John J. Miller of Berkeley termed the measure "a step in the right direction" while Republican Assemblyman George Milias of Gilroy said the bill "should have been enacted five or ten years ago."

"The Bay Area has been almost in a situation of planned chaos," Milias said.

Assembly Defeats Proposal To Tighten Vote Regulations

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly locked itself in partisan wrangling Thursday and defeated both Republican and Democratic-sponsored legislation designed to tighten voting regulations.

Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Piedmont, lost his bill on a 40-33 vote, only one short for passage. The Assembly also defeated a measure by Assemblyman George N. Zenovich, D-Fresno, 26-17.

Mulford and Zenovich are their parties' caucus chairmen.

Mulford's measure would have allowed persons other than members of precinct boards to challenge an individual's right to vote. The final decision on voting would be made by the precinct inspector.

"I think it simply offers an occasion for certain individuals to infringe upon the right to vote," charged Assemblyman Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys.

Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, said it would "create chaos in the polling place."

But Mulford warned against allowing a "Tammany-type" operation to develop in California and said as many as 800 persons had illegally registered to vote in his district.

After Democrats refused to supply the votes necessary to pass the Mulford measure, Republicans failed to cast the needed votes for the Zenovich bill.

Zenovich's legislation would require an absentee ballot to be returned either by mail or in person to the county clerk. It is designed to prevent party workers from collecting the ballots from invalids or other persons who vote absentee and returning them to the clerk.

Charged With Having A Potted Pot Plant

Barbara Lisa Cooper, 19, of 9 Humboldt Avenue, Apt. 1, San Anselmo, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of possessing a potted marijuana plant Wednesday in San Rafael. She was released on her promise to appear July 30 for possible certification to juvenile court.

San Rafael police said her car was double-parked at 55 Bahia Way, where Miss Cooper formerly lived, and police checking the car saw the plant.

Volkswagen Stolen From Parking Area

A red 1970 Volkswagen sedan, license 678-BDT, was stolen between 8:30 p.m. Tuesday and 12:15 a.m. Wednesday from the Country Club Bowl parking lot, 88 Vivian Way, San Rafael police reported.

The car is owned by Gerald R. Webb, 100 Reed Boulevard, Mill Valley, police reported.

Nine-County Transport Agency Gains

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate Governmental Organization Committee Thursday approved an Assembly-passed bill to set up a nine-county metropolitan transportation agency in the San Francisco Bay Area.

The measure by Assemblyman John Foran, chairman of the Assembly Transportation Committee, was sent to the Finance Committee. It is an outgrowth of extensive legislative hearings held the past two years.

The bill creates a 19-member Metropolitan Transportation Commission and assigns it the responsibility for transportation planning in the area. The commission would be authorized to approve the construction or modification of all toll bridges spanning the bay.

U.S. Physician Tells Of Torture Practices At Second Viet Prison

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An American woman doctor has reported widespread instances of torture, unspeakable living conditions and other "inhuman practices" at a second South Vietnamese prison.

Dr. Marjorie Nelson, New Haven, Conn., made the report in letters to Reps. William R. Anderson, D-Tenn., and Augustus F. Hawkins, D-Calif.—the two congressmen who reported the infamous "tiger cages" at Con Son Island after a recent trip to South Vietnam.

Dr. Nelson, who worked with the American Friends Service Committee, told in her letters of conditions at the Quang Ngai province civilian prison between September, 1968 and October, 1969. Anderson placed her letter in the Congressional Record and Rep. John E. Moss, Calif., called her to testify today before his House Foreign Operations subcommittee.

Anderson, after speaking with her on the telephone, described Dr. Nelson as objective and "not the emotional type." Here are excerpts from her letter:

Torture —"I saw dozens of patients with bruises of varying severity. I also examined patients who had coughed up, vomited or urinated blood after being beaten about the chest, back and stomach. On at least two occasions I was able to document, by X-rays, fractures of the bones following beatings. Prisoners also told me of being tortured by electricity, with wires attached to ears, nipples, and genitalia, by being forced to drink concoctions containing powdered lime and other noxious substances, by being tied up and suspended by ropes, often upside down, from the rafters for hours . . . I examined a woman seven months pregnant who had been badly beaten the previous week. This was the worst example . . .

Conditions —"The nurse assigned to Quang Ngai prison was an opium addict and I only met him in the dispensary once in my 13 months there. Prisoners themselves manned the dispensary ... In addition to the crowding there was neither running water nor latrines in any of the rooms where prisoners were confined from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. and food and water were both provided in unsanitary if not uncontaminated condition."

Sentences —Officials said 80 per cent of the inmates were "political prisoners," wrote Dr. Nelson, but conversations with many of them indicated their political crime was improper or incomplete papers, presence in an unauthorized place "or in the case of the women, inability to account for the wherabouts of their husbands who were therefore assumed to be NLF (Viet Cong) guerrillas." Officials said no one was supposed to stay in the prison for more than six months but the prisoners "never had a trial, and never knew the length of their sentence. I talked with several who were in for as long as a year.

Dr. Nelson said she and a fellow worker unsuccessfully appealed for help to the American province senior adviser and the Vietnamese province chief.

Anderson said in an interview today that he felt all along that what he and Hawkins saw in Con Son was widespread throughout the South Vietnamese civilian prison system.

"Her letter certainly is a validation of that fact," Anderson said.

Mill Valley Considers Trade For New Park

The Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission is considering exchanging Sycamore Park with a private developer for new parkland on both sides of Arroyo Corte Madera Del Presidio.

Parks and Recreation Director Don L. Dimitratos said that the firm, Trans-Marin Properties, wants to swap 55,000 square feet of land for the 44,000-square-foot park and would build an apartment development there.

The firm agreed to landscape the new park for the city if the trade is made, Dimitratos said.

He said that the new creekside park would solve a problem with vandalism. "Sycamore Park is so secluded that people don't use it very much and vandals are able to operate," he said. "The new park would be out in the open and less prone to vandalism."

The commission agreed in principle Wednesday to accept not less than 22,000 square feet on the north side of the creek and took the entire proposal under consideration, Dimitratos said.

The Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission also:

BOYLE PARK — Heard a report from Dimitratos that the creek is eroding Boyle Park and scheduled a field trip to view the damage.

FOOD STAND — Approved an application by the National Little League Association to reconstruct the food stand at the baseball field at Boyle Park.

Pair Charged In Liquor Burglary

Donald Albert Johnson, 18, of 22 Privateer Drive, and Jack Llewellyn Keith, 19, of 1441 Casa Buena Drive, both of Corte Madera, were arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on charges of burgling a liquor warehouse yesterday in San Rafael.

Both were released in their parents' custody and ordered to return July 30 for possible certification of the case to juvenile court.

Nejedly Sued In Wrongful Death

MARTINEZ (UPI) — State Sen. John Nejedly, R-Contra Costa, was named Thursday in a wrongful death suit filed by the parents of a child who drowned at a Sierra County camp he owns.

In their $125,000 suit, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Thomas assert that Edward C. Thomas, 13, of Martinez lost his life because no guard was on duty last July 29 at the camp near Johnsville.

When the accident occurred the child was on a Martinez Boys Club outing.

There were other defendants in addition to Nejedly.

Zucker Hired To Lead Economic Planning Group

Paul C. Zucker, former Marin County planning director, has been hired as executive director of a nonprofit corporation in Berkeley to do planning work in Fresno and Kings counties.

The agency, called West Sidie Planning Group Inc., is funded by a $99,000 grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity to aid low income persons. It was set up in March by Michael R. Peevey of San Rafael, in his capacity as coordinator of public programs at the University of California Institute of Industrial Relations.

Peevey, who announced Zucker's appointment, said: "We are pleased to have a man of Mr. Zucker's stature as our first director."

Zucker will receive $20,000 per year. He was getting $22,200 per year as county planning director until he was fired last month after an unsuccessful election bid to oust Supervisor John F. McInnis.

Photographer Of UPI Needs Blood After Operation

Blood is needed for Paul Gorman, a United Press International photographer who underwent surgery July 9 for a hemorrhaging ulcer, UPI reported today.

Gorman has used up 13 pints of blood that must be replaced to build up blood bank reserves, UPI said.

Anyone wishing to donate at the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank in San Rafael or San Francisco should specify that the blood is for the San Francisco-Oakland Newspaper Guild account.

House Bill Would Limit Candidates' Radio, TV Costs

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House Commerce Committee approved yesterday a bill to limit radio and television campaign spending by candidates in presidential, congressional and gubernatorial races.

The bill also would repeal so-called equal time provisions requiring broadcasters to give candidates for office equal air time. That presumably could allow broadcasters to give free time to major party candidates without being obliged to give the same privilege to others.

The House bill is similar in most respects to a Senate-passed bill. The major differences are that the Senate bill would not affect campaigns for governor and was limited to general elections, whereas the House bill also would apply to primaries.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Final Documentary By Huntley Great

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Chet Huntley's final documentary for NBC-TV, seen Thursday night, was one to remember—an hour look at living and working conditions of migrant laborers in Florida.

Huntley, who retires Aug. 1, and his producer-director, Martin Carr, in essence did a followup to Edward R. Murrow's landmark documentary of a decade ago, "Harvest of Shame," which exposed the terrible conditions of migrant workers.

In fact, Thursday night's program, "Migrant—an NBC White Paper," used brief excerpts from the 10-year-old Murrow expose, which had appeared on a competing network, CBS-TV.

Although Huntley made clear that Thursday's documentary could have been made in any number of other states as well, there is no question the program will cause considerable reaction in Florida.

The state's governor declined to be interviewed during the program. And the hour itself showed footage that illustrated the hostility the reporting and camera crew found in some quarters.

With typical cowardice, the big television sponsors stayed away from advertising on the broadcast because it took a total stand, despite its presentation of both sides.

All or most of the commercials during the hour, it seemed were public service announcements. Among other things that undoubtedly terrified potential sponsors was the fact that the program named the names of some cmmpanies involved in the migrants' conditions.

For Huntley, the broadcast was an exit with a bang, not a whimper — an hour historically and journalistically tied to the tradition of vidio crusading espoused by Murrow, and a piece of slashing, committed work in an era of too many soft-soap specials.

For producer-director Carr, who also did his own reporting and interviewing in the field, the program marked another step toward recognition for unrelenting television work in the field of social problems. His "Hunger in America," for CBS-TV, won a fistful of awards and also touched off a furor that made headlines.

"Poverty and despair" is how the program described the lives of most migrants, adding that their average annual income is $891 and that they don't have rights guaranteed the rest of us.

"They will not work," said one grower. A worker, meanwhile, said he earned $20 a week for his wife and six children, and that $16 a week went for rent. An employer made remarks about Negroes that are bound to get strong retorts, and said growers had their own financial problems.

There were irrefutable shots of living conditions of migrants —depressing places with outside water supply and toilets. A landlord admitted to "substandard" conditions in her homes.

The poor schooling chances for migrants' children were noted. Eighty per cent, it was said, don't get to high school. In an unforgettable interview, a 15-year-old boy who already looked worn out by life said he quit school because he was made to feel like a bum. "I guess," he said, "It's what I am anyway." The program added that the life expectancy of a migrant worker is 49 years.

Wind Instrument Workshop Planned

A man who plays the krumhorn, rauschpfeife, kortholt and schreierei has scheduled a workshop in Marin, sponsored by the Marin Recorder Society.

Shelley Gruskin of the New York Pro Musica, who also plays baroque flute, recorders and bagpipes, will run the workshop from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. July 26 at choral hall in the Fine Arts Building at College of Marin.

Interested persons may get in touch with Jack Taylor, 215 Stuyvesant Drive, San Anselmo 94960.

Inmate Found Too Insane To Be Executed

A Marin Superior Court jury has found that a San Quentin death row inmate, who had been convicted of murdering a Los Angeles bus driver in 1967, is too insane to be executed.

Under a state Penal Code section, a jury must decide on such a sanity issue after the warden states there is a doubt as to a convicted person's sanity.

Barry Floyd, 23, a Black Muslim, will now be sent to Atascadero State Hospital for the criminally insane, according to San Quentin Associate Warden James W. L. Park.

The jury in the courtroom of Judge Samuel W. Gardiner heard testimony from psychiatrists before making its decision Wednesday.

Floyd and another man shot John G. Hartzell 71, when he refused to hand over money in a holdup aboard a bus.

CHAPTER IN BAY AREA

Aim Of Forty-Plus: Finding Posts For Jobless Executives

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Increasing unemployment in managerial ranks has brought Forty-Plus to the Bay Area.

Forty-Plus is a help-one-another organization, modeled somewhat on Weight Watchers and Alcoholics Anonymous — but with a difference.

The difference is that Forty-Plus members have no behavior problem to overcome. Their problem is lack of a job.

To qualify for membership, a man or woman must be at least 40, unemployed and seeking employment; must have experience in executive, administrative or professional fields with average earned income the last five years of at least $12,000 per year, and "must be able and willing to contribute to the organization at least the minimum amount of money and personal time as specified by the board of directors."

Forty-Plus began in New York, in the now-almost-forgotten days of the depression of the 1930s. It expanded to the West Coast with a chapter in Los Angeles five or six years ago. The Northern California chapter came into being early this year, with headquarters at 1990 Embarcadero, Oakland.

Of the chapter's 31 current active members, only two are from Marin — one from Santa Venetia, the other from Novato. Most of the unemployed 40-plusers are from the lower Peninsula, where aerospace shutdowns have brought heavy unemployment at Lockheed Aircraft and its suppliers.

The Northern California chapter boasts that in its short existence, 30 per cent of its members have found jobs they wanted. Not all found them through Forty-Plus, however; some of its members are enrolled also with the California State Employment Service's Experience Unlimited group in San Francisco, which reportedly is modeled on Forty-Plus.

The chapter operates as a no-fee employment agency. But beyond that, it helps the members to market their own skills. They get instructions in how to go after a job, including how to prepare personal inventories, resumes, profiles, letters of application, answers to advertisements, and applications themselves — and how to conduct themselves at an interview. (The interview instructions in the preparation packet given new members are detailed and explicit; Forty Plus members are used to being interviewers instead of interviewees.)

The "minimum amount of personal time" each must contribute includes attendance at a weekly meeting and two days a week in the Oakland office, doing whatever tasks are assigned. Dues are $8.50 per month.

A typical profile — that of one of the Marin members, published in the chapter's latest "Executive Manpower Bulletin," reads like this:

"Administrative/Credit Manager. — Adept at wearing several hats. Competent to organize, coordinate, and direct administrative activities to enhance and produce profits. Capable of developing and implementing sound credit policies and procedures. Strong experience in effective utilization of services of rail and truck traffic industries and insurance agencies and in handling personnel matters. Skilled in accounting procedures through statement preparation and analysis. Good communicator and team worker."

The bulletin containing this and 28 other such descriptions has been circulated to potential employers on the chapter's list as one step in the research for new jobs. The chapter says many "nibbles" — and some jobs — result from these descriptions.

Hardest to place among the 29 listed in the latest bulletin may be the 10 engineers, their very number indicating the tight employment market in this field. The bulletin also lists four in credit and finance, one in public relations and communications, four in sales and marketing, two in manufacturing, and eight in general management.

Those who find jobs through Forty-Plus often remain "life members," paying smaller dues and offering a pool of potential employers to future members. But many leave by another route. Discouraged after months of unemployment, they either just drop out or take nonmanagement jobs — like the aeronautics engineer found driving a taxicab. These dropouts have come to doubt the truth of the Forty-Plus slogan: "There is no substitute for experience."

GIANTS VS. EXPOS TONIGHT

Mays Expected To Sit It Out

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Willie Mays, in quest of basehit No. 3000, will be on the bench tonight when the San Francisco Giants take on the Montreal Expos.

Still a superstar but by no means superhuman at age 39, the Giants' centerfielder said he was exhausted and in need of rest following Tuesday night's All-Star game.

Mays, a starter in the mid-season classic at Cincinnati, would like to savor an equivalent string of days off already enjoyed by nearly all his teammates earlier this week.

A DELAY

His voluntary trip to the bench, barring pinchhit duty, should delay at least for one game Mays' inauguration into the 3000 club. He is two hits away from becoming the 10th man to reach the plateau.

Tonight's game introduces a series of six at Candlestick Park, which should give Mays enough time to hit the magic number in front of the hometown fans.

If he gets the basehit at home, all fans in attendance will be given a free pass to attend another Giants' 1970 home game.

Mays had been swatting one and two hits daily and appeared a good bet to break the 3000 barrier during the Giants' last homestand at the beginning of the month. He fell far short, but seemed to have a good chance at reaching the milestone on the road, just before the All-Star break.

THEN METS

He failed again, however, and now it looks like Candlestick Park will be the scene of the event after all.

The Giants play only two games against Montreal. The world champicn New York Mets come into San Francisco Sunday and Monday and Philadelphia follows for a two-day stay.

JACK HANLEY

Unique Trophy For Ron Hunt

Ron Hunt will receive a unqiue trophy during the second half of the 1970 baseball season. It is a trophy few players would try to win. In fact, Hunt is the only player qualified for the award, a replica of himself with a ball stuck in his ribs.

Appropriately, the American Medical Association is sponsoring the award in an unusual tribute to Hunt and his remarkable ability to absorb bruises that would put other players out of action.

Hunt came to the attention of AMA researchers because of the records he set in 1968 and again in 1969. In each of those seasons Hunt was hit 25 times by pitches. This season Hunt should crack his own major league record. He already has been hit 17 times this year.

"I didn't know I was ahead of my 1968-69 pace," said Hunt. "It really surprises me because I've been making a determined effort to get out of the way of inside pitches."

Just A Little Exaggeration

Hunt exaggerates when he says he is making a "determined" effort. He does make an effort because baseball rules say that a batter must try to get out of the way of a tight pitch. But making a half-spin in the batter's box hardly can be called a "determined" effort.

Hunt admits he crowds the plate but not for the purpose of being hit by pitches.

"It's the only way I can hit the ball with my choke hold that uses only the barrel of the bat," said Hunt. "If I didn't crowd the plate I'd be a pigeon for pitches on the outside corner. I couldn't reach them."

Hunt does a remarkable job hitting pitches in the strike zone. His batting average of .305 going into the second half of the season is the best evidence of that.

Hunt also does a remarkable job of getting hit by pitches outside the strike zone. That is evident from the 1968-69 records he set and his current hit-by-pitch total.

He wasn't hit for the 17th time last season until Aug. 23. So he is more than a month ahead of his record-tieing pace of last year.

"That really surprises me," Hunt said. "Maybe some pitchers don't think I try to get out of the way of tight pitches but frankly I've never given much thought to what they think."

One More For The Record

Hunt also was surprised by the fact that the next time he is hit by a pitch he will become the undisputed all-time National League champ.

"I didn't know I was tied with Frank Robinson until some researcher showed me the records in Houston during our last series just before the All-Star break," said Hunt.

Before he was traded by Cincinnati to Baltimore five years ago, Robinson held the National League hit-by-pitch total at 119 which is exactly Hunt's career total now.

"That really surprises me," said Hunt. "Imagine being hit 119 times."

Hunt may profess to be surprised by his hit-by-pitch season and career totals but every time he strolls to first base with a new bruise his teammates are the ones who are really surprised.

"That's one record I could never go for," said Willie Mays who admits he has no tolerance whatsoever to pain.

Tennis Victory: $35,000

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Neither Rod nor I ever had an experience like that before," Ken Rosewall was saying. "There's always pressure and tension in a big match, but when you are playing for first money of $35,000—as I say, neither Rod nor I ever . . . ever . . ."

The voice of the little muscle man of pro tennis trailed off and the sweat-glimmering shoulders heaved from the deep sigh. He tugged at the towel across his waist and managed a wan smile.

Across the room, the victorious Rod Laver, richer by $35,000 for his 6-4, 6-3, 6-3 victory over his fellow Australian Thursday night in the $50,000 final of the $200,000 Tennis Champions Classic, was almost echoing Rosewall's words.

"It was unbelievable the amount of concentration required in such a match," Laver said. "You can't get it out of your mind that there is that much money waiting for you. I think I concentrated fairly well, but I was nervous. Very nervous. But when I concentrate like that I seem to see the ball even better and I can control the racket. Some fellows, when the tension gets that high, can keep the ball in sight, but for some reason they let their racket get wobbly."

The victory pushed Laver over the $100,000 mark in earnings for the year, and Rosewall had to content himself with a mere $15,000 for losing.

Placekicker Gossett 49er Holdout

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Placekicker Bruce Gossett, obtained in a trade from the Los Angeles Rams, said he may sit out the 1970 season unless the San Francisco 49ers meet his salary demand.

Gossett, traded for defensive back Kermit Alexander between seasons, still has a year to go on a contract he signed Angeles. The 49ers want to honor that contract but Gossett wants a new one.

"I have not signed yet and if my salary request is not met, I won't," Gossett said. "My wife told me she could go back to work if I have to stay out of football."

AN EVEN BREAK

A's Still Hoping For Win Streak

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Oakland A's still are looking for that badly needed victory streak.

Unable to "get it together" this season for a long string of wins, Oakland has remained docile in its efforts to overhaul the consistent Minnesota Twins in the American League West.

The A's have not taken maximum advantage of Minnesota's occasional setbacks and now lie nine games away from the top of the American League West. They could have been eight games out, but they split a doubleheader Thursday against the New York Yankees.

TOP EFFORT

Chuck Dobson cut loose with one of his overpowering performances to thwart the Yankees 8-2 in the opener. But Diego Segui failed to get hitting support in the nightcap and suffered a 4-1 defeat.

Dobson, among the league's superb pitchers when he's sharp, also is one of the most unpredictable. All eight of his wins this season have come through strongly pitched complete games. Most of his 10 losses have been suffered after he was machinegunned from the mound in the early innings.

On Thursday he hurled a masterful seven-hitter in which he issued only one base on balls while striking out five batters. he helped himself on the scoreboard by bellyflopping into first base to beat out a bunt on which a run scored, then diving head first at home plate to score himself moments later.

Dobson's bunt was an unusual maneuver, since there were two out at the time. The play led to a five-run fourth inning as Campy Campaneris, Joe Rudi and Reggie Jackson followed with run-producing singles.

Frank Fernandez belted his 10th homer of the year in the second inning with a man on

Russia Next In Line For U.S. Trackmen

STUTTGART, Germany (UPI)—The youngest U.S. track and field team ever to go overseas added a smashing victory over West Germany to its laurels Thursday and head coach Leroy Walker predicted an "excellent chance" of beating the Soviet Union at Leningrad next week.

The United States led all the way to beat the Germans 122-100 at Stuttgart's Neckar Stadium. Last week the Yanks, averaging just 22 years of age, came from behind to beat France 117-94 in Paris.

PRIDE

"The great character of this group, the team spirit and the individual pride of our athletes helped them to overcome their inexperience," Walker said.

"They are getting more mature with every international meet and if my information about the Russians is right, we have an excellent chance of beating them as well."

The 52-year-old coach pointed out almost a dozen of his squad members set career bests in the dual meet against the Germans.

"This proves their character. They are coming into shape. This really is a fine team and there won't be any changes for the Leningrad meet," Walker promised, even after a number of U.S. Olympic stars not traveling with the team showed up here.

FOUR STARS

Lee Evans, John Pennel, Charlie Greene and Marty Liquori either failed to make the team or decided to travel on their own because they did not have enough time to stay with the U.S. team for three weeks.

"This is our team, we will stay together," Walker said, ruling out the possibility that the new arrivals might compete in Leningrad.

Nicklaus, Trevino Drop Out Of Philadelphia Golf

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Labron Harris, one of three tied for the lead going into today's second round of the Philadelphia Golf Classic, holds a masters degree in mathematics but tournament officials might not need him to count the gate for the remainder of the 72-hole event.

The tourney, already devoid of several "name" players, lost two other top drawing cards Thursday when British Open crowd-pleaser Lee Trevino suddenly withdrew.

Nicklaus, a two-time winner in the annual classic at the Whitemarsh Valley Club, asked to be excused because he was "just too tired" and emotionally drained after last Monday's playoff victory in the British Open at St. Andrews, Scotland.

Tournament director Paul Warren said Trevino, the tour's 1970 leading money winner, "had some very personal problems at home that he wanted to settle. He asked to be excused and I excused him."

Nicklaus had an opening round 74, two over par, and Trevino 71, one under.

Harris, a former U.S. amateur champion, joined tour veteran Don Massengale and young star Bob Murphy, the 1968 winner here, in shooting five-under par 67's in the opening round of the four-day competition for the $30,000 first prize.

The three held a one-stroke lead over five players bunched at 68. They were Masters champion Billy Casper, Charles Coody, Dick Hyan, 1959 Masters titlist Art Wal and defending Classic champion Dave Hill.

Hill, "dead tired" and troubled with aching legs because of a bladder condition, was a reluctant entry and admitted prior to the tournament that he would not be here except for the fact that he was defending champion.

Two strokes back of the leaders at 69 were PGA champion Ray Floyd, Australia's Bruce Devlin, Gibby Gilbert and Bunky Henry. Napa's Ron Cerrudo was in contention with a 70.

Leonard Sets Speedway Mark

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

ONTARIO, Calif. — Ontario Motor Speedway has a new course record of 172.8 miles an hour, posted by Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif., Thursday while testing tires.

Leonard thus becomes the course record holder at both Ontario and Indianapolis Speedway, where he set the mark of 181.9 miles an hour two years ago in Andy Granatelli's turbine car.

The Ontario mark was set in Parnelli Jones' turbocharged Ford Colt and bettered the old mark of 170.5 miles an hour recorded by Mark Donohue last month in Roger Penske's Ford.

Baseball

BOSTON — Several managers have testified in behalf of former American League umpires Al Salerno and Bill Valentine, who were fired for "incompetence" last year by league president Joe Cronin.

Testifying before the National Labor Relations Board, with which Salerno and Valentine have filed charges of unfair labor practices, Al Dark, manager of the Cleveland Indians, stated that he rated the two in the top half of the league's umpires. Dick Williams and Eddie Stanky, both former American League managers, also testified in the umpires behalf.

Nine Qualify For Junior Golf Tourney

Jeff Bricker, who as a freshman helped Tamalpais High School win the 1970 Marin County Athletic League golf championship, yesterday fired a 73 at Meadow Club to lead nine players who qualified for the Northern California Golf Association Junior Amateur Championships Aug. 10-14 at Lake Merced Golf and Country Club in Daly City.

Seven players from Marin County, including Bricker's Tamalpais teamates Rick Goldfien and Mark Churchfield, who finished second and fourth, were among the top nine out of a field of 24 junior golfers.

Bricker was two-over-par on the 6,383 yard Fairfax layout, one of 10 qualifying courses, and finished five strokes ahead of second place Goldfien. Steve Petterle of San Rafael tied Goldfien at 78, and Churchfield, at 79, tied with Russ Gardiner of Novato.

Wes Davis of Susanville and Redwood High School teamates Jeb Harrison and Steve Hartman all shot 80. The last qualifying spot went to Dave Gonsalves of Napa, 81.

The A's found righthander Stan Bahnsen (8-6) tougher to solve than lefty Fritz Peterson, who lost the opener. Bahnsen limited Oakland to four hits in seven innings while his teammates pecked away at Segui, now 4-6. Pete Ward drove in three of New York's four runs in the second game.

The A's resume their four-game series against the Yanks tonight when the top hurler of each club takes the hill. Jim Hunter (13-7) of Oakland faces Mel Stottlemyre (8-8) of the Yankees.

of personal bests. The 22-year old Kansas State graduate clipped one-tenth of a second off Jim Ryun's four-year old U.S. record.

SURPRISE

"I just could not believe I was going so fast," an exuberant Swenson said after upsetting what is probably the most experienced pair of 800-meter runners in the world.

Walter Adams, fourth in the 1968 Mexico City Olympics and Franz Josef Kemper, European record holder at 1:44.9, have been running together for several years, but this time they could not match Swenson's tremendous finish.

"I had to thank Mark Winzenried for the record," Swenson said, paying tribute to his University of Wisconsin teammate.

Winzenried set a tremendous pace for the first 600 meters.

"All we wanted was to run fast from the start and split the two Germans," Swenson explained. "We never intended to go for a record. Mark sacrificed himself."

While the American men won in stylish fashion, the Yank girls dropped an 82-53 decision to the West Germans.

Pirates Lose, But Will History Repeat Itself?

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Pittsburgh Pirates couldn't have planned it any better. Well, maybe just a little better.

The Pirates unveiled their new $35 million Three Rivers Stadium Thursday night the same way they inaugurated old Forbes field 61 years ago . . . by losing by a 3-2 score. While a victory certainly could have been more appreciated by Pirate fans, the fact remains that in 1909 when the club began play in Forbes Field by losing to Chicago 3-2, it went on to capture the National League pennant.

ANOTHER CHANCE

By losing to Cincinnati 3-2 in the first game in its new park, the Pirates now hope history will repeat itself. If it does and Pittsburgh goes on to capture the East Division crown in the National League, the Pirates can take comfort in the fact they can get their revenge when they open the NL's pennant playoff at home against, in all likelihood, the same Reds who spoiled their Three Rivers debut.

The park may have been different but the Reds and Pirates fashioned a couple of familiar scenes in their new surroundings. Cincinnati's Tony Perez, leading the majors in homers, belted his 30th round tripper of the season while Willie Stargell connected for the Pirates as he had done many times before at Forbes Field. Stargell's blast had some added monetary value as he won $1,000, donated by a local lumber company, for being the first Pirate to hit a homer in the new stadium.

STILL 10 GAMES

Perez, in addition to his fifth inning homer, also singled in the ninth, and after a walk to Johnny Bench, scored the winning run on a single by Lee May off loser Dock Ellis. Clay Carroll, with two innings of hitless relief, picked up his sixth win in seven decisions as the Reds maintained their 10-game lead over second place Los Angeles in the West Division.

The Dodgers kept pace by beating the New York Mets 3-1, while elsewhere in the NL, Houston nipped Chicago 2-1, Atlanta trimmed St. Louis 7-3, and Philadelphia outslugged San Diego 10-7. San Francisco and Montreal were idle.

A.L. SCORES

In the American League, New York and Oakland split with the Yankees winning the nightcap 4-1 after the Athletics took the opener 8-2, Boston shaded Milwaukee 6-5 in 0 innings, California edged Washington 3-2, Cleveland blanked Kansas City 6-0, Baltimore beat Minnesota 5-1, and Detroit whipped Chicago 11-6.

Billy Grabarkewitz' 10th homer snapped a 1-1 tie in the eighth inning and helped the Dodgers beat the Mets. Grabarkewitz, subbing for injured shortstop Maury Wills, also scored Los Angeles' first run in the opening inning when he walked, went to second on Manny Mota's infield hit, took third on a fielder's choice and tallied on a sacrifice fly by Wes Parker. Bill Singer allowed New York only six hits, including Cleon Jones' third homer, to gain his sixth win. The loss left the second place Mets a game and a half behind Pittsburgh in the East.

FISH AND GAME

Three Days Fishing, Three Different Areas

By AL GIDDINGS

I worked at the Department of Fish and Game San Francisco office at the Ferry Building through last week so I had three days off this week. And suddenly the weather was right! No wind! Mere is an on-the-spot record of those three days, each spent fishing a different area.

Bob Wilson of Woodacre, Frank Sue of Corte Madera and I decided to try the salmon run off Bird Rock outside the bar at Tomales for the first trip. We were fishing by 6 am., being almost the first boat there. (At times the early morning is the hot time; and Joe Mello's report of catching eleven salmon there during the week really had us on edge. Three or four of Joe's fish were in the 30 pound bracket; one weighed 35 pounds. He suggested using a flasher so I put on one.)

At the end of the day we had boated just one salmon, a 20-pounder, along with three ling cod. I caught the salmon so maybe the flasher was the ticket. There were 50 other boats out. I'd guess that there were 20 salmon taken. We used herring and anchovies for bait.

BOB WILSON is not a salmon addict; and though he's a mean bass fisherman using a Hopkin's lure, his first love is rock fishing for ling cod, cabezon, and any of the 52 species of rockfish. I had promised him we would spend the first day on the salmon, so of course not having any strikes, he wanted to spend the next day rock fishing.

The next morning up and at 'em all over again except this time we launch in the surf at Drakes Bay. I talked Bob into salmon fishing the first hour. I used the flasher, he used the straight herring hookup. All of a sudden, he has a good fish on, and lands a 20-pounder. You think he's happy? I look up and he's setting up rock-fishing gear as we troll along!

I SAID, "Okay, Wilson, I'm going to take you rock fishing to a place where you'll be afraid to put the bait in the water the fish are so big!" We went, and watching that man fish a Hopkin's lure is something to see. In about four hours, we landed 20 lings, 40 rock fish, five sea trout and one cabezon. The biggest fish landed was a 17-pound ling which grabbed a foot long sea trout that I had hooked. Sounds like a fish story doesn't it? That's the way rock fishing can be if the sea is calm, and you can find the spot.

Use a Hopkin's lure, let it bump the bottom as you drift, and give it a lift every few seconds. You'll get em! Incidentally, we lost eight Hopkin's lures at $2 per.

We brought 67 fish to my house where we set up an assembly fileting line. Bob filleted, I boned and skinned, cutting just the tail half of the fish off the skin. This way no bones in the filet. The front filet half Bob smokes for a variety of smoked fish flavors. The filets that are boned and skinned, my wife, Mary, cooks them in a beer batter: one cup flour; one teaspoon baking powder; one teaspoon salt, sifted together; One egg and ¾ cup beer. Beat together. Dip fish, fry to nice brown. They are good! Try it, you'll never regret it! Incidentally, the limit on rock fish is 20 per person, the limit on ling cod is 10 per person and there's no sea trout limit.

THEN COMES the third trip, and by this time I'm exhausted, and beginning to hate fish. But after a night's sleep, up and at em again! This trip was planned by Chris Nardi of We dicided on the close trip off Muir Beach. I used the flasher and all one-pound weight. Chris used just the standard hookup pound weights at 30 feet. Chris using two-pound weights at 30 feet. Mr. Nardi used three-used anchovies; I used herring. Mr. Nardi used both.

THE SCORE? Chris limited with two 11 pounders and one 23 inch fish. I limited with an 18 pounder and two 22-inch fish. Mr. Nardi caught lots of king fish? How do you figure it? Are flashers best? And how about the one-pound weights? Herring or anchovies?

FOR THIS WEEKEND, all the above places should be good, and stripers are reported hitting at the Marin Rod and Gun Club areas at the bridge and the Brothers Islands. And the tides are right for abalones starting at 5:30 a.m. Saturday, a minus 1.7.

Tonight, the Marin Rod and Gun Club is having a meeting for a round table discussion on the future of the Marin Lakes in regards to trout fishing, permits, prices, and other problems encountered this year. Members and interested trout anglers are all invited by president Matt Zell for the 8 p.m. meeting at the clubhouse, Point San Quentin.

Rugged Week In Minors

Except for Novato's John Dolinsek, last week was a total disaster for Marin County baseball stars now playing in the minor leagues.

Dolinsek, playing first base for Columbus, Ga., in the class AA Southern Association, had eight hits including a double and a home run in 25 at bats for a .320 average. His season average, which leads the league, is .317.

Another Novato product, shortstop Tom Corder, got his first hits of the season for the Los Angeles Dodgers' rookie team at Ogden, Utah. Corder went five for 32 and had five RBIs.

Corder's teammate, outfielder Dewey Forry of Terra Linda, had a miserable week, going nothing for 10. He was one for five his first week.

Former College of Marin catcher Gary Welch of San Rafael cooled off last week after his tremendous start for the New York Mets' rookie team at Marion, Va. Welch had only one hit in 12 trips, after going six for eight his first week.

Pitcher Russ Dillon of Novato stafted one game last week for Greenwood, S.C., of the class A West Carolinas League. He went six innings, giving up six hits and striking out six, but didn't figure in the decision.

Catches Marlin

A CHANGE IN UNIFORMS, TOO

Complete New Look In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates won everything but the ball game.

They won the cheers of the crowd Thursday night in the first game played at new Three Rivers Stadium when they ran onto the Tartan Turf field, resplendent in new uniforms.

Willie Stargell won $1,000 donated by a local lumber company for being the first Pirate to hit a home run in the $35 million dollar stadium.

But the Cincinnati Reds won the game, 3-2, on Lee Mays' run-scoring single in the ninth inning.

LARGEST CROWD

A crowd of 48,846, the largest baseball attendance at a single game in Pittsburgh, saw Bing Crosby, Pirate vice president, heard Billy Eckstine sing the National Anthem and watched Pie Traynor, Hall of Fame third baseman, throw the first pitch.

The new stadium is located a few hundred yards away from the "Point"—where the Allegheny and Monongahela merge to form the Ohio River.

The Dukes of Dixieland played jazz developed during the heydey of the steamboats that plied up the Mississippi River from New Orleans.

WEATHER

Even the elements cooperated. The day began with leaden skies and some rain. But by afternoon the skies had cleared and a full moon was visible at game time.

The Pirate uniforms drew comments from the crowd. Now they are attired in golden caps with black brim, white uniforms and spangled with gold and black socks. What's more the uniforms have no buttons, no zippers.

The new uniforms are made of stretch material of nylon and cotton. The jersey is a pullover type.

The confusion was not more than expected. An escalator leading to the fourth level failed to function for 15 minutes, but the fans calmly furnished their own power—on foot—to complete the trek. There was no water in many of the restrooms because of the heavy pressure.

BAR THE BRASS

Most fans had little trouble pouring into the stadium. But there were two exceptions—Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and National League President Chub Feeney.

An usher who did not recognize them forbade them to enter gate "A" and told them to walk around to Gate "C." But someone recognized two of baseball's hierarchy and identified them to the usher. They were admitted.

Don Highsmith The Surprise Of Raider Camp

SANTA ROSA (UPI)—Don Highsmith of Michigan State, a little-noticed 13th round choice in the pro football draft, is making quite an impression so far in the training camp of the Oakland Raiders.

"If I had to classify him," said coach John Madden, "I'd say he was a speed back, but he can get the tough yards, too."

Highsmith was the 325th player to be picked by the pros although he piled up 937 yards for the Spartans last season.

will be at Novato Rancho, Aug. 1.

Should any Marin all-star team survive the Section 2 tournament, which will include teams from Santa Rosa — Ukiah, Concord — Walnut Creek, and two from Sacramento — Tahoe, the next stop would be the Division 2 tournament at Concord. Following that is the U.S. Western regional tournament at San Bernadino, and finally world series week at Williamsport.

Probers Untangling Web In Floating Arsenal Case

The gun-laden converted sub-chaser which lawmen raided in Tiburon harbor Wednesday may have been used to smuggle both arms and marijuana between Mexico and the United States, a narcotics agent believes.

Lt. James Schwedhelm, head of the Marin Drug Abuse Bureau, speculated the crew traded arms for pot in Mexico, then brought the marijuana to the United States for sale.

A state narcotics agent, Garrett Van Raam, said it is believed the Makaira, the 110-foot sub-chaser, entered San Francisco Bay in late May with as much as 2,200 pounds (1,000 one-kilogram bricks) of Mexican pot on board.

The ship anchored in Sausalito three weeks ago and later moved to Tiburon harbor. Drug agents reportedly bought marijuana from some crew members and on Wednesday swarmed on board to find a miniscule amount of marijuana and an arsenal of handguns, rifles and ammunition.

Federal authorities in Washington reported at least 30 of the 50 guns found on board had been reported stolen. The raiders confiscated 40 handguns and 10 rifles.

A seventh person was arrested yesterday at Marin County Jail when he came to bail out the crew members. Albertus Willem Oldenburg, 28, of 212 Richardson Street, Sausalito, was arrested for illegally talking to the two girl members of the crew after reporters interviewed them. A drug agent then identified Oldenburg as taking part in a marijuana sale on the boat and he was booked on suspicion of selling marijuana and illegal communication with prisoners.

The six arrested Wednesday were Vicki Jo Hartzell, 19, of Salt Lake City, Joan Heath Edwards, 21, of Australia, Robert Allen Drake, 19, of Detroit, and George William Lawrence, 28, James Lee Harris, 21 and Jerald Noel McDonald, 30, all with no known address.

McDonald, captain of the Makaira, was arrested just before the raid as he got out of a car and started for the ship.

Early Wednesday, agents said, the ship left Tiburon for a short cruise through Raccoon Strait, then returned. Agents suspect the crew expected a raid and dumped their remaining marijuana overboard on the short trip.

The raid was ordered after a drug agent reportedly saw a machine gun on board during a marijuana buy. No machine gun was found, however.

Only one ounce of marijuana was found in the raid.

In jail yesterday, crew members denied any wrongdoing. Miss Hartzell said the guns

Housing Pump Priming Set; Economy Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Prospects for an end to the worst economic slump in a decade appeared brighter today, according to federal experts. The upturn hopes were bolstered by a $2.75 billion pump priming agreement in Congress to prod home construction out of its nearly complete standstill.

The Commerce Department said Thursday the nation's total output of goods and services increased 0.3 per cent during the last three months, ending a slide that had pushed output down during the previous six months.

Harold C. Passer, assistant Commerce Secretary for economic policy, said the report showed "the economy has stabilized . . . this lays the foundation for an early resumption of growth."

The government said the Gross National Product (GNP), a measure of the total value of all goods and services, was at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $970.1 billion in the second quarter of this year, up $10.6 billion from the first quarter.

The advance of 4.5 per cent was due to the 0.3 per cent increase in physical output plus 4.2 per cent price inflation. The rate of inflation, although still severe, was the lowest in almost two years.

Britishers Go On Buying Spree, Stock Up On Food

Troops Alerted To Clear Items At Strikebound Ports

LONDON (UPI) — British housewives went on a brief panic buying spree today and the government served notice it may send troops into the country's strikebound ports at midnight to move vital food supplies.

Retailers in such West End supermarkets as Gamages said the women, apparently spurred by television speculation of food shortages, poured into the shops late yesterday and this morning.

They bought beef, bacon and other imported foodstuffs regarded as likely to become scarce, but by midday grocers reported business tempo back to normal and the shelves full again.

The government published a list of 38 emergency regulations, giving itself powers to deal with the three-day-old nationwide ports shutdown. They included the power to use troops if necessary to shift perishable food cargoes. The regulations go into effect at midnight.

The Evening News said the troops definitely will move in during the weekend—possibly Saturday. But spokesmen for the Defense Ministry and Prime Minister Edward Heath's office said no decision on timing had been taken yet.

However, government sources said authorization to use troops might be given at a meeting of the cabinet's emergency committee later today.

As the government prepared to act, worried housewives went on a panic buying spree. But the government told them there was no need to panic about food shortages resulting from the ports shutdown.

Minister of Agriculture James Prior called in 46 leaders of food manufacturing, distributing, wholesale and retail industries.

He said afterwards: "I was glad to receive their assurance that the supply and stock situation is well under control and that there is no need for panic buying."

Prior said there is no need for price hikes. However, prices were rising. Rump roast, for example, went up from 80 to 96 cents a pound.

"The government has made clear its determination to take the necessary steps to maintain essential supplies and a close watch on prices," Prior said.

Officials said Prior read the riot act about hiking food prices to the industry representatives. But salesmen at London's big Smithfield central meat market and convent Garden fruit and vegetable market reported heavy stocking up and prices spurting all along the line.

A state of emergency declared Thursday and effective at midnight tonight gave the government special powers including the use of troops. Officials said 36,000 troops were alerted to move perishable food supplies but that they were unlikely to be called in before the beginning of next week.

The emergency regulations

Argentines Find Corpse Of General

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—The Argentine government today identified a bound and gagged body found in the basement of a remote ranch house as that of former President Pedro Eugenio Aramburu, kidnaped May 29 by terrorists who later said they executed him and gave him a Christian burial.

"The ministry of the interior regrets to have to announce that it has verified that the body found in the Province of Buenos Aires is that of Lt. Gen. Pedro E. Aramburu," Interior Minister Eduardo McLoughlin said in reading the communique from the presidential palace.

"An executive degree has ordered civil and military funeral honors commensurate to a president of the nation killed in the exercise of his duties."

The body had two bullets in the heart. Aramburu was 67 when he was kidnaped from his Buenos Aires apartment by two men posing as Army officers.

Police said troops found the body at the La Celma Ranch, owned by the family of Carlos Ramus, 22, one of five persons sought in the kidnaping. It was in the basement of the house, near the town of Carlos Tejedor, 230 miles southwest of Buenos Aires.

The lime-covered body, badly decomposed, bore two bullets in the heart and was clad in a checked sports jacket with the label of Aramburu's tailor, police said.

Guardsman Says Guns Necessary On Campus

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A major general who heads the National Guard Bureau said today that "deadly force should only be used as a last emergency" in campus violence but said guardsmen should be allowed weapons to protect their lives.

Maj. Gen. Winston P. Wilson, chief of National Guard operations in the Defense Department, also displayed to the President's Commission on Campus Unrest an array of missiles and weapons used against guardsmen at student outbreaks in Wisconsin.

They included a nail-studded baseball bat, iron bars, jagged pieces of metal and a four-pound rock he said was propelled at a group of troops by a powerful, home-made slingshot.

Under questioning, Wilson agreed that special guard units should be assigned to deal with any sniper fire that may occur in civil outbreaks on campus or off. Asked if he felt guardsmen should not carry weapons at all, the witness replied: "No sir. There has to be flexibility there to determine — the judgment factor."

He said:

"The situation has got to depend . . . We can have violence on campus just as in the cities . . . Deadly force should only be used as a last emergency.

But a guy should have the right of protection of life.

"Normally we have sniper teams but this doesn't preclude, if a man is about to lose his life, protection of himself or others."

Point Reyes Official Expects Full Land Buy

Acquisition of the remaining land in private ownership within Point Reyes National Seashore now appears not only possible but likely, Willis P. Kriz, acting land acquisition officer for the seashore, indicated yesterday.

President Richard M. Nixon has signed a bill authorizing expenditure of $7.1 million of the $38 million earmarked in April for acquisition of the land, and Kriz said that he anticipates receiving the remaining $30.9 million very shortly.

In testimony before the House Appropriations Committee before the $7.1 million spending bill was passed, Department of Interior officials said they would give priority to purchase of property about to be subdivided within the park boundaries.

Kriz said that Lake Ranch and Pierce Ranch were the properties referred to, but that the expected availability of enough money to purchase the entire 53,000 acres, plus more than 11,000 acres of adjacent tidelands, made the question of priorities academic.

"We feel that the appropriations we are getting and have authorization to spend now are sufficient to acquire all the properties," said Kriz, "Whoever wishes to sell their properties in the area will be given priority."

"We will give those who are planning to subdivide a close look," he continued, "but acquisition will not be forced by anyone who is simply threatening to subdivide. We will acquire all of the land systematically . . . not jump around putting out fires here and there."

Kriz said that approximately 32,000 acres of the land has been acquired to date.

The National Park Service had estimated land acquisition to cost approximately $17 million when the move to set aside 52,000 acres of Point Reyes Peninsula for a national park first reached Washington.

Spending to the $38 million ceiling authorized in April this year would bring the cost of the project to date to $57.5 million.

U.S., Israel Meet; Suez Raids Heavy

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israel hit Egyptian Suez Canal positions with 60 planes today in an unusually heavy strike—the 57th consecutive day of Israeli attacks—while a high level U.S. Air Force mission conferred in Jerusalem with Israeli Foreign Office officials.

Diplomatic reports said Premier Golda Meir was planning another visit to the United States, apparently to seek more American aid in view of the increasing Soviet involvement in Egypt and official fears the next round of the Mideast conflict would be fought in the canal area.

Californian's Murder Terrorizes Convention

CHICAGO (UPI)—A killer slashed the throats of two 18-year-old California girls, killing one of them, late Thursday night in the downtown Chicago hotel where they were attending a convention of Japanese-Americans.

Police said today the survivor, Carol Yamada, had given a "vague description. . . in gestures" of the attacker who fell upon her when she returned to her room to discover what had happened to her roommate, Evelyn Okubo.

Miss Yamada was unable to speak and, after undergoing surgery, was listed in serious condition. Before help came to her, she scrawled notes in black crayon on tablet paper. One of them said, "It looks gory, but it really doesn't hurt."

A bowie-style knife bearing what appeared to be spots of rust or blood was found in a white paper bag on top of an ice-making machine close by the girls' seventh floor room in the Palmer House, one of Chicago's most famous hotels. It was not immediately known if this was the murder weapon.

The Stockton, Calif., girls were discovered by a third roommate, Pati Iwataki, 18, Los Angees, when she returned from a party being held at the 21st biennial convention of the Japanese-American Citizens League.

Both victims had been stripped of their clothes and were bound with what appeared to be drapery cord.

The body of Miss Okubo, trussed hand and foot, was in the bath tub. Miss Yamada, her feet tied but her hands free, was standing in the middle of the room, covered with blood.

A doctor at Henrotin Hospital said the knife had slashed through her windpipe but had just missed her jugular vein. "She missed death by a fraction of an inch," he said.

Lt. Michael Spiotto, chief of detectives of the Chicago police force, refused to confirm or deny reports that Miss Yamada had identified the attacker as a Negro with an Afro haircut. He also would not confirm that one

Talks Unify War Effort In Cambodia

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Cambodia and South Vietnam held a summit conference today in the town of Neak Luong to coordinate their efforts against North Vietnamese attempts to overrun Cambodia. Cambodia-Thailand talks begin next week.

On the war front, military spokesman said Cambodian units had recaptured the mountain top town of Kirirom from guerrilla soldiers who withdrew after setting fire to several buildings, including the vacation retreat of ousted Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

Meanwhile, it was reported in Saigon that fighting in South Vietnam ebbed Thursday and early today to one of its lowest levels of 1970. Allied spokesmen said no American casualties were reported in a

Moving Day Tomorrow For Top GOP

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland soon can step from his suite in the oldest of three House office buildings, walk outdoors for half a block and go into his office as chairman of the Republican National Committee.

The party's national headquarters begins moving Saturday from a downtown office building three blocks from the White House. It has occupied space in the building since 1953, shortly after Dwight D. Eisenhower took the first of two four-year leases on the White House.

In its new headquarters, called the Eisenhower Republican Center, the national committee will be about three blocks from the United States Capitol, still under control of the Democrats. Its nearness to the Capitol made its design and color subject to approval by the House building commission, headed by Speaker John W. McCormack, a Democrat.

The four-story brick structure, painted gray, was built at a cost of about $1.6 million. It is owned by Capitol Hill Associates, a corporation composed of Republican investors.

The Republican National Committee and satellites such as the GOP Governors' Association, the Young Republicans and the Federation of Republican Women's Clubs will occupy about 35,000 square feet of space in the new building, compared with about 30,000 in the present headquarters.

Some offices of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee and the District of Columbia GOP headquarters also will move into the building.

The parent corporation hopes to begin work on a second four-story structure to be completed next year just north of the new structure and connected to it with a fourth-story catwalk.

This second building will enable the Eisenhower Center to house the remaining offices of the Congressional Campaign Committee and the Capitol Hill Club, a private club for Republicans. Both now occupy space in a hotel a block away.

In the old headquarters, a committee of 20 is following a set of instructions about packaging paper clips and pencils in cartons with variously colored labels, which identify the floors the cartons and equipment go to in the new building.

Sixteen offices have their instructions for moving Saturday; 20 others move a week later.

Morton will not need a taxi to go to his new office —but still will need one to take him to the White House.

DOG SHOWS UP AT CLINIC ON BAD LSD TRIP

OTTAWA (London Express) — Dogs suffering from bad LSD trips are turning up at the Toronto Humane Society's animal clinic.

One dog, a German shepherd, had its stomach muscles wasted and liver and kidneys damaged by what Dr. Roderick Davies, director of the Academy of Veterinarians, said must have been continuous heavy use of LSD. It chased imaginary flies, barking at walls and spinning ining at walls and spinning insanely after its tail.

He was brought to the clinic by a hippy who immediately vanished. The dog "utterly submissive," was tranquilized for 24 hours and is recovering.

Agnew Wins A Round For Charities

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American prisoner of war families and American Indian children have been given $25,000, courtesy of Spiro T. Agnew's caricature.

Agnew accepted a check from two watch makers and a T-shirt manufacturer Thursday as ad- to give part of the profits from vance payments on their pledge Spiro Agnew wrist watches and shirts to two of Agnew's favorite charities.

The vice president accepted $10,000 each from American Time Co. of Detroit and Novelty Watch Co. of Baltimore, which market a wrist watch with a likeness of Agnew very similar to the old Mickey Mouse watches.

An additional $5,000 came from the Varsity House of Columbus, Ohio, which sells T-shirts emblazoned with a large-nosed caricature of Agnew.

The money will go to the National League of Families of American Prisoners and the American Indian Self-Help Program of the Save the Children Federation, Inc.

The inventor of the Spiro Agnew watch, Dr. Hale E. Dougherty of Anaheim, Calif., was not at the Thursday ceremony and is balking at Agnew's demands. He says any of his profits that go to charity will go to cancer research.

Elks Conclave Vetoes Plea For Admission Of Negroes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Elks are retaining a clause in their constitution which limits membership to white American citizens who believe in God and never have been associated with subversive organizations.

At the concluding session of its 106th Grand Lodge Meeting Thursday, the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks voted overwhelmingly against amending the constitution to admit Negroes.

Frank Hise, former grand exalted ruler, said the Elks had been bombarded with letters concerning its racial policy. The letters, he said, were "so harsh it was obvious that they were inspired and part of a concerted effort to destroy our order."

The amendment was from a contingent from Madison, Wis.

Otho Devilbiss of Chicago, a member, told reporters race is not a "controversial issue" with the Elks and that it had a right to exclude anyone it wished. There were some "people with oriental blood" in the Elks, he added.

CHARLES CHARMING; ANNE RESERVED

Race In Washington Monument, Moonlit Sightseeing For Britons

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Prince Charles ran down the 898 steps of the Washington Monument Thursday night with David Eisenhower, and led his charmed American hosts on a tour of the capital by night.

The 21-year-old heir to the British throne and his sister Princess Anne received a royal White House welcome Thursday after arriving for a three day visit then skipped off with young Eisenhower and the Nixon daughters for a round of swimming, skeet shooting and sightseeing.

More of the same was on tap for today with a tour of the Capitol and a meeting with congressional leaders; a visit to the Smithsonian Institute; a cruise down the Potomac to Mount Vernon; a tea party at the British Embassy and a formal supper dance on the White House lawn.

Anne appeared reserved during the Thursday tours, seldom smiling. But Charles captivated his new American friends with a display of poise, sportsmanship and boyish ebullience.

"He's a terrific person," said young Eisenhower who confessed the run down the Washington Monument was "heavy going at first."

The others in the party—Anne, Tricia Nixon and Julie Eisenhower—took the elevator down.

"We were chicken," Julie said.

The moonilght tour of Washington's historic sites included the Lincoln Memorial, the Iwo Jima statue and the Capitol.

It had been a day of one upsmanship for Charles who also put on a dazzling show of skeet shooting at clay pigeons with a double barreled shotgun at an evening cookout at Camp David, the President's Maryland mountain retreat.

"He's having a grand time," young Eisenhower said a few hours after the prince and princess arrived for a private three-day visit as houseguests at the White House.

They were warmly welcomed by President Nixon, who rolled out the red carpet and laid on ceremonial fanfare in their honor.

Charles' obvious exuberance was in striking contrast to Anne's glum looks and rare smiles.

"She's in a mood," explained one Britisher in her traveling party.

Bonn Gets British Nod For Pact With Russ

LONDON (UPI)—Foreign Minister Walter Scheel of West Germany won full British backing today for negotiating a nonaggression pact with Russia, government officials said.

eH was to leave later in the day for Washington to seek U.S. approval from Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

Scheel briefed the British foreign secretary, Sir Alex Douglas-Home, Thursday night and today on West Germany's negotiating plans for the talks that open July 27 in Moscow, and planned to make a similar presentation to Rogers.

West Germany announced Thursday it would hold the talks in an effort to achieve the first nonaggression pact between a North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) member and the Soviet Union.

The United States, Britain and France already had expressed support for the principle of a nonaggression agreement between the two countries. They did not consider it a conflict with German commitments to NATO.

British officials said the government has "full confidence" in West Germany's policies designed to improve relations with the Eastern Bloc.

Rogers told a news conference this week "We do hope that the talks are successful and we hope that progress will be made in reducing tensions between the East and West and especially between the Soviet Union and West Germany."

French President Georges Pompidou approved the West German plans during talks in Bonn with Scheel and Chancellor Willy Brandt July 3-4.

The key principles of the negotiations involve a mutual renunciation of force and the threat of force in the settlement of disputes. They consider present borders inviolable.

This means the West Germans would agree to respect the German-Polish border and the East-West German demarcation line. The Russians insisted no improvement of relations was possible without these concessions from Bonn.

Opposition Christian Democrats in Bonn criticized Brandt and Scheel for agreeing to the principle, which they said abdicated all claims on former German territory now part of Russia and Poland and abandoned the goal of national reunification.

Brandt argued that agreeing to respect borders which are 25 years old and which none of the great powers will permit to be changed is a small price to pay for lowered tensions.

Human Rights Panel Studies Fund Squeeze

The Marin County Human Rights Commission last night discussed ways of adapting its staff and programs to a trimmed-down 1970-71 budget, but couldn't reach a solution.

Chairman James O. Quiett said the group would try again at its next meeting to fit its operations into a $30,000 spending program. He said he would be in touch with County Administrator Alan Bruce today on deciding budget priorities.

During county budget hearings, Bruce had recommended that the commission staff, which operated under a $52,000 budget for 1969-70, be eliminated for economy reasons. The board of supervisors balked, however, recommending a budget of $30,000. The commission had originally sought a $77,000 appropriation for 1970-71.

"We found no sound way of suing this small budget. . .and at the same time still have an executive director," Quiett said.

Quiett said members of a large audience at last night's meeting praised executive director Austin J. Thompson, who resigned last month while under fire from Bruce for poor work habits. And the commission issued a vote of confidence in Thompson, Quiett said.

Quiett said the commission is looking for a new director.

The chairman also read letters from the California Council on Criminal Justice and other agencies praising Thompson's role in securing funds for the commission's police-community relations program — a role that had been brought under question by Bruce.

Man Cited On Charge Of Assault

A 40-year-old San Francisco man was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of attempting to rape a 29-year-old San Rafael housewife he met in a bar.

Richard Ralph Martinez was arrested Wednesday in San Francisco, after the woman complained that he stole her purse and attempted to rape her early Saturday morning in the parking lot behind the Executive Lounge 1299 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Martinez had met the woman and a female companion in the Executive Lounge and driven them to another bar, police reported. She asked him to drive her in her car to meet her husband, according to the report, and she said he attacked her when they returned to pick up her car.

Martinez denied the attack, saying that the woman panicked when he tried to kiss her and that he shook her by the shoulder when he tried to calm her, police reported.

He was ordered to appear in court today with counsel.

Fairfax Council Firms Drive To Hold Tax Rate

Fairfax city councilmen voted last night to try to hold the city tax rate at last year's $1.74 per $100 assessed valuation, but the only concrete result of a three-hour budget session was addition of $1,000 for the building department.

The $556,171 budget submitted by City Administrator Frances R. Lestanguet calls for a tax rate of $1.89 per $100 assessed valuation. This would put the general fund rate at $1.43, the maximum Fairfax can levy. (General law cities are restricted to a general fund levy of $1, but legislation when the county took over assessments for cities permitted Fairfax a limit of $1.43, because it previously had assessed at a higher percentage of appraised value.) The remainder of the $1.89 would be made up of 29.5 cents for the retirement fund and 16.5 cents for the park-recreation fund.

Councilman Francis J. O'Connell warned repeatedly that nothing could be added to the administrator's budget, since it already called for the maximum tax rate. This, he said, precludes a salary increase of more than 5 per cent.

Mrs. Lestangeut and Councilman Lee Nelder wanted to discuss salaries before going further into department budgets, but the other councilmen agreed to leave salaries until last.

Building Inspector Dale W. Hostrup asked a 10 per cent cost-of-living raise and 5 per cent incentive raise for himself. He said "all department heads are asking a 10 per cent cost-of-living raise."

The $1,000 added to the administrator's budget was to provide forms, advertising and mailing for setting up an occupancy ordinance, which Hostrup urged would help prevent illegal occupation of residences. It would require that, whenever residential property changes hands, a city inspection be made and the buyer provided a statement showing all deficiencies in the building and specifying the zoning and the limits on occupancy. The ordinance has been discussed but not yet passed.

The council went through the fire and building departments' budgets. Although no change was made immediately in the budget for the fire department, Councilman Nelder — a former San Francisco fireman — questioned numerous items, indicating he will propose cuts.

Fire Chief Charles M. Thornton was asked to furnish a staffing schedule for council inspection. Nelder sharply questioned the practice of hiring volunteers at $33 per day (Thornton asked that this be raised to $35) to man the station on weekends. Better scheduling might avoid this, he suggested.

The council will return to the budget next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Fairfax Women's Club meeting room, taking up public works and parks-recreation departments.

New officers are: Ben A. Farlatti, president; B. A. Sill, first vice president; Carlos E. Gonzalez, second vice president; J. Galen Foster, secretary, and Edwin Johnson, treasurer.

Mobile Home Property Tax Bill Killed

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to subject mobile homes to property taxes, a measure sought for several years by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, yesterday was killed by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

Mobile home owners now pay motor vehicle taxes in lieu of property taxes, with the revenue reserved for roads. If they paid property taxes, the revenue could be used for any purpose.

Local government officials long have alleged that mobile homes receive tax advantages because they are assessed as vehicles, and have the added advantage of depreciation schedules that hit a minimum value after only seven years.

The bill ran into opposition from representatives of the mobile home industry, and from the Department of Finance, which figured it would cost the state some $11 million in its first full year alone.

The size of the average camping party is 4.26 persons, says the New York State Department of Conservation.

Panel Slated As Greeters At Hamilton

The start of a Marvelous Marin Military Affairs Committee was made last night at a meeting of 69 leaders of Marin County at the Cabana Room of the officer's club at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Margo Margossian, manager of Sherman-Clay in San Rafael, was named to select a temporary organizing committee which in turn will organize the permanent group.

The purpose of the military affairs committee is to meet and welcome groups of notables who occasionally come into Hamilton Air Force Base, entertain them, and show them the things they want to see in the area.

Last night's meeting was the outgrowth of a recent trip by a group of Marin County Businessmen and leaders to Tyndall Air Force Base, Panama City, Fla.

There the Marin County group were met by the military affairs committee of the Panama City Chamber of Commerce. They were wined, dined and shown the area, and given opportunities to play golf or fish.

"You're from California, now what can we show you in Florida?" Earl J. O'Grady, vice-president of Pacific Telephone Co. asked at their initial meeting with the Panama City group.

"They sell their area and there is no reason why we cannot do the same thing in Marin," said Hugh E. Turner of KTIM.

Lee C. Wise, Novato manager of Pacific Gas and Electric Co., had obtained the plan of organization of the Panoma City group. They have a $10 initiation fee and when they entertain groups all members are billed the same. There are 167 members in the Panama City group, Wise said.

BOMB MAKINGS FOUND IN NOVATO

Marin County Sheriff's Deputy William Naber examines explosive equipment found in a sack concealed in grass near a mailbox at 2495 Novato Boulevard, Novato. A group of youths returning from overnight camping at Stafford Lake found the sack, which contained everything needed to make several small bombs—three pounds of smokeless gunpowder, three feet of primer cord, about 20 blasting caps, 20 percussion primers and 20 safety fuses.

ser of Egypt left Moscow today, ending a 19-day visit with what Arab diplomatic sources described as a Kremlin pledge of further aid for the battle against Israel and a hardened Egyptian-Soviet stand against any possible peace talks.

Nasser's plane arrived in Cairo at 4:15 p.m., 9:15 a.m. EDT.

An Egyptian military spokesman said 10 Israeli planes attacked for three hours along a 66-mile front between Qantara and Suez but that "heavy Egyptian ground fire prevented the raiding aircraft from reaching their objectives." However, he reported one Egyptian soldier killed and seven others injured. Israel also reported one Israeli soldier wounded in an artillery duel.

The American Air Force mission to Israel was led by Lt. Gen. James V. Edmundson, deputy chief of the U.S. Air Force Strike Command with headquarters in Miami, Fla. His visit coincided with growing U.S. and Israeli anxiety over the increased Soviet military activities in the Middle East.

The mission was accompanied by a State Department official, but the U.S. Embassy in Tel Aviv dismissed speculation the mission was connected with any impending moves in the Middle East crisis. A spokesman said the mission was on a "routine, get acquainted tour and has "nothing to do with any other matters that may be pending between Israel and the United States."

gave the government power to impose food rationing, control food prices, control ports, direct supplies of fuel, food and animal feeding stuffs, control coastal shipping and cargoes, relax certain existing restrictions on road transport, and requisition land, houses and buildings.

The regulations were to be debated by Parliament on Monday. They will be valid 28 days. Officials said the powers would be used only if and when necessary.

Rising prices did not deter the housewives. They picked grocery shelves clean of meat, butter, fruit and other imported foods. "The strike is terrible. Business is wonderful." said Malcolm Avery, a grocer in London's West End.

Leonard Moss, spokesman for wholesale butchers in London's Smithfield market, said "Today's increases are just a foretaste of things to come. The prospects are not very bright."

Hub Board Sets Closed Session

The San Anselmo School District Board will go into closed session at a special meeting tomorrow to discuss applicants for the superintendent's position.

Supt. Stephen L. Parodi, who will become assistant superintendent of business administration when the new man is selected, said the board probably will not make a decision tomorrow.

The board will also consider approving the district's 1970-71 publication budget of $1,908,826 and requesting a $500,000 loan from Marin County until the district receives its tax revenues.

of the notes found in the room said, "Death is beautiful."

The knifing terrorized the meeting of 400 Japanese Americans from throughout the country. As the word of the attack spread, about 200 women decided they were too frightened to sleep in their rooms. They slept instead in a sixth floor banquet hall while men stood guard outside. Later many delegates checked out of the hotel and headed for home.

In Stockton, Mrs. Doris Yamada described her daughter and Evelyn Okuba as good "church goers" who had "chummed together for a long time." They went to the Chicago convention because they "wanted to see America," Mrs. Yamada said.

The cycle of terror began when Miss Okuba left the Thursday night party to get a radio from her room. When she failed to return in half an hour, Miss Yamada went looking for her.

Before Miss Iawataki came looking, too, Miss Yamada had apparently managed to knock over the receiver of a telephone. A telephone operator reported she heard "heavy brathing" over the line.

Pot Conviction Nets Probation, Jail Term

Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court has placed Dennis Bruce Williams, 20, of San Francisco, on probation for 15 months and ordered him to spend four days in jail for a misdemeanor conviction of possessing marijuana.

Williams was arrested Dec. 28 in Novato when he was picked up on a traffic warrant.

Patrick's 1966 Income $900,000

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An attorney for pollster Mervin Field cross-examined an accountant for Holiday Magic Inc. today and disclosed that William Penn Patrick of San Rafael was paid $900,000 in 1966 from the company, which was worth only $2 million.

Attorney David Ring asked C. Robert Angell if this was consistent, since 500 of the nation's largest corporations gave their chief executives less than $500,000 a year.

Angell said there are many things to consider. Of the $900,000, Patrick's income was $534,000 and he borrowed $371,000 from the company, the accountant said.

The attorney was attempting to open up the worth of Patrick in a $4 million suit against the cosmetics millionaire, who ran for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in 1966.

Patrick's lawyer, Jim Rhode introduced W2 forms for the next three years. They showed Patrick earned $450,000 in 1967, $160,000 in 1968, and $370,000 in 1969.

Patrick is accused of defaming the Field Poll by saying that representatives of George Christopher, who was also running, "bought" it for $16,000.

handful of skirmishes, all in the northern war zone.

One indicator of battlefield activity dipped to its lowest point in more than six months. U. S. spokesmen said American aircraft losses during the seven-day period ending Tuesday dropped to 14. It was the lowest figure since 12 were reported lost during the week ending Jan. 6.

American and South Vietnamese forces reported killing 40 Communist soldiers in six scattered clashes in the northern war zone. Spokesmen said there were no American casualties and that South Vietnamese losses totaled two wounded.

South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu flew today to Neak Luong, 30 miles southeast of Phnom Penh and site of one headquarters of the 18,000 man South Vietnamese force in Cambodia, for talks with Premier Lon Nol and Prince Siri Matak, No. 2 man in the Cambodian government.

South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam said Lon Nol sat in for three hours on the meeting but Cambodians would not confirm his presence and newsmen who tried to move in for a look were shoved back by security guards.

Lon Nol flies to Bangkok next Wednesday for talks with Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn and other officials. UPI correspondent Leon Daniel reported from the Thai capital that he is likely to find Thai officials sympathetic but cautious.

Lon Nol has asked for the aid of Thai ground troops in driving the Communists out of Cambodia and some Thai officials have urged the move because they would rather fight the Communists in Cambodia than in Thailand.

Daniel said the Thais are dragging their feet until they find out how much American aid they can expect. The country is faced with a budget deficit of $500 million this year, and there was sharp criticism in the U.S. Senate over the $200 million laid out by Washington to finance Thai troops fighting in South Vietnam.

The battle for Kirirom was the biggest action reported in either Cambodia or South Vietnam.

A military spokesman said the five government battalions, three of them made up of tribesmen trained by U.S. Green Berets in Vietnam, had suffered "fairly heavy" losses in the six-day battle that ended Thursday afternoon. No Communist casualties were given.

A 47-year-old Viennese suffocated in a wheat silo when he tried to clear a plugged-up connecting pipe and fell into the grain.

ECONOMY

Walter Heller, chief economic adviser to former President John F. Kennedy said inflation is "at last on the wane." He urged the Nixon administration to ease up on economic restraints that could produce a recession.

But Raymond J. Saulnier, top economic adviser to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, disagreed. He said: "There is as yet too little evidence that inflation is being overcome to justify a relaxation of restraint."

House and Senate negotiators have agreed on a housing bill which could generate construction of several million homes in the next few years.

The legislation would make about $2.75 billion available in mortgage money for buying or building homes. It can be expected to ease the tight money situation which has brought the homebuilding industry to a near standstill.

Routine approval by each chamber of the compromise bill is expected soon.

One new program in the bill would authorize $105 million a year for three years to pay an interest subsidy to allow middle-income families to buy homes bearing 7 per cent mortgages.

The subsidy would make up the difference between what they paid in interest on mortgages and what the lending institutions collected. That provision was expected to generate construction of 250,000 homes a year for three years should Congress fully fund the authorized amount. Money must be approved in separate legislation.

The GNP increase was due prinarily to a spurt in spending by consumers. Both government spending and business investment were almost unchanged. Disposable personal income increased by a record $19 billion, pushed up by retroactive increases in Social Security and government employe salaries.

The Commerce Department also reported home building increased last month, possibly signaling the end of a severe 16-month slump in housing.

Drake said, "I'm a working man. . .I didn't commit any crimes. . .I really don't have anything to hide."

All seven defendants were to appear today in Marin Municipal Court. Drake, Harris and Oldenburg were held on suspicion of selling marijuana, Miss Edwards on suspicion of offering to sell marijuana, Miss Hartzell and Lawson on suspicion of possessing marijuana, and McDonald on suspicion of having marijuana and a tear gas gun when arrested.

The district attorney's office was reviewing the case this morning to see if gun charges or other charges would be filed today.

Arm Severed By Cable Car

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A 70-year-old attorney from Belvedere was reported in critical condition today at San Francisco General Hospital after he had part of his left arm severed by a cable car.

San Francisco police said Bryan Darwin of 4 Lagoon Drive apparently lost his balance and fell off the cable car at Powell and Bush streets about 4 p.m. yesterday.

The vehicle's wheels severed the arm just above the elbow, police said.

The hospital reported that Darwin also suffered a broken hip and head and chest injuries in the fall.

JOHN J. ANTHONY

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Radio personality John J. Anthony, better known as the advice-giving "Mr. Anthony," died Thursday at the Sheraton Palace Hotel. He was 68.

Cause of death was believed to have been a heart attack.

Since his retirement from radio, Anthony had been living in Los Angeles. But he had been in San Francisco in recent days to fill in for Ira Blue on his KGO radio talk show.

Anthony's advice to the troubled was a favorite national radio show for more than 20 years.

His clients' opening: "I have a problem, Mr. Anthony," and Anthony's frequent plea, "Please don't touch the microphone," became national slogans.

He is survived by his widow and a son in Los Angeles.

DECRIES 'NEGATIVISM'

Walton Claims Press Hindered Job At King

Sidney F. Walton Jr. yesterday blamed the press for many of the problems he encountered during his year as principal in the Sausalito School District.

"I think the press. . .was the catalyst for negativism in the district," Walton told a farewell press conference in the Oakland Black Caucus office. He said negative articles about him and his role in Sausalito "engendered a lot of fear. . .people can't get ready for an honest black man."

It was Walton's second press conference in Oakland since his appointment last July as principal of Sausalito's Martin Luther King School. During his stay in Sausalito, the fiery educator consistently refused to meet with members of the press who sought to present his point of view to the public. Yesterday, too, he fielded and evaded many questions from reporters.

DENIES 'COP OUT'

The controversial principal accused reporters of "trying to stir up problems while we were trying to provide positive education for youngsters and teach them all facets of our society." He said the press hurt his cause by saying "very little about the positive gains" he made.

Walton denied he had "copped out" by agreeing to leave the Sausalito school system without a fight in exchange for an $8,000 settlement (about half his yearly salary). The current school board, which upheld Walton's May 4 firing by the former school board, agreed to the settlement Monday.

Walton said he decided to leave quietly "because I felt any further struggle would be costly and lengthly and would contribute further to the divisiveness in the school district."

He added: "I am hoping the fact I have left will give people a chance to coalesce together on some humanistic level and to reconstitute their efforts to resolve their problems."

Speaking from his own experiences in Sausalito, the principal said a black educator should avoid three pitfalls which can lead to his downfall. "He should guard against pseudo-white liberals and the efforts of the white establishment to divide and conquer the black community." and "He should guard against any attempt to keep him away from outspoken elements in the black community who are concerned about education."

Walton said he came to Sausalito with a product — education for humanization and social responsiblity.

He charged that, during his tenure in the district, he was "denied my basic human right to be left alone to do a job in a professional manner," but stressed he was not bitter or angry about his experience in Sausalito.

NO PRIVATE SCHOOL

Walton said he had given up the idea of privately-funded freedom schools for the children of Marin City, a proposal he made after his firing, "because people in the community expressed a desire to leave their children in the Sausalito system."

He indicated he has no plans to go to Marin City and discuss his reasons for leaving with his supporters. "That is the purpose of this press conference," he said.

The principal declined to be specific about his future plans, but said he has had job offers from several school districts in and out of California. He refused to name the district. He also said he is thinking about going to law school, but has made no firm decision. "I'm in a position of flux right now," he explained.

'RACIAL TIGER CAGE'

Walton's attorney John George ended the press conference by calling Marin City "a racial tiger cage. Sid Walton went to Marin City to see what makes the caged bird sing," George said.

"His present plans may be up in the air," the attorney continued, "but he's a real rip-snorter; you're going to hear from him; he'll make his mark."

Juanita On Probation In Tax Dispute

Juanita Musson, former owner of Juanita's Galley in Sausalito, was placed on one year of probation yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court for failure to pay unemployment and disability taxes.

Charges of failing to make withholding deductions and misuse of payroll deductions were dismissed after Mrs. Musson, owner of Juanita's at Fetters Hot Springs, pleaded guilty to the other charge.

The complaint had been brought by the Department of Human Resources, charging her with violations of the employment insurance code.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Musson had pleaded guilty in Central Sonoma Municipal Court to a charge of ignoring a court order to appear May 28 before a deputy labor commissioner concerning a disputed wage claim.

Judge A. F. Scheidecker placed her on summary probation for three months and suspended a fine of $50.

Oakland Boycott Of Museum Ends

OAKLAND (UPI) — Oakland's Black Caucus has ended its boycott of the new Oakland museum after the appointment of a black art expert to a curator's post.

Benjamin Hazard, 30, former University of Nevada art professor, will take over immediately as curator of special exhibits and education. Three other curators are yet to be named.

The Black Caucus had maintained its boycott of the impressive $3 million museum on grounds that the board did not fairly represent minority communities.

Three Nabbed On Suspicion Of Burglary

Two San Anselmans and a Fairfax man were booked into Marin County Jail today on suspicion of burglarizing a San Rafael department store, San Rafael police reported.

A patrolman investigating an alarm at 12:37 a.m. today at Disco Wonderworld, 555 Francisco Boulevard, said he found Michael Thomas Trumble, 20, of 1361 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, browsing through the cameras. Albert Buck Nutter, 22, of 225 Olema Drive, Fairfax, emerged from another part of the store, police reported.

Richard Louis Mandler, 20, of 24 Ross Avenue, San Anselmo, reported seen in the area with the two, was arrested later by San Anselmo police.

The store was entered by removing part of the metal roof, police reported, and merchandise valued at $1,281 had been gathered in a sleeping bag and in a pile located in the toy department. Camping and stereo equipment and cameras were among the items removed from displays.

The three were held to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Marin's Recreation Programs For All Ages

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Marin County park and recreation departments, utilizing the county's generous environment, their cities' facilities and a great deal of imagination, have fashioned summer recreation programs which offer something for everyone —tony tots, school children, teen-agers, adults and senior citizens.

The various programs, which include all the normal summer bill of fare such as tennis, golf and swimming, reflect in their broad scope of activities the diversified interests of the people of Marin. Judo, yoga, dog training and folk guitar, subjects not usually classified with summer activities, are among the popular courses being offered by most cities.

The most extensive and complete schedule belongs to San Rafael, Marin's largest city. Using its many schools, playgrounds and parks, San Rafael provides instruction in activities ranging from weight training and badminton to Balkan dancing and cake decorating. The city's aquatic program is especially impressive, utilizing both the Terra Linda and San Rafael High School pools.

The summer program is conveniently oriented for every age group. Classifications for children include pre-school, elementary school, junior high and high school.

Perhaps the program most indicative of the personality of its community is the one at Mill Valley. Emphasis there is placed on cultural activities, and on what the park department terms, "Environmental Recreation." The latter includes art-ecology workshops and "Themes and variations in the natural world."

Some of the culture courses are primitive ceramics, creative writing and film making for children.

The most ambitious summer schedule for a city of its size is San Anselmo's. This year the city is sponsoring 22 youth excursions, within and outside the county, including two to Marine World in Redwood City and two each to Candlestick Park and the Oakland Coliseum for Giants and A's games.

Also being offered in San Anselmo are all the usual activities, plus some unique ones such as archery and astrology.

It is not surprising that the small city of Fairfax, nestled in the foothills of Mount Tamalpais has probably the best day camp setup in the county. The grounds of Deer Park school provide a perfect setting for the camp-outs and nature hikes that are part of the day camp program. And once during each of the three summer sessions there is an overnight camp-out at Devil's Gulch in Samuel P. Taylor State Park.

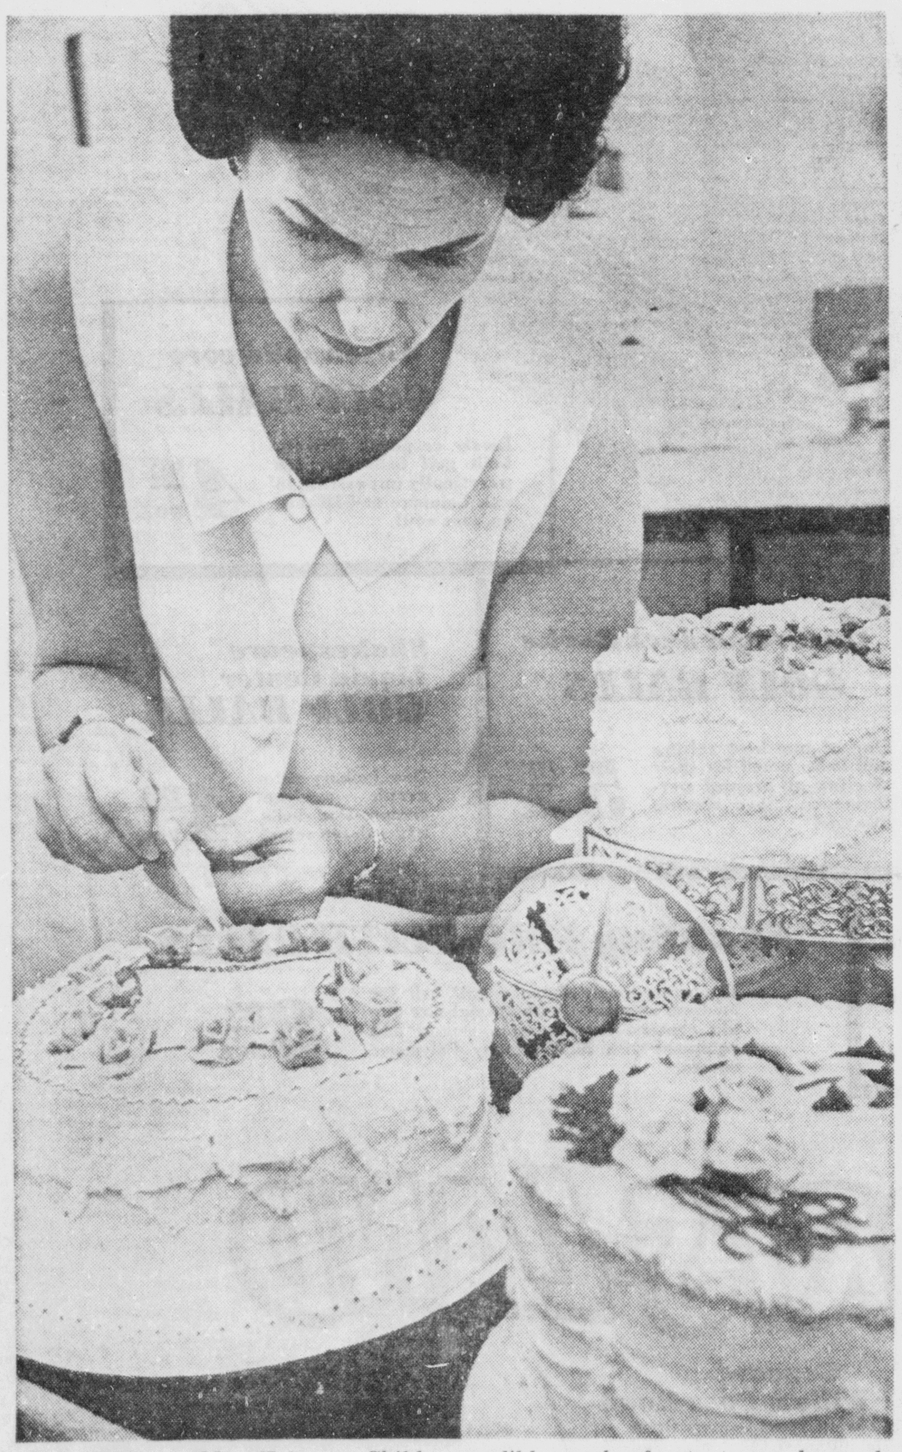
Fairfax is admirably unique concerning its drug abuse program, which is being offered as part of the summer schedule, for fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grade students and their parents.

The summer program in Novato, extremely well organized and complete, includes a unique club for teen-agers 13-18. The club, at Novato High School (1-5 and 7-10 p.m., Monday through Friday) features films and music concerts as well as athletic activities such as bowling and swimming.

Like San Rafael, Novato has an outstanding swimming program, held at the Novato High School pool.

Larkspur centers its program around its six playground areas, where a potpourri of activities is conducted. Included are basketball, softball, tumbling, knitting and folk dancing.

Larkspur's unique course is canoeing, offered in conjunction with the Marin chapter of the American Red Cross and the Marin Canoe Club. There are beginning and advanced classes with a trip for advanced students down the Russian River.



TOP THIS — Mrs. Talmage Childers puts the finishing touches on an edible work of art at an advanced cake decorating class in San Rafael.

TIRED FEET? — Adrian Taylor in an extremely restful yoga position.

OOF! — Someone always ends up on the ground. In this case it's Jeff Hamilton, victim of a grab and throw technique.

Teacher Has A Hit On Her Hands

By GEORGE NEVIN

Rita J. Abrams has to be the world's most unlikely hit singer.

The 26-year-old Mill Valley teacher, who just finished her first year of teaching a kindergarten class at Strawberry Point School, is astounded at the success of her song, "Mill Valley."

"I get calls from disc jockeys all over the country," the dark-haired Miss Abrams said as she sat in her sunny apartment, alternately stroking a psaltry, a string instrument mentioned in the Old Testament, and her two kittens, Crunchy and Granola.

Prone to easy laughter and insightful comments on her song's success, she is sure of one thing: "I want this to develop into more than a one-shot venture."

But, she said, "I don't want it to be the typical show-business run, but to keep on being just as personal and meaningful as it has been so far.".

The soft strains of "Mill Valley" seem to be a universal solvent into which everyone from ultra-straight to ultra-hippie can dissolve, she said.

The song has cut across all barriers and touched almost everyone who has heard it. When Miss Abrams and the third grade class at the school performed at Mill Valley's fourth of July celebration, it turned into a sing — along, with longhairs joining retirees in singing, "Mill Valley, That's My Home."

How did this simple song come about, this tune that has drawn comment from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., to Canada, and made its young author-singer-composer the object of a string of newspaper and magazine articles?

"I was walking in Mill Valley on Christmas Day, enjoying the town and feeling how different it was from the East," she said. "I just decided to write a simple song that my class could sing. I finished it that night,"

She taught it to her kindergarteners when school began after the holiday, and they sang it for weeks without anyone being the wiser.

Then fate intervened. "I was talking to Erik Jacobson, a music producer, and I mentioned that I had written a song for my class. He was interested in recording children's voices, so I dragged him over to my apartment to hear a tape of the kids."

Jacobson liked what he heard, and so did a group of executives at Reprise Records, who met at a promotional meeting in Los Angeles — they stood up and applauded.

Miss Abrams was too much a veteran musician to think the battle was won, however. With 10 years of classical piano and a stint in an all-girl rock band behind her, she knew that a lot could happen to a song between writing and recording.

"I've had disappointments before. I almost had a song recorded when I was in the band in Boston," she said, chuckling at the unintentional pun, "and so I knew better than to get my hopes up."

But this time she was working with professionals, and Miss Abrams found that made a difference.

A chorus of third-graders was substituted for the kindergarten class because the older voices are more mature and even, and on April 15 she accompanied 26 students to a San Francisco recording studio.

Miss Abrams still is dizzy from what has followed. The record is fifth on the chart at KFRC, a top-40 station. It's played on underground KSAN and easy-listening KSFO, where someone said, "It's the freshest thing that's happened to us in years."

UNLIKELY STAR — The singer-composer of "Mill Valley," 26-year-old Rita Abrams, says, "People are surprised when they meet me because I'm not the stereotype of a teacher — but then, I'm not the stereotype of a singer, either." (Independent-Journal photo)

A disc jockey calls her from Niagara Falls frequently, and a Canadian announcer said, "Everyone has a Mill Valley in his heart."

"So far, I haven't been in Look or Life, and Ed Sullivan hasn't called but that's about all," she said.

Although "Mill Valley" seems to be quite a hit, the financial return may be small indeed. Miss Abrams earns 8 cents a record, and 25,000 records have been sold, 9,800 of them in the Bay Area.

These sales will mean $2,000 for Miss Abrams, but production costs of $3,000 must be paid first. "If there are any substantial royalties left over, I'll give some to the kids, either individually or as a gift to the school," Miss Abrams said.

Miss Abrams hopes a music career will follow the success of "Mill Valley." "I'm not teaching at Strawberry next year," she said. "I feel I have to get away from school to refresh myself." She hopes to participate in a special music program with the Mill Valley School district in the fall.

And, above all, she hopes to be able to stay in Mill Valley no matter what her future holds. A look at the last verse of her song shows why:

"I know that there may come a time I have to leave
Mill Valley,
And every memory will seem like make believe,
And all the good things that
are mine right now
Will call to me and ask me how
I could have left them all behind
How could I leave Mill Valley?"

College Acts To Hasten Flood Control Project

Marin Junior College District trustees last night approved a general fund publication budget of $1,658,323 expected to bring a slight dip in the tax rate.

Business Mgr. Norman D. Bird estimated the tax rate would be about 90 cents per $100 assessed valuation, compared to last year's rate of 93 cents.

The proposed budget is $361,472 higher than the 1969-70 expenses.

The general fund budget doesn't cover the district's building budget of $6,534,598, compared to $5,789,740 last year, but bolstered by $3,333,018 in funds left over from last year.

The district's tax rate is limited to 35 cents for the general fund and 35 cents for the building fund with the remainder of the total rate in override taxes.

On planning for a north campus at Novato approved procedures recommended by Supt. President John A. Grasham which included reactivating a citizens' advisory committee.

The Marin Junior College District Board Also:

NURSING COORDINATOR — Hired Lyla M. Cromer, a nursing teacher at the University of California campus in San Francisco, as coordinator of the registered nursing program at $15,624 a year, including 20 working days beyond the normal school year, to succeed Shirley Conklin who resigned. Miss Cromer, who has a master's degree from the University of California School of Nursing, taught four years at San Francisco State College and was a public health nurse in the Los Angeles area for two years.

PUMPING STATION — Passed a resolution of intention to convey to Ross Valley Sanitary District a 14-acre piece of college property in the "oxbow" bend of Corte Madera Creek for $2,750. The site is to be used for a pumping station in an area designated as an "ecology center."

PARKING — Approved additional parking projects, a gravel lot in the physical education area near Tamalpais Creek, 173 spaces at a cost of $10,000, and a paved lot for 25 cars at 139 Kent Avenue at a cost of $18,000.

SCIENCE CENTER — Agreed to a special session sometime this month, date not set, to review the proposed list of equipment for the new Science Center, estimated to cost $381,041, with the state scheduled to provide $175,675. The list was up for approval but Trustee Harry J. Moore questioned "refurbishing everything". He said the extent of the expenditure required "in-depth study." Cuts of 20 to 25 per cent could be made, he said.

HEALTH FEES — Approved payment of the increase in the cost of group health plans for employees, estimated at $15,339, with the cost to be paid from the override tax levied for health and welfare.

ASCOM BUDGET — Approved a $30,300 budget for Associated Students during 1970-71 with a provision that the board be notified of any changes in the budget during the year. The district will put up $22,790, which is scheduled to be reimbursed from book store profits.

MINOR PROJECTS — Approved minor capital outlay projects for 1970-71 estimated to cost $29,730.

SAN QUENTIN — Approved renewal of its agreement with the state Department of Corrections to provide an instructional program at San Quentin Prison at no cost to the district for 1970-71.

POLICY — Approved a revised adult education policy which provides that adult education instructors have access to instructional materials owned by the college upon request.

MEETING SCHEDULE — Adjourned until 8 p.m. Monday at the Testing Center for a special session on computers, with a special session on a bond and possible tax rate election Nov. 3 scheduled at the Testing Center at 8 p.m. Wednesday. The next regularly scheduled board meeting and public hearing on the proposed 1970-71 budget will be at 8 p.m. Aug. 6 at Olney Hall. Trustees canceled the regularly scheduled meeting of Aug. 20.

CLERK — Hired Genevieve Underwood as accounts payable clerk at a salary of $590 a month.

COMPUTER PROJECT — Authorized submission of a proposal to the National Science Foundation to participate in a computer project at Stanford University sponsored by the foundation at a cost of $1,260 to the district.

CLOSED SESSION — Recessed to a closed session to hear charges against an employee.

College Publication Budget Approved; Tax Dip Expected

Marin Junior College District trustees last night called for a speedup on the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control project on the College of Marin campus after reports the job is behind schedule.

With memory of last year's destructive flooding, trustees feared a repeat disaster if the work is not completed before fall storms.

Under construction is Phase 3A-1 of the creek project, from College Avenue, upstream through Granton Park, scheduled for completion Oct. 29.

Trustees sent a letter to the contractor, J.B. and C. Construction Co. of Scottsdale, Ariz., urging every effort to expedite construction to meet the completion date.

Supt. John A. Grasham said the contractor was considerably behind his own schedule, and the lag would be difficult to make up in the remaining time.

Planning Director Dale A. Fleming said there was "a serious question" that the job could be completed on time, pointing out that the creek has not yet been dried up and excavation is minimal.

Trustees wrote they "were gravely concerned that more progress has not been made."

They notified the contractor that for many years winter floods have been destructive on the campus, and "during storms last December and January the rush of water through the natural creek bed was so intense that it eroded away approximately one-third acre of college property and ripped out 30 trees."

Fleming reported that the Army Corps of Engineers, in charge of the project, is aware that the job is behind schedule and is pressing the contractor.

J. B. and C. Construction Co. began work on June 22, and Fleming said concrete pouring was supposed to start last Friday. He reported that the contractor has had men working extra hours and on weekends.

Murderer Again Sentenced To Gas Chamber

OAKLAND (UPI) — A second California death sentence has been handed Chester A. Johnson.

Johnson, 22, was sentenced to the San Quentin gas chamber Thursday for the slaying of Oakland dentist Dr. Glen Olsen in February of last year.

Johnson was earlier given the same sentence by a Los Angeles County Superior Court for the murder of Loren Silliphant, son of Hollywood writer-producer Stirling Silliphant, a week before the Oakland killing.

Johnson's co-defendant in the Olsen slaying, Terry Jean Phelps, 19, was sentenced to life imprisonment last week.

Miss Phelps and Johnson were arrested in Muskegon, Mich., their hometown.

The deepest oil well drilled in Texas to Jan. 1, 1969—25,340 feet—was a dry hole.

Parking Meter Cheats, Businessman Claims

A San Rafael businessman, suspicious that some Fourth Street parking meters were short-changing motorists, has put one of the machines through a test. It failed, and he says the ticket he got as the result of his experiment proves it.

Emerson Yates, owner of Contractors Engineering and Administrative Services at 110 Belvedere Street, has complained to the city and it, appears he may get results.

Yates, in a letter to San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini, says that on Tuesday morning he deposited a contribution in the meter at the corner of Fourth and B streets getting 48 minutes time. He returned 45 minutes later thinking he had three minutes to spare, only to find red flag flying, a ticket decorating his windshield and a meter maid motoring away.

"If it weren't the second time within a week, at two different meters, I'd be inclined to treat the situation lightly," his letter began. It ended by saying the fine would be paid, but "under vigorous protest."

"I'm convinced that at least some of the meters on Fourth Street are now shorting the parkers by as much as ten per cent on the parking time paid for, and that potential Fourth Street customers are being put to additional penalty to boot," he wrote.

City Mgr. James H. McCown said today he felt Yates has a valid complaint. "I intend to do two things," he told the Independent-Journal. "See that the meter is fixed and do everything I can to have his fine refunded.

McCown agreed that some meters do not accurately reflect time and blamed youths who hit the meters with their hands with damaging a tiny spring in the timing device.

He added the city has two men constantly checking and repairing the meters.

"This is the first complaint we've had in months, but if they continue, I'm going to look into the matter more deeply."

He commented that he had no ready solution to the problem, concluding that other residents who experience a similar situation should notify the city.

COAL INVADES THE NORTHWEST

The Pacific Northwest, long the bastion of hydroelectric power, soon will have its first coal-fired thermoelectric plant on the line. The 1.4 million kilowatt plant will supply the energy needs of a city the size of Portland. It's being built at Centralia, Wash., by a group of companies and utility agencies, at a cost of $200 million and is to start operating in September 1971. (UPI Telephoto)

Actual net was $24.92 million against $24.16 million last year. Sales, exclusive of those from overseas operations, were down to $184.9 million from $192.72 million a year ago.

Stock Market Rises Again, Trade Volume Jumps Today

NEW YORK (UPI) — A vigorous stock market advance swung into the final hour today, with volume running almost two million shares ahead of the previous session.

The UPI market indicator, measuring all stocks traded, posted a gain of 1.52 per cent on 1,544 issues crossing the tape. Advances battered declines by more than three-to-one, 1,012 to 291 to 291.

The Dow Jones Industrial average of 30 selected blue chip companies climbed about 9 1/2 points to 732.82.

A four-hour turnover of 10,760,000 shares was up from 9,080,000 shares which changed hands during a comparable period Thursday.

Analysts attributed optimism to a variety of reasons, including a smart step-up in volume in an advancing market, belief that institutions are finally beginning to show some real appetite for stocks, and better-than-expected June quarter corporate earnings which raised hopes that the economic slowdown was not so bad as had been feared.

On analyst said the ingredient needed for a strong market recovery was a more active participation by institutional investors, and he noted that they now appeared to be making their move.

Large block trading, which showed a marked pickup earlier in the week, continued to account for a good portion of today's activity. Such trading is normally regarded as a sign of institutional participation.

Tiburon Panel Trims, Adds To Outlay

A committee of the Tiburon City Council made minor deletions and additions to the city's operations and capital improvements budgets last night as it prepared the 1970-71 budget for presentation to the full council.

City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose said he has not yet "totaled up the pluses and minuses" but not more than $1,500 would be added to or subtracted from the city's $683,160 budget as a result of the changes.

At prior meetings the finance and administration committee had deleted about $28,000 from the budget, including $6,000 in salary increases, $9,000 as a subsidy to Marin Transit Systems, the operator of feeder bus service to the Tiburon ferry, and $5,000 for radio equipment for the city's public works fleet.

Rose said committeemen Denis T. Rice and Albert H. Sennett refused a request by two parks and recreation commissioners to add $34,000 for parkland acquisition.

George Ellman and F. G. Knight asked for the funds, but Rice and Sennett, although sympathetic to their request, said that such an addition should come from another member of the council, Rose said.

The committee also decided to recommend that the council not speed up payments on capital improvement equipment. Rose had requested the acceleration to cut the size of interest pay. ments.

The only segment of the budget yet to be examined by a committee is the streets budget, which will be considreed by the public services committee, comprised of Sennett and Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood.

Rose said that any major cuts will have to come from this budget. About $141,000 is involved, but $116,000 of this is for gasoline tax projects, which don't affect the property tax rate, so the committee probably will give close study only to some $25,000 in betterment projects to be paid for through the general fund, Rose said.

The city council will consider granting city employees a 5 per cent pay hike, as recommended by the finance committee, when it meets July 27 at 8 p.m. at city hall.

New Sewer Plans Add To Cotati City Budget

A proposed 1970-71 budget of $486,052, including a 5 per cent raise for employees, was presented last night to the Cotati City Council.

The overall budget represented an increase of $166,069 over the 1969-70 budget of $289,983, reflecting plans for a major overhaul of the sewage system.

Taxpayers in sections of the city not served by sewers would see a tax rate increase from $1 per $100 assessed valuation to 1.25. Sections linked to sewers would continue to pay $1.25 per $100 assessed valuation.

Budget appropriations by department (with last year's figure in parenthesis) included: city council, $2,350 (none last year); city manager-clerk, $24,537 ($24,232); city treasurer, $5,100 ($4,400); city attorney, $5,600 ($4,600); planning, $28,306 (6,436).

Governmental buildings, $3,256 ($2,000); non-departmental, $51,453 ($24,094); police, $51,062 ($29,901); building regulations, $1,325 ($1,600); engineering, streets, $14,700 ($7,500); public works, streets, $57,424 ($39,914); water department, $24,635 ($47,638); sewer department, $132,619 ($37,006); parks and recreation, $3,680 ($4,170); street lighting, $3,000 ($3,500); select street system, $67,012 ($52,994).

A special session to review the budget was set for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Cotati fire hall.

Cotati May Acquire School As Its First Full City Hall

The Cotati City Council last night agreed to consider purchase of the Cotati School for a new city hall, to replace outgrown, rented city offices.

In passing a resolution of intent to purchase the building, the council appointed city Mgr. Paul W. Salfen to begin negotiations on price with the Cotati School District.

Part of the school was abandoned by the district when it failed to meet minimum earthquake standards; other classrooms had been plagued by roof leaks.

Salfen said he felt the large school could be renovated more economically than constructing a new building.

Previously, the council had considered a new city hall adjacent to the Cotati Veteran's Memorial Building on Old Redwood Highway.

The Cotati City Council also:

SEWERS — Awarded the contract for new sewer lines and an interconnection with the Rohnert Park sewage disposal plant to Gem Construction Co. of Oakland with a low bid of $80,903.

GENERAL PLAN — Approved agreements with the state, county and Harman D. Ruth Associates of Berkeley for the development of a Cotati master plan.

SUBDIVISION — Approved the request of Margaret Illias for a minor subdivision of property at Maple Avenue and School Street.

Arraignment Set For Pot Suspect In Robbery Case

Roy Morgan Jr., 22, of 19 Park Circle, Marin City, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on suspicion of possession of marijuana July 15 and ordered to appear today with counsel.

Morgan was to be arraigned today on a charge of robbery, in connection with a July 11 hold-up in Mill Valley.

Paul Robert Reynolds, 21, no known address, pleaded innocent yesterday to the robbery charge and Judge Peter Allen Smith denied motions to reduce bail or release him on his own recognizance. Preliminary hearing for Reynolds was set for 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

Another suspect is still sought in the case, according to police.

Stolen Boat Found With Oars Missing

A 10-foot boat was stolen Monday night from the rear of 55 Summit Drive, San Rafael, and recovered at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday near 269 Third Street, San Rafael police reported.

The boat, property of C. John Bernt, 55 Summit Drive, was missing only the oars when recovered, police reported.

Emporium Division Manager Suspect Of Embezzling

A division sales manager for the Emporium at Northgate Shopping Center has been arrested on suspicion of embezzling an estimated sum of $7,000 over the last three years.

Arthur E. Johnson, 30, of 1041 Eighth Street, Novato, turned himself in Wednesday to store security men during an investigation of refund slips suspected to be forged, San Rafael police reported.

He was booked into Marin county Jail on suspicion of grand theft and forgery after a citizen's arrest by the store's security chief.

Johnson was freed on $3,750 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Gallinas Officials Vote New Budget

A budget of $37,750 was adopted last night by the Gallinas Village Community Services District board.

Marguerite F. Clark, board secretary, said the budget represents an increase of $7,638 over 1969-70. The tax rate of $1 per $100 assessed valuation will remain the same.

A $10,000 sum was earmarked for capital outlay for reserve funds for the development of the new Adrian-Rosal Park.

Other allocations include: salaries, $8,180; park maintenance, $7,650; senior citizens, $1,200; recreation supplies, $2,000; office supplies, $1,600; recreation center rental, $4,020; utilities, $2,400, and insurance, $700.

Turban Warning: Very Flammable

Women shopping for turbans to keep their hair in place should beware of one such product, the Federal Trade Commission warns.

"Lu Wane magic turban" manufactured by the Lu Wane Products Company of Wayne, N.J., is dangerously flammable, according to the FTC.

The $1.50 item, which may be white, pink, blue or purple, comes in cartons picturing a woman wearing the turban on the front and instructions and illustrations on the rear, the commission said.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

The Fondue Pot Offers Unusual Menu, International Atmosphere

If you are fascinated by an unusual menu, the place for you to try is The Fondue Pot, in the Paradise Shopping Center, Corte Madera.

This place, opened only a little over four months ago by Don Fandre and York Fischer, gives out a certain German atmosphere by reason of German sausages and pumpernickel on the menu and its plentiful stocks of imported beers and long-necked bottles of German white wines — but it's more international than that. The swiss take some credit for fondue — and it seems the Chinese do likewise. Quiche is undniably French, but one salad here is Greek and the other seems Slavic, quasi Asiatic.

If you are diet minded, stay off the cheese fondue and order the beef, prawns or swordfish to deep fry in a fondue to your own taste. If there are several of you, order one or more of each for variety. They make good choices even if you are not on a diet. If you positively need extra calories you'll find them in a chocolate fondue for dessert.

The food is good. How it tastes depends on your own skill in preparing it at the table.

If the menu is fascinating, so is the decor. Knives, forks, condiments and other table accessories are cached on the wall - or suspended from the ceiling if your table is in the middle of the room. Adding to the overall scheme are certain decorative items for sale such as paintings, pottery, handwork, pots, pans, utensils and salt and pepper mills.

You're likely to find the Fondue Pot more popular than you anticipated. Unlike some unusual places that are good for one, maybe two trips, spaced far apart — you could get carried away and return here quite often.

SAN RAFAEL JOE'S gets feature mention and a photograph in this month's issue of Hospitality, a national restaurant trade magazine, for its noonhour broadcasts over radio KTIM with Tugh Turner at the microphone Al Gehi at the Baldwin organ.

A NEW RESTAURANT in Petaluma that opened over the Fourth of July weeekend and has so far played to a couple of packed houses.

This is the Cattleman's Restaurant at 5012 Petaluma Boulevard North. Possibly one reason for its initial popularity is its exposure to 101 Highway traffic. The location is the original site of Sonoma Joe's and in fact it is almost directly across the highway from the old Joe's bar. Cattleman's is a steak house, serving only dinners, with a seating capacity of 320.

It is owned by the Twin Falls Cattle Feeding Co. of Idaho and is the second Cattleman's Restaurant of this organization — the other being at Redondo Beach in Southern California. Co-owner Pete Gillham of Twin Falls Cattle Feeding is managing the restaurant.

Cattleman's ages its own meat and certainly is in a position to know and supply good beef witth this background. The staff was trained at the Redondo Beach restaurant.

Steak dinners run from $3.25 to $4.95 and are served seven days a week from 5 p.m. Take the Penngrove cut-off from Highway 101.

YOUNG LOUIS PEPPRAS, who was chef at Bob's of Marin at the time it reverted to the Compton Corp. and was changed back to the Edgewater Inn Restaurant, has taken over the complete food operation at Taberna in San Rafael. He had done some work here previously.

He's now preparing lunches from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. and dinners from 7 to 10 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays. Sunday food service is confined to spaghetti feeds.

Lou also does catering of parties — both at Taberna and if helw elsewhere.

OUT AT STINSON BEACH, the San Dollar has added Thursday to its open days (service is now Thursdays through Sundays). This schedule will continue through Labor Day.

Newly added to the menu are a captain's platter and filet of sole marsala. And on Friday's there's usually an extra seafood item, making four with the lobster.

SENIOR ALFREDO'S MEXICAN RESTAURANT in San Anselmo has won an award from the National Restaurant Association for its menu and this will be on display at the association's western convention in San Francisco during September.

Now handling the food department at Alfredo's in Gonzalo Canto of San Anselmo, formerly of El Sombrero in San Francisco. He was at both restaurants — the one on Geary Street and at the Cannery.

NEW PAINTINGS on display at ernard's Executive Lounge in San Rafael are those of Angela of Terra Linda.

There is a new lunch menu at Bernard's — expanded to include about 10 more items. Dinners are still served from 6 p.m.

STARTING NEXT WEEK, the Crocker Galleries at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael is featuring the Naif painters of Europe. These painters have in common their lack of training. They are farmers, sailors or housewives first, and artists second.

Marin Dining And Wining

having their art on display at Dominic's are Andre Demonchy, Cecile Favier, Marcel Favre and Daniel Ferrara.

MCKEE'S in San Rafael is sparkling again after interior repainting. Nightly $1.75 dinner specials are still the big favorites here.

ARTIST STEVE ELVIN, who has just completed a ceiling mural in oils at the Trident in Suasalito, is preparing to take on another commission from Mike Considine at the Lion's Share in San Anselmo. And in the course of all this he has decided to move his studio from Pacific Grove to San Rafael.

FOLLOWING UP HIS SUCCESS with Sunday "family nights" and chicken and dumplings at Bill and Adolph's West End Villa, San Rafael, Bill Bisson has decided to match it with another special night on Wednesdays, with champagne for all the ladies.

CURRENTLY ON DISPLAY at Eugene's Country Club Restaurant in San Rafael are the works of San Rafael painter Jean Vaccaro, who I understand took some honors at the recent Marin-Sonoma Fair in Petaluma.

Eugene's is open seven days a week from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. A favorite on the $1.35 lunch is beef Burgundy—and to that you might add the hot turkey sandwiches. Next Sunday during the Elks Women's Auxiliary fleamart in the Country Club Bowl parking lot, Eugene's will serve a special $1.25 breakfast and also a $1.25 lunch.

ACCORDING TO MANAGER ROBERT WINEGARNER of the new McDonald's just opened on the San Rafael Miracle Mile, this place has a capacity to provide some 1,800 sandwiches per hour, plus the French fries and milkshakes to go with them.

McDonald's gained its popularity by featuring a moderately priced, limited menu built around hamburgers and assembly line techniques. Although it is classified as a drive-in, car hops and tipping are eliminated, and because of a large family clientele no juke boxes, public phones or cigarette machines are permitted.

Robbery Suspect Is Due In Court

A 22-year-old Terra iLnda man was held to appear in Marin Municipal Court today on suspicion of robbery after he allegedly threw a Mill Valley tavern owner to the floor yesterday and stole $7.

Police said Arthur Vette Hatter, of 1049 Las Gallinas Avenue, entered Quinn's Tavern, at 2 Corte Madera Avenue, yesterday at 9:45 p.m. and demanded a drink.

When the owner, James F. Quinn, told him that the bar was closed, police said Hatter threw Quinn to the floor, grabbed $7 that was lying on the bar, and fled. He was arrested moments later at the bus depot, officers said.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The National Automobile Club advises that of the 108,500,000 drivers in the United States in 1969, 59 per cent were males and 41 per cent females.

Land Board Decides Tax Break Shouldn't Go To Small Holdings

Most Marin land holdings of less than 100 acres should not be getting the agricultural tax break, the Marin Land Conservation Advisory Board decided yesterday.

Chairman Boyd Stewart and five board members yesterday pored over a list of 45 parcels of less than 100 acres and decided that 38 should be deleted because they are not bona fide agricultural land. To determine bona fide agricultural land, the advisory board used this yardstick: Is the agricultural operation on the land capable of providing a livelihood for the owner or owners?

Only seven of the smaller (less than 100 acres) parcels met that criteria and should be retained under agricultural preserve contract, the board decided. The remaining 38 should get notices of nonrenewal of contract.

The seven designated as bona fide agricultural are:

1. Eugene C. Brown's 96-acre sheep and chicken ranch on Fallon Road near Sonoma County.
2. Herbert E. Burbank's 96.80 acres of grazing land on the Sonoma County line. This property is adjacent to another 300 acres in Sonoma County which is also under agricultural preserve contract.
3. George Flanders' 6.47 acres in Lagunitas. Mrs. Flanders owns half interest in surrounding property of 444 acres, which are also under contract.
4. Irvin M. Jensen's 60 acres on Tomales-Dillon Beach Road.
5. Alexander Pomi's 8-.80 acres on Red Hill Road near Petaluma.
6. Mable G. Sonnichsen's 78.08 acres on Chileno Valley Road.
7. Earl J. Dolcini's 27.80 acres on Wilson Hill Road near Petaluma.

Chairman Stewart emphasized that these are only recommendations, and the final decision must come from the Marin County Board of Supervisors. The land conservation advisory board will meet one or two more times before gathering all its recommendations and turning them over to the county supervisors. Next meeting of the advisory board is 9 a.m. on July 30 in the civic center.

The aim of the advisory board is to make sure that nonagricultural land is not put under agricultural preserve contract as a tax dodge.

Of Marin's total land area of 333,440 acres, the total acreage designated as agricultural preserve area is 213,264 acres. These would all qualify for reduced taxes, but most owners have not signed contracts to get the tax reduction. Contracts have been signed for only 92,500 acres.

The land conservation advisory board will recommend that (1) the agricultural preserve area will be limited to the 92,500 acres already under contract, and (2) even within the 92,500 acres, the 38 smaller parcels sifted out yesterday be taken out of the preserve contract.

Suspect Charged With Indecency

A 25-year-old San Francisco man was arrested by California Highway Patrol officers yesterday as he walked along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Lagunitas clad only in a coat.

Kenneth Vernon Ross was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of indecent exposure, battery and resisting an officer and held in lieu of $6,250 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Officers said they tried to arrest him after they saw him walking in front of a group of people at 5:20 p.m. A brief scuffle ensued, during which Ross threw a punch at the arresting officer, the patrol said.

Official Nod For Landfill Near Cotati

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA—General plans for a large sanitary landfill near Rohnert Park and Cotati were approved yesterday by the Sonoma County Planning Commission.

Representatives of the department of public works and planning staff recommended two sites. The commission gave approval to both possible locations, but preference to 395 acres on Stony Point Road, between Gravenstein Highway and Roblar Road.

The other site, 190 acres, is located on Hamlin Road near Meacham Road. Both sites are west of Cotati and Rohnert Park.

Staff members told the commission that the landfill areas should be large enough to serve the central Sonoma area for 30 years and be able to handle 98 per cent of solid wastes when burning is banned.

The commission also approved a one-year study zone 1.5 miles south of Cotati on both sides of Old Redwood Highway, Minnesota, Rose and Penngrove avenues.

Bald Tires, Bad Road Hints In Probe Of Bus Fatalities

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (UPI)—A federal hearing was ordered today to determine what caused a chartered bus to skid off rain-slicked Interstate 78 Wednesday, killing seven school children and injuring 52 persons.

John H. Reed, chairman of the National Transportation and Safety Board, who is investigating the accident, said he will schedule a hearing within 4 to 6 weeks to obtain "eyewitness" testimony.

Reed said the S-shaped portion of the highway where the busk skidded was "an accident-prone stretch of highway" and scene of three accidents within a week.

Lt. William J. Walker, commanding officer of regional state police barracks, disclosed Thursday that the rear tires of the bus were "bald" and investigators were attempting to learn if the vehicle was travelling at "excessive speed." Walker said the road had an "old concrete" surface which was less resistant to skids than newer pavement.

Two bald rear tires were impounded by state police as part of the investigation.

Reed said he was denied permission to talk to the hospitalized children. He said he would interview as many witnesses and children as he could in the next two or three days and a public hearing will be held "in the near future."

The windows in the bus, designed to pop out on impact, did not provide enough protection, Reed said. Many of the children were thrown out of the bus, some of them crushed under the wreckage. Reed also said the guardrails were "not of the most modern type."

In Harrisburg, the state capital, a transportation department spokesman said the section of the road was earmarked for improvement, but construction work was delayed due to lack of funds.

Walker said state and federal investigators would soon be able to determine the speed at which the bus was traveling by examining a "tachometer" device in the vehicle. The device measures speed and time of day, and records both on a graph.

Police said they hope to question the driver of the bus, Heiber Daye, who is hospitalized in critical condition. The bus was chartered from Academy Charter Co. of Bayonne, N.J., by a Hebrew day camp at Lawrence, N.Y., to carry the children on an overnight excursion to Pennsylvania Dutch country.

The investigation itself was described by state police as "the most intensive accident investigation we've had in this area."

The driver of the fatal bus has had at least eight previous accidents and his license should have been revoked, a state official said today in Trenton, N.J.

New Jersey Motor Vehicles Bureau Director Ronald Heyman said the traffic record of the bus driver, Hubert Daye, "clearly indicated that he should not have been granted permission to drive a commercial vehicle on state highways."

Nicasio Budget Rises; School Tax Decreases

A publication budget of $54,600 was approved by the Nicasio School District board last night, secretary Beverly Albirigi said today.

Although the figure is $3,100 above the 1969-70 budget, she said the general fund tax rate will be reduced by about 6 cents from last year's $1.065 because of an unexpectedly large reserve.

Last year's budget anticipated a carryover of $3,000, but the total came to $17,000 because of higher average daily attendance than expected which resulted in more state and county assistance than was anticipated, she said.

The board decided to use the windfall to cut the tax rate and add $4,500 to the tentative budget of $50,000 approved June 30, the secreatry said.

Added were $1,000 to buy land behind Nicasio School from the Marin Municipal District, another $1,000 to fill and fence it, $500 to instruction for a reading program and $2,000 to the reserve fund, she said.

Public hearing on the budget is set for Aug. 4 at 8 p.m. at Nicasio School.

25 years in the making.

We'd like to thank the makers of the other new economy cars for giving us such a nice head start.

It gave us time to develop an inspection system so ridiculously scrupulous that it expects every VW to pass 16,000 examinations.

It allowed us to find out (at a reasonably scientific pace) how we could double our horsepower without doubling the cost of your horsepower. (The VW still gets about 26 miles to the gallon and requests only a smidgen of oil.)

It permitted us to work on things that didn't even have to do with the actual making of the car. Medi-car, the VW Diagnosis System, for example. Electronic equipment that can spot trouble in a car before it gets to be trouble. When you buy a new VW, you get 4 free Medi-car checkups.

Of course, it took great fortitude to resist squandering our time on phony styling improvements..

The beetle looks just as good (or bad) as it did 25 years ago.

Yes, The I-J Goofed— How About City Council?

Tiburon's city administration caught the Independent-Journal this week in a tender spot.

The I-J goofed, crowed City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose, City Atty. Robert I. Conn, and city councilmen, on (of all things!) the Ralph M. Brown act.

The I-J had reported that a series of secret meetings of a council committee to discuss the proposed city budget had violated the Brown Act, which requires that meetings of public bodies be open and announced.

ATTORNEY CONN read to the council a sentence in Section 54952.3 of the California Government Code — part of the chapter known as the Brown Act — which exempts from the open, announced meeting requirement "a committee composed solely of members of the governing body of a local agency which are less than a quorum of such governing body."

The secret sessions had been held by the finance and administration committee, composed of Mayor Denis T. Rice and Councilman Albert H. Sennett — two out of five council members; therefore not a quorum.

The councilmen had a good deal of fun at the I-J's expense. Well they might. The I-J is rarely caught in error on the Brown Act.

BUT LET'S CONSIDER what happened.

Late in June, City Manager Rose submitted a budget calling for outlay of $711,160, up approximately 25 per cent from last year's budget. It was announced the finance and administration committee would review it before consideration by the full council this month.

The I-J inquired from time to time as to when the committee meetings on this big outlay of public money would be held. Mayor Rice said he would let the paper know, and "of course they will be open to the public."

This week, the committee submitted the budget to the full council, disclosed the meetings had been held in secret, and crowed with delight because it was all legal.

MORE THAN A CENTURY ago, when Fernando Wood was mayor of New York and his board of aldermen was known as "the 40 Thieves," a man named Robert W. Lowber obtained a $196,000 judgment against that city for a plot of land it had taken by condemnation but for which he had not been paid. He demanded immediate payment.

Lowber presented his claim during a "dry period" before tax collections. The city did not have enough money to pay him and meet its payroll.

Mayor Wood sent runners to summon the board of aldermen to a special, unannounced meeting. At it, the board voted to sell the city hall to satisfy Lowber's judgment.

There was no trouble finding a buyer. Alderman Daniel F. Tiemann (who later became mayor) offered to buy the city hall for $50,000. His generous offer was promptly accepted. He then rented the hall to the city for conduct of its business.

When tax money came in, Tiemann sold the city hall back to the city — at a profit, of course.

NATURALLY, what had transpired eventually came to light. Naturally, there was some uproar. Mayor Wood, the aldermen and city attorney took high ground. Everything that had been done, they declaimed, was perfectly legal.

And so it was.

We are not comparing the Tiburon City Council with Mayor Fernando Wood and the 40 Thieves. We cite the famous New York City H211 transaction as evidence that, when it comes to deciding how to spend the people's money, members of a public body have a little higher obligation than just "being legal."

Court Choice Could Revive Old Scandal

By ROY McGHEE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If President Nixon picks one particular way to repay Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., for fighting two Senate confirmation battles for him, he could precipitate yet another of those battles.

Hruska built considerable credit at the White House by campaigning long, — hard — even though in losing causes— on behalf of Judges Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. and G. Harrold Carswell, Nixon's first two choices for a Supreme Court vacancy.

Now Hruska wants to draw on that credit by having the President name Donald R. Ross, an Omaha lawyer, to the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals vacancy created when Nixon's third choice, Judge Harry A. Blackmun, was elevated to the Supreme Court.

SELECTION of Ross could produce a post mortem of one of the scandals of the Eisenhower administration. And quiet word is going around Capitol corridors that Senate liberals could be expected to take up arms all over again if Nixon goes along with Hruska and his Nebraska colleague, GOP Sen. Carl T. Curtis.

There also could be political backlash against Hruska himself.

Ross, now a Nebraska GOP national committeeman, resigned as U.S. attorney in the middle of the aforementioned scandal, although he was described as a victim of circumstances in the matter.

THE 1956 UPROAR involved the lobbying efforts of one John M. Neff on behalf of Superior Oil Company, which wanted a helpful natural gas bill enacted. Neff, a Lexington, Neb., lawyer, sent Sen. Francis Case, R-S.D., (now deceased) an unsolicited $2,500 campaign contribution, which Case rejected. Case then made a speech about the offer and a Senate investigation followed.

The natural gas bill was subsequently enacted, but vetced by President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

DURING THE INQUIRY, Ross volunteered that Neff had asked him to intercede with Hruska and Curtis for the bill, also offering campaign contributions to the senators. He also disclosed that Neff had opened savings and loan accounts for the Ross children.

Ross testified he advised Neff against making the contributions and that he returned the savings account passbooks to Neff.

William P. Rogers, now secretary of state, was then deputy attorney general. Rose said Rogers told him his connections with Neff might reflect unfavorably on the Justice Department, and Ross resigned.

Subsequently, the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee found that Ross' "conduct in this matter is not reproachable and that he was merely the victim of an environment created by Mr. Neff."

THE COMMITTEE did, however, censure Neff, and the gas industry reverted to more circumspect lobbying.

Ross went on to a successful career as a corporation lawyer, but has kept his hand in Republican politics.

Frank B. Morrison, Democratic former governor of Nebraska and now a candidate for Hruska's Senate seat, has been telling Democratic senators that Ross' appointment is imminent. Morrison might gain from a public review of the old Republican scandal in any Ross confirmation hearings.

Democrats on the Judiciary Committee are not anxious to challenge Nixon again on a court appointment. They hope the President names somebody else and avoids a new fight. But they will feel obligated to air the 14-year-old incident if Ross is nominated.

60 Taxpayers To Support Chamber

A letter of mine a few days ago regarding the $30,000 tax subsidy to chamber of commerce elicited phone calls and a packet of mail from the Chamber. I should like to give my reasons for opposing this exceedingly generous gratuity of my tax-money by the board of supervisors.

The chamber letter detailed the good work it does for the business men of Marin, and sent me "testimonial" letters from these same businessmen saying so. I agree, the chamber does good work for the business men of Marin. That is its reason for existence.

But why tax money? The chamber could not answer that question. Many organizations serve all the citizens of Marin, yet ask no dole. I cite the Cancer Society, the Heart Association, or the TB Association, which, incidentally, gave to the county the x-ray machine now in use. There are many other such organizations—not asking for a tax handout, yet, benefitting all the citizens.

Why then $2,500 per month to an organization which serves the private profit of a very few? This is the total tax take from about 60 homes per year! Think about it — 60 homes whose taxes cannot pay for fire, roads, police, schools or even the supervisors' salaries.

Ways To Reduce Bridge Accidents

Regarding the recent slaughter on the Golden Gate Bridge approach:

Many of these accidents could be avoided without an investigation from experts sent out from Washington.

Make it mandatory to enforce a 35 miles per hour limit for all vehicles approaching the bridge from the south. Good policing and a $25 fine for the first offense would, in my opinion, help the elimination of this horrible slaughter until a major correction of the approaches can be made.

Return the bridge speed limit to 45 miles per hour. That is, if rigid enforcement is made.

Few At Meeting, Many At Polls

I would agree with Mr. (Richard L.) Tracy's statement ("Readers Say" July 14) that the majority stayed away from the San Rafael Board of Education meeting, but I would also add that they really turned out for the tax-rate increase election on June 2.

I wonder if Mr. Tracy took note that the San Rafael electorate approved the sewer proposition, and in turn disapproved the tax increase for the San Rafael City Schools.

SEATO Allies Cop Out On U.S. 'Commitment'

(John S. Knight in Detroit Free Press)

Secretary William P. Rogers, the State Department's traveling man, is just discovering what the rest of us have known for a long time.

He learned at a Manila meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization from South Vietnam, South Korea, Thailand and the Philippines that the United States must not reduce its military, political or economic "commitments" in the Pacific region in any serious way.

SEATO, a collective defense pact devised by the late John Foster Dulles in 1954, has been used by Lyndon Johnson, Dean Rusk and now the Nixon administration as the rationalization for our involvement in Indochina.

It is this so-called "commitment" which has cost 42,919 American lives and another 282,966 wounded, to say nothing of countless billions in U.S. resources.

The treaty, despite the claims of its supporters, is not a binding legal instrument and has no force or effect upon the United States. Nevertheless and notwithstanding our failure to act "in accordance with constitutional processes," each administration from Kennedy to Nixon has upheld the fiction of SEATO while ignoring the requirement to consult with the Congress.

MEMBERS of SEATO, other than the United States, are Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Philippines, Pakistan and Thailand — all presumably interested in saving Southeast Asia from communism.

Since 1954, Britain and France have made no contributions in men or money; Australia, New Zealand and the Philippines provided only token forces; Pakistan is disinterested and Thailand is miffed over U.S. refusal to pay for Thai activities in Cambodia.

In 1954, I warned that any involvement in Vietnam would find the United States without significant support from its allies who had the most to lose in Indochina.

The U.S. casualty statistics and the present plight of America will attest to the accuracy of that prediction.

But now come our friends to beg us not to leave, or even to reduce the "American presence." Secretary Rogers has reiterated that the United States intends to remain a Pacific power, and that the Nixon Doctrine does not mean isolation but simply readjustment to the new realities of world and domestic politics...

Of incidental interest is the intelligence that Thailand, which always has its hand out, fought with Japan against the United States in World War II.

THOUGH OUR Mr. Rogers stated in Saigon that the time has come for "real negotiations — to end this war and bring to the people of South Vietnam a fair and lasting peace," there is absolutely no hard evidence to indicate that President Thieu and his government have the slightest interest in reaching an accommodation with Hanoi.

As Parade magazine says in today's (July 12) issue, "The American public has not been told the full truth about the extent of the U.S. involvement in Cambodia any more than it was told the truth about our military role in Laos or how much it cost the U.S. taxpayer to get the Filipinos, the South Koreans, the Thais and the Australians to support us in Vietnam."...

The tragedy of our Indochina adventure is that it will be recounted in history as an egregious blunder.

Must we destroy America in a vain effort to bring peace and brotherhood to an area of the world where dissident peoples have been warring for centuries?

Are we willing to pay the price?

Are you?

Arms Limitation Pact Chances Considered Good

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Prospects are good for a limited disarmament agreement, in principle, at the strategic arms limitation talks in iVenna this summer.

That is the word which is circulating here. It follows consultations in which new guidelines were supplied to Gerald C. Smith, the top U.S. negotiator in the talks with the Soviet Union.

Under his new instructions, Smith will seek a generalized agreement to limit both offensive and defensive strategic weapons. The Russians are said to be receptive to such an agreement as a first step toward detailed arrangements which would be embraced later in a treaty or treaties.

There seems to be a good chance that the U.S. and Russian negotiators will agree to:

— Put a limit on the total number of strategic delivery systems — planes and missiles — which each of the superpowers could retain in its weapons arsenal.

— Limit the level of anti-missile activity (ABM) by each nation.

SUCH AN agreement would not touch such difficult issues as the deployment of MIRVs — multiple, independently targeted reentry vehicles for use on the delivery systems. Russia will not agree to on-site inspection, and there seems to be no way to limit MIRV deployment without inspection of weapons.

An agreement, in principle, of this sort would also leave a number of other difficult problems for subsequent negotiations. For example, do U.S. long-range fighter-bombers, such as the bomber version F-111, qualify as strategic delivery systems? Do intermediate-range Russian missiles, targeted on U.S. military bases and on cities in Western Europe, come within the limitation?

THESE REPORTS indicate that an agreement might include a complete ban on ABM systems. Indications are, however, that a rather tight limitation on ABM — the defense of Moscow and Washington, for example — is a more likely alternative.

In any case, it is quite clear that President Nixon's Safeguard ABM is, as its proponents have always argued, an important negotiating chip on the Vienna poker table.

EVEN IF IT were little more than an agreement to seek agreement, the initialing of a limited disarmament agreement, in principle, would have unlimited impact and implications. It would certainly be billed as an international accommodation comparable with the limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

For President Nixon and the GOP some of the impact would be political. Such an agreement would figure as a major administration accomplishment in the arena of foreign relations, which has seen few Nixon triumphs.

More importantly, the initialing of such an agreement — especially if the Vietnam withdrawal is going well — could deprive Democratic peace candidates of a good deal of their campaign thunder. Such a circumstance would help GOP candidates in the off-year elections.

Whales In Danger

If you think whaling practically disappeared with canvas sails on the square-rigger, think again. In the decade of the 1960s, more whales were slaughtered than in any decade in history.

Now, huge factory ships roam the world, seeking the large species, such as the blue whale and the sperm whale. Although the killing of whales is limited by treaties and conventions among the major whaling countries, many marine biologists are concerned that whaling, if continued at the present rate, will soon result in the extinction of some of the bigger species.

If we lose the big whales through greed and neglect, we lose something truly marvelous. Not only are they the biggest mammal, they are highly intelligent — ranking close to the chimpanzee. We humans are just beginning to appreciate these remarkable beasts. We hope it is not too late.

Wetback Case Shows How One Agency Negates Another

By JACK COOPER

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The Court of Appeals here turned down some migrant farm workers who sought to enjoin some Central Valley growers from knowingly hiring wetbacks.

The action was a class suit brought on behalf of all Northern California migrant workers, and had the injunctive relief been granted, it would have had widespread implications.

The plaintiffs alleged that the illegal entrants accept work under inferior conditions and unlawfully compete with domestic farm workers for the available employment.

They further alleged that this increases the rate of unemployment and depresses the earnings of Northern California farm workers, that the hiring of illegal entrants cost Northern California farm workers $2.7 million in lost wages in 1969 and costs the public increased annual welfare expenditures of not less than $1.4 million for support of domestic farm workers and their families.

THE DEFENDANT growers admitted the truth of the allegations of fact, but held an injunction would invade the federal sphere of immigration regulation, and that Congress has exempted employers from criminal liability for hiring illegal entrants without inquiry.

The whole thing sounded like an exercise in futility, and perhaps it was, but the appeals court's decision is an indictment of federal inaction in protecting American workers against foreign competition.

"Plaintiffs seek the aid of equity," the court said, "because the national government has breached the commitment implied by national immigration policy."

In spite of decades of protest and officially expressed concern, the court went on, there has been no solution to "the dilemma posed by agriculture's heavy, short-term need for manpower and society's inability to absorb that manpower when agriculture's need is past."

"IT IS OBVIOUS that the aliens enter the country to get jobs and would stay home if jobs were not available," the court said.

"Officially oblivious to the utterly obvious, the Social Security Administration issues cards and account numbers to illegal entrants with no inquiry as to alienage or immigration status."

"In a continuing display of incredible insularity, one agency of the federal government puts its foot in a door which another agency (The Immigration Service) is striving vainly to close."

Mrs. Frotzponem said, "I'll take the other one."

Play For Sausalito Drydocks: 'King Richard M. Nixon III'

Despite the uncertain future of the Sausalito drydocks, actor Rip Torn is going ahead with plans for an intriguing production of Shakespeare's "Richard III" to be presented on the docks this fall.

Torn plans to portray the crafty, murderous Plantagenet monarch as Richard M. Nixon, complete with Nixon voice and makeup, a daring undertaking in a predominantly Republican county. "Both Richards are the same kind of politician," the actor said.

He feels the production — which will feature background music by the Jefferson Airplane — will clearly demonstrate Shakespeare's relevance in today's world. "Shakespeare is right now; he has meaning for us," Torn said, adding, "He was a very subversive — and often obscene — playwright."

THERE WILL BE some changes in the play, but most — like those in the dialogue — will be minute ones. However, Torn is thinking of a finale which Shakespeare never wrote but probably would have approved as good theater.

After the mob attacks and kills the king, Torn envisions Richard rising into the sky as a huge, purple butterfly, possibly by the use of balloons, a suggestion from one of the Jefferson Airplane.

He sees Chris Roberts' drydocks as "a great natural setting, massive and anachronistic, reminiscent of the Tower of London. And a fitting setting too, since the Globe Theater, where Shakespeare's works were first performed, was located on the Thames River in London and was reached by boat."

Meanwhile, plans for a world cultural center to be built from the docks are moving ahead as rapidly as possible since Roberts and his supporters hope to have a fairly concrete plan to present when the drydock case next goes to court. County officials are still saying publicly that the drydocks must go, but some feel privately that there may be no practical way to remove them and several have said a cultural center might be a good way to solve the problem.

WHILE THE FUROR over the City of Sausalito's decision to curtail parking on downtown Bridgeway has raged outside, employees at City Hall have been quietly keeping a notebook for residents who wish to comment on the ban.

The results show there are definitely two sides to the controversy. Of 52 comments, 40 are in favor, often enthusiastically, of the city plan to eliminate parking on a two-block section of the street.

And Acting City Mgr. H. Eric Borgwardt points out that all of the comments recorded since planter boxes replaced the sadnbags originally used to enforce the ban have been favorable.

Some typical resident comments: "Best downtown improvement in my 10 years of residence"; "First time I've been able to get into the downtown area or even through it"; "Bravo, the beginnings of a new and better Sausalito" and, from a 50-year resident: "Sausalito looks cleaner and somehow roomier .. .At long last I don't hate to come downtown now."

Hitch Seeks Tougher Powers Over Classes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The University of California's president is asking for addition of powers, including some of the curriculum control which the faculty alone has held for half a century.

President Charles J. Hitch told regents Thursday that the nine-campus university's integrity needs protection from outside groups.

His office, he said in a 5,000 word statement, needs new authority to make sure courses are given at the time and place authorized and with the specified content.

While avoiding concrete recommendations, Hitch's thrust was toward a demand for power over the curriculum, although the faculty Academic Senate has been responsible for authorizing and supervising courses since 1920.

"I shall assume a responsibility for establishing disciplinary precedures which are consistent with the policy of the regents," he promised.

Regent Edward W. Carter remarked that, "It takes great courage for a president to take on the faculty...As I read it, he is doing this."

Chancellor Roger W. Heyns of the Berkeley campus reported that 22 per cent of the 2,700 courses offered there were modified in Many and June after the U.S. invasion of Cambodia and the shooting of students at Kent State University.

There were a "small number of serious abuses," he added, but the "vast majority" of the faculty behaved very responsibly, he said. Other matters before the regents were a report on the grading system and complaints that university facilities were be ing used for nonacademic purposes. A report requested by regents showed that 21.5 per cent of the grades given to freshmen and sophomores last fall were As while only 2.6 per cent were Fs. During a 1962-65 comparative period, 15.3 per cent got A's and 3.3 per cent flunked.

W. Glenn Campbell, regent who requested the study, said the figures were deceptive, noting that the Berkeley English department gave A's or B's to 33 per cent of its students in the early 1960's and to 62.2 per cent last fall. He contrasted that to the chemistry department which gave A's or B's to 39.7 per cent last fall and to 41.4 per cent in 1962.

Donald M. Dozer, Santa Barbara Latin American history professor, declared one unnamed professor gave all students grades of either A or A-minus, except those who distributed his political leaflets. They got A-plus. The regents audit committee was ordered to investigate assertions that Berkeley facilities were used for political purposes.

That came after an Oakland produce dealer, Grant J. Hunt Jr., complained of receiving mailings from the campus urging support for the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee.

A number on the mailing was that of the university, he continued, and when he dialed it the person who answered once responded: "United Farm Workers" and then "Huelga (strike)."

Cranston Seeks To Cancel 68 Offshore Oil Leases

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., called today for immediate cancellation of all but three federal oil leases in the Santa Barbara Channel off the coast of California.

Cranston, in an amendment to legislation he introduced last year, called for cancellation of 68 oil leases and a ban on any future leases.

Under the amendment three leases on which drilling platforms now are in operation would not be immediately canceled.

The three leases which would remain in force include the one in which an underwater blowout occurred in January 1969, resulting in an oil slick that fouled Santa Barbara beaches. The other two leases are nearby.

Cranston noted that the Interior Department has given the Union Oil Company permission to continue drilling on the first lease in an effort to drain the reservoir and thus halt the oil leak. The same reservoir extends beneath the second lease, which is operated by the Sun Oil Company.

The third lease, operated by Phillips Oil Company, is adjacent to state tidelands and will tap a reservoir being pumped on state lands by Standard and Richfield.

Cranston said a "precedent" for cancellation of oil leases had been set by the administration in a bill introduced by Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., to cancel 20 channel leases.

"I believe there has been a growing consensus that no further leases should be put into production in the Santa Barbara Channel," Cranston said in calling for cancellation of all but the three leases with drilling platforms already in operation.

Air Force Plans Command Change At Hamilton Base

In continuing streamlining of the administration of the Air Force's Aerospace Defense Command, the command structure at Hamilton Air Force Base will change on Oct. 1, the Air Force has announced.

The change will affect 13 military jobs and three civilian positions, but these people will be placed in other positions on the base, according to officials.

The 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron will come under the command of the 26th North American Air Defense Region at Luke Air Force Base, Phoenix, Ariz. The first fighter wing has been in command of the 84th squadron.

Designation as first fighter wing will be taken by a unit of the Tactical Air Command at MacDill Air Force Base, Fla.

A new 4661st air base group will be responsible for the management of Hamilton as well as supporting the 84th squadron.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Behr's Spending As Compared With Salary Of State Senator

Fusselman

In this column on June 5: "This (election) on last Tuesday demonstrated that you can't always buy an election. The man who tried to unseat Sen. George Murphy found this out.

"Closer to home it seems to have worked. Peter Behr or his conservative supporters spent a bundle. It will be interesting to see what they report. Certainly the man who masterminded the campaign didn't work for peanuts.

"The story is that he is the one who handled Congressman Pete McClusky's successful effort to beat our little Lolly Pop."

NOW, IN THE I-J Of July 9 a headline across page 32, "Behr Spent $84,688 In Primary Contest." The article went on to say that only about two dozen of the hundreds of candidates for the 100 contested state legislative seats reported more than $20,000 and most of only one spent more than Behr. He was Paul N. (Pete) McClosky, who spent $92,576 to win his nomination.

"Oddly, of the candidates for U.S. House of Representatives, these spent less than $40,000.

"Behr reported a total of $68,525 in contributions, including $13,000 of his own money, thus leaving a deficit of $16,-163.

"The $55,525 Behr reported as income from others included $46,675 in contributions and $8,850 in loans." This is the primary cost. There still is the cost of the final election in November.

LET THAT BOGGLE your intelligence while you consider the figures to follow. The salary of a state senator is now $16,000 a year. I understand that it will go to $19,200 next term.

This means that during the four-year term, if he is elected, he will receive in salary $7,888 less than he spent for the primary alone.

What price what? Can it be glory? A few decades ago it was still thought indelicate, you know, to try to buy your way into polite society. It seems to me that it was also considered so of public office by the nice and proper people.

Are you completely boggled by this financial picture? 'So be I."

Marin Directors Of EOC Request Action By Nixon

Directors of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council have passed a resolution asking the President to withdraw from Indochina and instead fight "the social malignancies that now threaten the very foundations of our democracy."

The resolution, signed by chairman Eloise T. Brown, urged action without further delay because there are "cries of anguish and shouts of anger, reminding us that time is working against us."

The resolution singled out welfare assistance, housing, hospitals and mental institutions as particularly inadequate.

YOUNG BROS

Highway 101 at Olive, Novato

A MARRIED COUPLE show how much fun it is after building a tower of blocks to let it come tumbling down, just as children might. The couple participated in a seminar conducted in Chicago by Mill Valley resident Marian Saltman, a former consultant on child growth and development, who teaches the psychology of play to adults.

A THERAPIST, usually concerned with encouraging children to express their feelings and talents in finger painting, found out how exciting it is to do it himself during the Gestalt group's seminar conducted by Mrs. Saltman in Chicago.

A FAMILY COUNSELOR, center, having just finished a finger painting, illustrates in her uninhibited pose the complete freedom participants in the adult play seminars have to do anything that makes them comfortable or happy.

PSYCHOLOGY OF PLAY

Adults Rediscover Spontaneity

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Marian Saltman has a very unusual and fascinating occupation — teaching the psychology of play to adults.

Until two years ago, when she came to Mill Valley, Mrs. Saltman had her own practice in Los Angeles as a consultant on child growth and development, educational therapy and family counseling.

Later she made an interesting discovery — that adults can benefit as much from unhibited play as do children, whose unconscious play activities frequently produce some surprisingly creative resluts.

THE TROUBLE, she says is that adults have not only forgotten how to play but also often have so much guilt about freedom and play that their potential joy in life as well as their growth and creativity are stifled. They think that play is somehow sinful, except for children, when in fact it is necessary for mental health. Adults need the regular experience of creating just as much as youngsters.

"We have become a society of spectators — whether it's TV or baseball we pay other people to do things for us," Mrs. Saltman says. "Much of our environment discourages self-expression. By going back in an easy non-threatening way to rediscover the child within, the adult can rediscover latent potential talents."

This is important for any individual, but it is especially valuable for therapists and teachers of young children, she believes. Many have said that the sessions made them better able to cope with the children and that they were even more tolerant of their own children afterward, she notes.

Mrs. Saltman now conducts classes in how to become freer and more creative through play activities for such organizations as educational institutions, growth centers like Esalen in Big Sur, and groups of parents, psychologists and social workers. She is a member of the Association for Humanistic Psychology.

This fall she will teach a course in the psychology of play at Sonoma State College.

AN OBJECTIVE of the course, she says, will be to bring about the integration of the child and the adult, combining the adult desire to make meaning with form and ability to learn technique with the child-like quality of spontaneous free expression.

"Through study and actual participation in play activities with various media the child within emerges," she explains, "revealing the long forgotten joys and creativity of childhood, as well as the early frustrations and restrictions which may still be blocking free self-expression. Play experiences arise spontaneously in class and are not contrived."

As an example of what a session is like Mrs. Saltman described a seminar she conducted in Chicago, in which the pictures accompanying this story were taken, for a Gestalt group composed primarily of professional persons, such as teachers, therapists and social workers.

"The session started with a brief get-together, or encounter, as sensitivity training specialists call it.

"A LARGE room was transformed into a magic theater. We had all the usual art materials, including finger paint, clay, bright tempera easel paint and collage materials. The art materials also lent themselves to making headdresses and costumes. We had dress-up clothes and rythm instruments, which provided the background for music and dancing, ladders to climb and sit on, and blocks, great big ones, for building tall structures and little houses.

"Play started with individual activity, changed to smaller group involvements and ended with the entire group playing together. Each session is different, depending upon the individuals in the group.

"People learn," she emphasizes, "that what they do doesn't have to be a big thing for which they must have talent. The process is more important than the product. Yet some people do discover unsuspected talents."

Mrs Saltman, who has two children, says her present specialty actually grew out of her deep interest in child growth and development.

A native of New York, she attended school there and majored in English at Occidental College in Glendale. Later she completed work on a B.A. at San Fernando Valley State College in general elementary and primary education.

For some years she was director of a parent cooperative pre-school in Los Angeles and director of a children's summer camp at Santa Cruz.

Just before she established her own practice in educational therapy and family counseling in Los Angeles, she was an educational therapist at the Dubnoff School for Educational Therapy in that city.

European Tour Includes Visits With Relatives

To celebrate her daughter Robin's completion of work toward a teaching credential at Dominican College, Mrs. John Ericson of Belvedere took her to Europe for the month of June.

Delighted with the travel on trains crossing Europe, they first journeyed to Benidorm, Spain, where Mrs. Ericson's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Evan Barnard, formerly of Mill Valley, are enjoying their first year of retirement in a beach apartment on the Mediterranean. The Barnards intend to return to Marin this fall.

The four traveled to Granada to see the Alhambra built by the Moors. They traveled on to Avignon to see the bridge and to Saltzburg, Austria and Luxembourg, where Mrs. Erickson's niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Clive Sanders, live. Formerly of Terra Linda, the Sands moved to Luxembourg when Clive was appointed manager of the Wells Fargo Bank in Luxembourg.

In London and Paris they were impressed with the inexpensive and efficient city transportation systems.

MRS. FRANK B. Williams of Sausalito was hostess at a luncheon Tuesday at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito in honor of her granddaughter, Betsy Ann Williams. Betsy, who lives in Palo Alto, is a Peninsula debutante this year.

COL. AND MRS. Wilbur Tapscott and their 12-year-old daughter, Libby, have returned to Marin County following three years in Japan, where Colonel Tapscott was stationed with the Air Force. This was their second tour of duty in Japan, but entirely different, Mrs. Tapscott said as the first tour was in Southern Japan and the second in Northern Japan, where Mrs. Tapscott said she skiied and golfed a great deal.

While in Japan, their oldest daughter, Terri, was married on April 28 at the American Embassy in Tokyo to Capt. Louis R. Egea. Captain Egea, from Southern California, and Terri are now in the Phillipines, where they will be for more than one year as Captain Eagea is a jet pilot.

The Tapscott's son, Peter, will be a junior at Syracuse University, in New York next year but is home for the summer.

Colonel Tapscott will be leaving in September for Viet Nam, where he will be commander of the 504th Air Reconnaisance Group for all Viet Nam, stationed at Cam Ranh Bay. Prior to leaving he will go to Florida next week for a month's additional training.

While Colonel Tapscott is in Viet Nam, Libby and Mrs. Tapscott will stay with her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gerard P. Kievenaar in Lucas Valley as they have leased their own home in Lucas Valley.

Colonel and Mrs. Tapscott are both native Marinites. She was born in Sausalito, and he was born in Kentfield. They both attended Tamalpais High School and College of Marin.

LIVING IN Mill Valley are Mr. and Mrs. Michael Chirco who were married at the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour, also in Mill Valley. The bride is the former Ferris Parnel Finn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Finn III of Mill Valley. (Jeff Wierner photo)

MR. AND MRS. Aleksander Czubak of Novato renewed their wedding vows at a nuptial mass at Our Lady of Loretto Church on their 25th wedding anniversary on Saturday. The Rev. Albin Kudzielka of Mission Dolores in San Francisco performed the mass.

Increasing Suicides Impossible To Type

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Their cries of anguish are on the quiet side. Yet they are the people caught in a life and death struggle—with themselves.

They are the potential suicides, the persons who for one reason or perhaps for many reasons are so desperate the only way out seems to be self-destruction.

They do kill themselves at an alarming rate. Conservative estimates put the total at 25,000 suicides a year. Some authorities double, even triple, that total.

It is difficult to make an accurate count because some suicides are the "conventional" ones—an overdose of barbituates, say. But others are harder to pinpoint, like the sole occupant of a car who deliberately turns and drives into oncoming traffic. He will be listed officially as a highway fatality.

Suicide is listed as the 10th leading cause of death, the leading cause of unnecessary death.

So reports Paul Curtis, a research consultant in community services for the Center for Studies of Suicide Prevention, the National Institute of Mental Health, Chevy Chase, Md.

The institute has just published "Quiet Cries," a 30-minute drama written by playwright Elizabeth Blake, under auspices of Plays for Living, a division of the Family Service Association of America.

The play is designed expressly for presentation by amateur groups at community sessions, PTA meetings, at schools, churches, mental health association meetings, conventions, YMCA workshops and the like.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Without Trust In Fellow Men, Peace And Dignity Impossible

DEAR HELEN:

Don't get me wrong. I'm all for store security, but this is too much.

I work for a large branch department store. Yesterday the security guard picked out four men at random, took them to a room and made them undress. This was also done to four women by a woman guard.

Helen, these people weren't suspected of theft — they were made an example to show other employees they couldn't get away with anything. I was one of them.

This morning I got a raise and promotion, so you can see I'm not considered dishonest.

Helen, how can our world ever achieve peace when the very ingredient of trust in your fellow man is missing? — JOE

DEAR JOE:

Counter question: How can you ever achieve dignity working for an outfit like this? Spend your off-hours looking for another job. — H

DEAR HELEN:

Would you please do me a favor and print my letter? It's the only way I can contact "the girls in the 'Bug'."

You see, I am a school crossing guard who enjoys her work. On the last day of school, I realized how much it meant to me. A certain young lady passed me every day in her little car, on her way to high school with her friends. I've enjoyed their "beep-beep" and cheery "Hi!"

I can't express how touched I was, when on the last day, they stopped and gave me a bouquet of carnations with a card wishing me a nice summer, stating they won't be "bugging,' me any more.

So . . . This is to those girls in the Volkswagen bug whose names I don't know. "Dear Girls: May I always be "bugged" by lovely young ladies like you." — JOAN K. GREENLEAF

P.S. Helen, this is only one incident out of many during the past year, that shows me our new generation is very much okay.

DEAR JOAN:

Right on! And thanks for helping to prove it. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My daughter is getting married and the girls in the bridal party want to give a shower. They suggested a "greenback shower", as she and her husband will be travelling to various Air Force bases for the next few years and they don't plan on setting up a house for a while.

Is this in good taste? — MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER:

If wedding gifts of money are appropriate, so too are shower gifts — especially when the bride and groom must travel light for a while.

How about a money tree, with bills wrapped in colored foil? I'm assuming all the girls are very close friends who will get together beforehand and decide the amount to be given. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Yesterday our son's college grades arrived in the mail while he and I were out. My husband opened the letter. When our son came home, he was upset because his father had snooped. We never open each other's personal mail, but we figure we have a right in this instance, as we are paying his tuition. Your opinion? — MRS. S.

DEAR MRS. S.:

A fellow has the right to open his mail first, but you have a right to see his grades. Your husband's timing was wrong, and your son was being just a little picky. — H.

Pritchard-Montvernay Ceremony Read Saturday In San Rafael

David Wesley Pritchard of San Rafael claimed Claudine Madeleine Montvernay as his bride at St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael on Saturday.

Claudine, the daughter of Mrs. Alfred Montvernay of San Diego, formerly of France, chose Gail Baldasarri of San Anselmo as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Carla Baldasarri, Deborah Butterfield of San Anselmo and Leslie and Sydney Pritchard, sisters of the bridegroom.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID PRITCHARD

John Pritchard of Berkeley was best man for his brother, and ushers were Charles Dunn, William Londeree, and Ford Radus of San Rafael and William Di Grazia of El Sobrante.

The wedding reception was held in the garden of the Marin Country Club Estates home in Novato of the bridegroom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Lindauer. The couple will live in Oakland on their return from a wedding trip to Catalina.

Claudine is the sister of Robert Montvernay of San Rafael, Mrs. Carlys Phillips of Novato, Suzanne Jaggers of San Diego and Guy Montvernay of Clamecy, France. The bride attended high school in Clamecy and was graduated from San Diego High School. She also attended College of Marin and San Diego State College and will continue her education at California State College in Hayward.

understanding of those desperately in need of aid and to take action. Provision is made for audience discussion later.

Curtis, in a telephone interview, said that whatever the reasons (and the medical profession and other researchers constantly probe them), suicides are on the increase among all economic and all age groups.

Until recently, in most people's thinking, the "average" suicide was white, middle-class, male, married and with children, he said. Men still are a higher risk than women.

But Curtis said that self-destruction is increasingly common among the nonwhite and lower socio-economic groups.

For instance, in the 1957-67 decade, there was a 185 per cent increase in suicide among the 15-24 age group of nonwhite females and a 136 per cent increase in the 25-35-year-old group.

The "why" still is a matter largely for researchers, but Curtis said some of them believe that as the black person increasingly takes on the problems of the white world, the suicide rate climbs.

There's also an increase in self-destruction among the under-21 set of all groups, he continued.

In the total picture, Curtis said, much more research is needed in such causatives as alcoholism, for instance. Certainly, more help is needed. Today, he said, there are close to 200 prevention centers around the nation, all community efforts.

"These people don't want to die," said Curtis. "Most don't, at least. And in some way, somewhere, they will communicate verbally, asking for help."

These are the "quiet cries."

Computer Shops

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI) — A San Diego concern plans to install a service letting housewives phone in a coded grocery order to a computer.

The computer processes the order, decides which truck will be fastest, and has the goods on their way in four hours. The $1 delivery charge will be offset by the fact there is no limit on the size of the order, so the housewife is spared handling heavy items. The service is reported in the Vermont Extension Service newsletter.

Image Importance In USA Reflected In Name Changes

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

"Things are changing" is a very popular statement today. And, indeed, things have changed to some degree. But more than things, names have changed.

For a variety of technological, social and screwball reasons, many professions, industries and people have changed their names. Suffice it to say that "image" is very important in USA, 1970.

Remember when there were porters? Then they became janitors. Today they are sanitation specialists.

Garbage men used to be garbage men — now they are refuse-removal specialists.

Cooks (who still cook) are called food specialists, dieticians and gourmets.

The undertaker is now a mortician and dead bodies are now the deceased or loved ones. (Could it be the word body now smacks of pornography?)

The social sciences have updated their titles also. Employment agencies are now Department of Human Resources. People on the "state" are welfare recipients and the poor are underprivileged and/or deprived.

Old-folks' homes are now rest estates and guest homes. Our elderly are now senior citizens.

Today the boss is called the employer, but he's still the boss-man. The employees are staff but, as with the bees, they're still the workers.

Free time is now leisure time (organized free time) overseered by a degreed recreational specialist.

The city is now an urban center, and junior colleges are becoming community colleges.

Draft dodgers are now military dissenters, and conscientious objectors, in some camps, are called traitors.

Riots are being "nice-i-fied" and referred to as social unrest and social disturbances, especially now that whites as well as blacks are involved in them.

And we black folks have really gone through some image changes. We started out as blacks (ironically) and have come from nigger to colored, to Negro and currently back to black.

We used to call the white man Mr. Charlie. Then, after a few meals of corn mush, we got cocky and called him Charles. After learning to read, we shortened it to Chuck. Today, he's the man.

Mexican-Americans have also evolved namewise. Today they are proudly Chicanos. And the American Indians are "home" again, too.

Yes, things have changed — at least the names of things. And all to make Cleotis L., John Q., Juan Z. and Running B. Public comfortable with SOS (same old stuff).

Furs And Satin From Rome

LAST YEAR designer Marucelli put nearly nude models in gong-shaped metal breastplates, so her evening gowns such as the fur and velvet shown were a surprise to the audience at her showing in Rome Wednesday. Furs in the gown include leopard, mink, beaver, monkey and fox. The hat is a little felt pancake. (UPI Cablephoto)

By BRENDA ROTZOLL

ROME (UPI)—Marucelli, the designer who put nearly nude models in gong-shaped metal-breastplates a year ago, came up with something warmer Wednesday: fur and satin evening gowns the Empress Josephine would have loved.

"Men will love those dresses," said a staid and veteran women's editor who obviously shuddered at the thought of metal brassiers.

"They will want to put their heads on the girl's shoulder because the fur is so soft."

A dozen versions of the Empire-waisted gowns came in leopard, mink, beaver, monkey and fox. The fur bodices had tiny sleeves and jewel necks stopped just below the bust.

THE SAME fur was used for hems a foot deep in satin skirts which were gathered at the bodice and hem and fell as a slim tube in soft folds.

British designer Hardy Amies, whose clients include Queen Elizabeth II, used re-embroidered lace chiffons, chiffons and cut velvets in evening clothes showed concurrently Wednesday in London.

With Amies the emphasis was on length. Every shirt in his high collection for fall and was either midi or maxi — not a show aimed at her majesty whose skirts have inched upward to knee-swimming-height, or the Princess Anne, 19, who wears miniskirts.

Marucelli also showed how to salvage last year's fur mini coat by cutting off the fur below the bust and inserting a slim tube of wool crepe to mid-thigh, where fur takes over again to the hem at midcalf or calf bottom.

HER OVERALL look was very slender and simple, and relied for interest on luxury furs and beautiful wool and silk fabrics in prints and weaves.

For daytime she liked straight-cut suits or very full capes lined with fur, worn over gaucho pants and high leather boots. She did a calf-bottom slim coat in the beige-brown shades of silver fox, then draped it with a long stole of that fox.

Her hats were little felt pancakes, worn alone or with leather four-inch ties on either side knotted at the back of the head beneath a huge chignon. Such hats are worn by women peasants in the Abruzzi mountains east of Rome. Shades of brown, purple and white were favored at Marucelli, while black got a big play at Gregoriana.

Gregoriana liked black cocktail gowns at midcalf with swirling skirts of crepe or of pleated lace, and bodices with long, tight sleeves.

She put gray wool jersey sweaters under jumpers with cut-out tops and very swirling skirts. Flared skirts also appeared in black and gold wool tapestry coats with patent leather belts and black mink hems.

Club Leader Asks Rights Support

Mrs. Earle A. Brown, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, issued a call to the federation members to urge their U.S. Representatives to sign the discharge petition to get the Equal Rights Amendment bill out of the House Judiciary Committee and onto the House floor.

"The General Federation," said Mrs. Brown, "has been on record supporting the Equal Rights Amendment since 1944 and the time has come for concerted action to get the bill before Congress.

"Representatives Martha W. Griffiths (Dem. - Mich.) and Florence P. Dwyer (Rep. - N.J.) have filed a discharge petition to force the Equal Rights Amendment out of the Judiciary Committee. For a petition to be effective, it must be signed by at least 218 (a majority) members of the House."

"It is my hope that every member of the federation will write or wire her Congressman to take the necessary action to help get the U.S. Constitution amended, once and for all, so that equality under the law will be guaranteed to women."

The importance of the availability of legal counsel for all Americans is a principle that has been emphasized more than once by appellate courts in their decisions of recent years. The Marin County bar embraced the concept even earlier. It is embodied in the Legal Aid Society and in the public defender's office for the poor. And for the middle class, it is represented by the Lawyer Referral Service. Freelance writer Paul Brindel tells you about it in tomorrow's Marin Magazine.

Historians trace the roots of civilization as western man knows and practices it today back to early Greece. And the cultural center of that place and era was the city of Athens. A unique College of Marin Department of Drama program — Summer Athenaeum '70 — is currently recreating on the Kentfield campus the life and spirit of the Athenians for 75 young men and women. You can read about this unusual program in tomorrow's I-J weekend supplement.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and from Parents' Magazine, unless otherwise noted. More vomplete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY:

"Chisum" — A rousing old-fashioned western set in New Mexico in 1878 with John Wayne as a cattle baron opposing the men who are running the town. Many familiar actors and some newcomers. (Boxoffice Magazine).

"Moon Zero Two" — Imaginative adventure in outer space in the year 2021 with Moon City as a starting point.

"Out-of-Towners" — Refreshingly funny spoof on big city life. Misadventures of a small city businessman who takes his wife with him for a job interview in New York City. Hilarious comedy.

"Sleeping Beauty" — A reissue of Disney's spectacular animation of classic fairy tale with Tchaikowsky background music, remains enchanting for whole family.

"Viva Max" — A bumbling Mexican general in a desperate attempt to impress a beautiful senorita tries to retake the Alamo with unexpected results. A gem of impudent but gentle humor.

ADULTS AND TEENS:

"Anne of the 1000 Days" — Magnificently staged and cast, this historical drama of lust and political intrigue encompasses the courtship, marriage, trial and beheading of Anne Boleyn.

"Beneath the Planet of the Apes" — Science fiction, the sequel to "Planet of the Apes" concludes the story and combines an amusing fantasy with a very real and grim message. Very well done.

"Downhill Racer" — A brilliant stury of the development of a ski champion. Action sequences are complimented by story about the dynamics of sports competition.

"Hawaiians" — Film based on last half of J. A. Michener's novel "Hawaii". The story centers on the man who developed the first pineapple plantation and a Chinese matriarch who founded a dynasty. Plot quite complicated.

"Paint Your Wagon"—A lusty, irreverent script is framework for a musical set in a mining camp during Gold Rush days. Elaborately mounted broad comedy, raucous and at times tasteless, not suitable for young children.

"Z" — Remarkable film about a political assassination. The powerful combination of action and suspense provides profound insights into today's troubled politics. English subtitles.

BORDERLINE:

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Alice's Restaurant" — A thought-provoking true story about a commune of hippies in an uncommitted life that is both sad and funny. Some of the language and actions are in very poor taste.

"Getting Straight" — Satiric melodrama that presents both sides of rebellion and rioting among students on a college campus as experienced by a student-teacher. Violence and sex scenes and foul language are abundant.

"Goodbye, Columbus" — Sophisticated, very frank comedy about a summer love affair of a teen-age Jewish girl. Her characterful family's behavior and mannerism are real and humorous. A dispute over the use of contraceptives is very explicit.

"Woodstock" — Interesting documentary of last summer's famous rock festival. Nudity, obscene language, use of drugs and love-making may keep from the audience those most interested in seeing it. Parental guidance advised.

ADULTS ONLY:

"Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice" — An irreverent social satire, slick in its trimmings and with a sharp bite in its characters, dialogue and frank appraisal of modern marriage and morals.

"M-A-S-H" — Title stands for Mobile Army Surgical Hospital. The antiwar film deals with three surgeons; scenes are gruesome as they are funny. Bittersweet element of truth in action and dialogue.

"What Do You Say to a Naked Lady" — Allen Funt of Candid Camera extends his debasing Peeping Tom technique to feature length with sex and nudity as the trashy gimmick.

Owners In Corte Madera Can Get Flood Insurance

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Corte Madera homeowners and businessmen have qualified for federally subsidized flood insurance, Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, reported yesterday.

Owners of one to four-family residences and of small businesses will be able to buy the insurance as of today from their local insurance agents at a low subsidized rate under the government's new emergency flood legislation program, Mailliard said.

The town qualified under the program when it agreed to adopt land use and control measures that will minimize flood damage to future construction, Mailliard said.

Local insurance agents may obtain policies and other information on the program from the National Flood Insurance Association service office, Fireman's Fund Insurance Co., Box 3136, San Francisco.

Youth Staff Seeks New Coordinator

The Marin County personnel director has asked the county juvenile delinquency prevention commission and the youth commission to interview Marin probation workers to replace their coordinator before looking elsewhere.

Present coordinator Gwen M. Monroe said commissioners have agreed to Personnel Director Maren Rinne's request to consider the eight who are qualified as probation supervisors.

Miss Monroe, who is on loan from the California Youth Authority, said she must return to CYA Aug. 14.

Representatives of both groups are expected to conduct the interviews.

The Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission also voted yesterday to complain to County Administrator Alan Bruce about his refusal to put up $40,000 in county money to get $60,000 from the California Council on Criminal Justice for a delinquency prevention and planning group in Marin. Miss not by Mr. Bruce," Rev. James "That decision should have been made by the supervisors, not by Mr. Bruce," Rev.. James Upshaw declared. "We should tell Mr. Bruce we don't like his action."

Since only six of 11 members attended, the commissioners set another meeting for 4 p.m. Wednesday in the Hall of Justice to continue discussions on juvenile delinquency interviews finished in June.

Fiesta Planners Seek Amateur Art, Photos

Entries in the amateur art and photography competition at the Petaluma Old Fiesta must be submitted by Aug. 10.

Subject matter is limited to the artist's or photographer's impression of the historic old adobe where General Mariano Vallejo supervised a successful rancho and trade center before the Bear Flag Revolt in 1846.

Winning entries will be exhibited Aug. 15 and 16 during the fiesta when the state monument becomes the scene of demonstrations of 19th century handicrafts.

Entrants may submit paintings, sketches, black and white or color photographs. Photos should be mounted or matted at the size of eight by 10 or larger.

Judging divisions include categories for young children, six or older, teen-agers and adults. Three winning artists will receive new sets of materials matching those used in the entries.

The color photography division will be judged separately with no age classifications.

Entries may be submitted at the Glass Owl, 113 Washington Street, Petaluma. Individuals may submit up to three entries.

Judges in the art division will be Janet Gunthorpe, Novato Art Teacher; James Morris, Petaluma Junior High School Art Teacher; and Artist Paula Palmer.

Photography division judges will be Ernest Bennett, retired Associated Press photographer; Phillip Palmer, professional free-lance photographer; and David Richardson, Petaluma Senior High School photography instructor.

Vacancies Stall Commission Work

The Mill Valley Youth Commission is looking for three adults to fill vacancies on the commission.

Vice Chairman Carol Prichard said the terms of Ken Pratt and Richard Bowen expired July 1 and Leonard Anderson resigned in May. "As long as we have these vacancies we don't have a quorum," she said.

Persons interested in serving may obtain application blanks at the Community Recreation Center, Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue.

Two Businessmen Arraigned Over Parking Barriers

Sausalito businessmen William Thompson and Harold Hobbs were arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on charges of destroying some of Sausalito's controversial parking barricades.

Attorneys appeared for both men and they were ordered to appear July 30 for further proceedings.

Thompson and Hobbs are charged with battering down two of the barricades Monday in a demonstration of the business community's protest against the barricades, which merchants say are destroying downtown business.

Thieves Take Radio, Recorder From Cafe

Thieves have taken a tape recorder and radio valued at a total of $300 and damaged food supplies at the Chimes Restaurant, 831 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael police reported Wednesday.

Entry was made between 11:30 p.m. Sunday and 5:45 a.m. yesterday through a ceiling vent, police reported.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
FOURTH SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, JULY 17, 1970 21

SEALED BUILDING — Ground floor windows of the Los Angeles Herald Examiner, once opening on the street, have been filled in with sturdy building material. The filling in followed repeated window smashing and other violence marking the paper's 3-year-old strike by the International Typographical Union.

Grim Toll Of Newspaper Strikes

The death yesterday of Allan W. Daly climaxed more than six months of violence surrounding the strike by San Francisco Typographical Union 21 against the Independent-Journal.

His death — as well as other attacks on I-J employees and persistent acts of vandalism — paralleled violence which has marked union strikes at other West Coast newspapers in recent years.

In Los Angeles, where the International Typographical Union local and 10 other unions have been on strike against the Herald-Examiner since 1967, one nonunion printer has been fatally shot and another wounded. The killer has never been caught.

In addition, the beatings of more than a dozen Herald-Examiner employees and a news vendor have been reported. There have been numerous cases of arson and vandalism and many threats to employees, advertisers and dealers handling the newspaper.

Picketing still goes on at the paper, which continues to publish.

Violence also was reported during a strike by the stereotypers union at Portland Oregonian which began in 1959 and was ruled illegal by the National Labor Relations Board five years later.

The newspaper's general manager, working in the basement of his home one night, was wounded by a shotgun blast through a window. Two trucks delivering newsprint were dynamited. And the paper's chief engraver was badly beaten while entering the plant during mass picketing.

Since the I-J strike began Jan. 7, a total of 23 persons — including the three accused of killing Daly — have been arrested for strike-related crimes ranging from vandalism to assault on police officers and carrying concealed weapons, including slingshots used to break windows of businesses which have continued to advertise in the Independent-Journal.

The three in custody in the Daly killing are Frank Thurber, 45, of San Bruno, a member of San Francisco Mailers Union 18, which is affiliated at the national level with the ITU, and two teen-agers, Larry G. Rutherford, 16, and Richard A. Wamsley, 17, both also of San Bruno.

The ITU and Mailers Union have deplored the shooting and denied any connection with it. The ITU also has denied connection with vandalism and threats to employees and advertisers at the paper.

On July 8, four days after Daly was shot, firebombers attacked the Petaluma home of a nonunion printer at the I-J. Two employees and the family of one who were inside narrowly escaped death when a Molotov cocktail crashed through a bedroom window and exploded.

Earlier firebomb attacks occurred on Jan. 7 and Feb. 4 when bottles mixed with paint thinner and mixed with ink were thrown at employees' homes in Santa Venetia and San Rafael.

A similar missile crashed through the front window of the Novato home of another employee on Feb. 8 and Molotov cocktails were hurled April 22 at an employee's apartment in San Rafael and at the home of a Mill Valley man whose name is similar to that of an I-J employee.

About 40 businesses have been vandalized and damage is estimated to run into the tens of thousands of dollars.

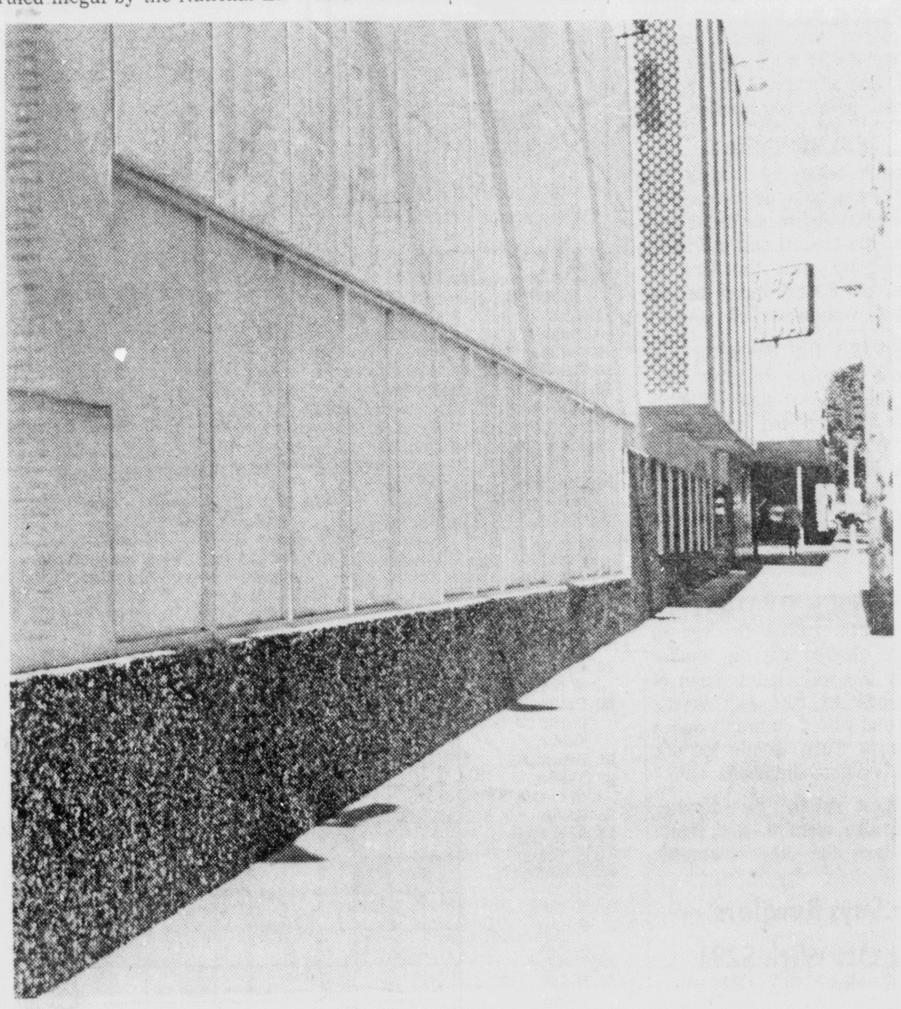
On June 3, three ITU members were arrested outside Stan's for Sports in Strawberry, a frequent target of night-riding vandals. Sheriff's deputies confiscated slingshots and typemetal slugs from their car.

The men — Dennis Joseph Crowley, 41, of San Jose; James Robert Brocato, 31, of Santa Rosa, and Grant William Anders, 30, of Pleasant Hill — are charged with conspiracy to break windows of six San Rafael and three Novato businesses.

Their case is being heard in Marin Municipal Court, and Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. has indicated he will rule Wednesday on whether the officers had cause to halt the suspects' car.

On Feb. 14, 12 persons were arrested during the riotous Valentine's Day labor rally outside the I-J building and seven subsequently were indicted for crimes ranging from assault on a police officer to participating in a riot.

The cases of the seven have been transferred to Fairfield for trial, which begins Aug. 4, in Solano County Superior Court.



BOARDED UP—Independent-Journal windows along Fifth Avenue in San Rafael are sealed as a protection against violence that has marked the San Francisco Typographical Union 21 strike. These and every other ground floor window were destroyed in the Valentine's Day riot when hundreds of union sympathizers stormed the building.

Innocent Plea By Thurber In Daly's Death

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Frank Thurber, 45-year-old union member, pleaded innocent today in municipal court to a murder charge in the shooting death of Allan W. Daly, Independent-Journal employee.

Thurber, represented by attorney Nathan Cohn, was denied bail by Judge Joseph G. Kennedy, who set a preliminary hearing for next Friday.

Thurber is being held in San Francisco County Jail.

Thurber, who lives in San Bruno, later appeared before Municipal Court Judge Janet Aitken and pleaded innocent to other charges arising from Daly's shooting — conspiracy, robbery and burglary.

Judge Aitken ordered the cases transferred to Judge Kennedy to be heard at the same time next Friday.

Two youths arrested in connection with the July 4 shooting, Larry G. Rutherford, 16, and Richard A. Wamsley, 17, both also of San Bruno, are being held in the youth guidance center awaiting murder charges. A juvenile court hearing has been tentatively set for July 29.

Auto, Bicycle Collide Hurt Fairfax Girl, 16

A 16-year-old Fairfax girl was reported injured in a bicycle-auto accident at 8:30 a.m. yesterday on Center Boulevard at San Anselmo Avenue in San Anselmo.

San Anselmo police reported that Doris J. Field of 137 Wood Lane was injured when her bicycle collided with a car driven by Albert E. Powell, 22, of 462 Cascade Drive, Fairfax.

She told police she was going to Marin General Hospital, but the hospital had no record of treating her.

SAUSALITO SAILING DELAYED

Legal, Construction Snags In Path Of Ferry Service

An unexpected tangle of legal and construction problems will delay the start of ferry service from Sausalito to San Francisco, Golden Gate Bridge District officials said yesterday.

The daily service originally was to have begun on Aug. 1, but now Sept. 1 is a more likely target date.

The district's attorney, Thomas M. Jenkins, outlined the legal problems in a 50-minute closed meeting with the joint transportation and finance-auditing committee. After the meeting, he told newsmen there were at least 10 to 12 "major problems," but he declined to elaborate.

Several of these problems could lead to litigation, he said.

The Independent-Journal learned, however, that the legal problems concern the bids the district received from four bus companies to provide feeder bus service to the Sausalito ferry and to provide charter buses for commuter clubs.

The legal issues involve rights of Public Utilities Commission franchises, conformance of the bidders to the bid specifications, and the legal powers of the district to contract for bus services instead of operating them itself.

The immediate victim of the legal tangle was the district's plan to contract with a bus company to provide the feeder service to the Sausalito ferry.

Jenkins only hinted at these problems when he advised the committee he needed more time to study the complicated bids before deciding what action should be taken on them. He recommended that "some alternate method be explored" to insure feeder bus service to the ferry.

Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring told newsmen, "We may even have to operate buses ourselves."

The district has been seeking to contract for bus services until it buys its own buses. The Sausalito City Council granted a permit for the ferry on condition that feeder bus service be available.

The lastest construction problem, as reported last week, was a belated discovery that the district's ferryboat did not meet fire safety standards.

Luehring said he was "quite certain" ferry service could begin by Aug. 15, but director Lowell Edington of Napa County insisted: "We just aren't ready to go. We've been trying to cram too many potatoes in one sack in too short a time," he said.

Edington's suggestion that the service start Sept. 1 was endorsed by board president William Moskovitz of San Francisco. "If we get it out by Sept. 1, we'll be doing well," Moskovitz said.

The Aug. 15 target would be "unrealistic," added committee chairman Joseph E. Sheeks of Belvedere.

In related business, the committee set a basic 50-cent fare for the ferry, the same fare the district charged when it temporarily ran the Tiburon ferry.

Proposals for a monthly pass and for making commutation books usable both on the ferry and bridge were referred for study to the finance-auditing committee.

Riders will be able to park free weekdays in the district's parking lot planned at Marinship, and will have to buy their ferry ticket as they board the feeder bus. The bus also will pick up commuters between the parking lot and downtown ferry landing for free, but again the ferry tickets will have to be bought upon boarding the bus.

Twenty-ride ticket books will be available with no discount at $10. Children under 5 years of age will be carried free when accompanied by an adult. Children between the ages of 5 through 16 will pay 25 cents each way.

Adult ferry riders who board the feeder bus between Mill Valley and the Marinship parking lot will pay 25 cents more, and children will pay 10 cents more.

The committee's recommendations will go to the full board for its ratification next Friday.

The district's transit manager, Donald White, pushed hard but unsuccessfully for a discounted monthly pass. It would eliminate some 43 money transactions a month for each ferry rider, he said.

"It may be politically unpalatable," Sheeks said, but the district may have to hike bridge fares to encourage use of the ferry—and busses when the district gets them."

In other business, the committee recommended leasing the former heliport building at the San Francisco Ferry Building for use as a ferry terminal and offices for $450 a month.

District engineer Robert E. Shields reported that the selection of the Marinship parking lot had boiled down to two parcels, which he declined to identify. One was about 1.4 acres, which could hold 200 to 250 cars, he said, "with expansion possibilities up to seven acres."

A hearing aid consultant was testing an elderly woman's hearing when he found her ear blocked by a grasshopper. It had apparently been there for months without her knowledge.

Today is Friday, July 17, the 198th day of 1970 with 167 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase.

The morning star is Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

On this date in history:

In 1936 the Spanish Cvil War began with General Fransisco Franco leading army troops against the government.

In 1948 Southern Democrats from 13 states organized a state's rights party to oppose the Truman-Barkley ticket. Its presidential ticket was headed by Strom Thurmond.

In 1955 Arco, Idaho, a town of some 13 hundred people, became the first community in the world to receive all its light and power from atomic energy.

In 1968 a National Airlines jetliner with 64 aboard was hijacked to Cuba.

A thought for the day: Roman orator Marcus Tullius Cicero said, "If you aspire to the highest place it is no disgrace to stop at the second or even the third."

Defense Fund Allocated By Elks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Elks are allocating more than $1.5 million for national defense, in case of an emergency.

At their 106th annual grand lodge meeting Wednesday, the organization authorized assessing each member $1 for use in a national disaster or for national defense.

During World War II, the Elks used a similar allocation for a recruiting drive benefiting the Seabees and air cadets.

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Expert's Favorite Hand Needs Odd Approach, Clever Strategy

When a bridge expert tells you about one of his favorite hands and relates that he played it in a tournament a few years ago, don't question him too narrowly. If you force him to admit that he made the hand up, he may ask equally embarrassing questions about your own favorite hands. This explains why I can't tell you exactly when and where Swedish expert Jan Wohlin played today's hand.

GIVEAWAY DOUBLE

West led the king of diamonds, and Wohlin won with the ace. West was a conservative player and had doubled with a very decisive air, Wohlin told me, so it wasn't hard to place him with A-K-J of clubs.

Now that you know how Wohlin placed the missing cards, you can easily work out the winning line of play. Try it for yourself before you read on.

ODD BEGINNING

Wohlin began by leading the king of hearts to dummy's ace. Then he ruffed a low heart and led a club toward dummy. West stepped up with the king of clubs, and East dropped the ten, much to Wohlin's relief.

West led the queen of diamonds to make dummy ruff. Now the plot was clear. If South got to his hand and led another club, West would take the ace of clubs and lead another diamond to maike dummy ruff with the queen. That would set up West's jack of clubs as the setting trick.

RUFFING STRATEGY

Wohlin ruffed the ten of hearts, cleared the top spades out of the way, led the ten of diamonds to ruff out West's jack, and ruffed dummy's queen of hearts. Then Wohlin led one of his two good diamonds.

If West ruffed low, dummy would also discard, and South woul lead the other diamond. If West ruffe low, dummy would overruff and lead a good spade. If West ruffed high, dummy would discard; and declarer would easily make the rest.

Not exactly the kind of hand you want to play after a long day's work.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold:

♠ - 10 8 4 3 2
♥ - 7 4 3
♦ - 7 5 3 2
♣ - 10.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

In theory, this hand is not worth a response. In practice, no expert would pass. You just have to make some effort when you have so many spades and a side singleton.

'Reservations' To Gigantic Water Project

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — "Strong reservations" about the ecological effects of California's multibillion-dollar water project were expressed yesterday by the head of a federal study of San Francisco Bay.

Donald S. McCulloch, a marine geologist with the U.S. Geological Survey, issued his warning in a presentation of the study's findings to the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission. (See another BCDC story, page 21.)

The report concluded that fresh water from the Sacramento River, which is to be diverted by the project to Southern California, "is a major quality control" of bay waters, and that a reduction in its flow "could have significant effects on the overall quality of the bay."

The report was released on July 1, and promptly was cited by opponents of the water project as a reason to halt the project. State officials, however, have stuck by their previous assertion that the quality of the bay depends primarily on tidal action, and that the federal report was inadequately documented.

The report stopped short of suggesting a halt tot he water project, but McCulloch — pressed yesterday by opponents of the project —reluctantly conceded his fears about the project.

Asked if he thought the project should proceed in light of the report's findings, McCulloch said, "I would at least have strong reservations without doing some critical thinking on this."

The study clearly demonstrated that the quality of bay waters had "a real dependence" on the amount of fresh water discharged from the river system, he said.

He and his colleagues, in a two-hour presentation, detailed the evidence they gathered through monthly inspections since early 1969 at 39 check points in the bay.

Their findings also convinced them that there was a connection between salinity and fresh water flow, with salinity in the south bay exceeding the salt level in the ocean during times of low fresh water flow.

They also said their evidence "strongly suggests" that decreased fresh water flow affects plant life in the bay.

McCulloch acknowledged the river flow was difficult to measure. The next step should be to measure flows over a longer period, "but that's beyond our funding capacity," he said.

Commissioner James F. McCormick, also a member of the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board, commented that the report's findings showed that fresh water from the river was "far more important than suspected in the past."

Commission chairman Melvin B. Lane shut off criticism of the water project, saying, "We're not sitting in judgment of the water project — but we are concerned with anything affecting the bay."

The commission's review of the water project will conclude on Aug. 6 with a presentation of the project by Norman B. Livermore Jr., secretary of the state Resources Agency.

Bay Area Planning Agency Squeaks By

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill collecting nine San Francisco Bay Area counties under a vast regional government planning agency has won bare Assembly approval after an intense floor fight.

The proposal, drafted after three years of negotiations, went to the Senate on a 41-22 vote, the minimum needed for passage.

The floor struggle crossed party lines and split the ranks of Bay Area lawmakers, some of whom criticized it as "premature" while others praised it as "long overdue."

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, voted for the bill.

The bill by Democratic Assemblyman John Knox of Richmond creates a "Bay Area Conservation and Development Agency" which would develop a regional resources master plan for land use and control.

The agency, if approved by the legislature and endorsed by the governor, would be subject to voter ratification next June. The agency would have no operative powers of its own but would be authorized to prohibit the 90 Bay Area cities and hundreds of special districts from violating the plan.

Included in the regional plan would be the counties of San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Alameda, Contra Costa, Solano, Napa, Sonoma and Marin.

The planning agency would be financed by a gross receipts tax on businesses and by a maximum one per cent surcharge on a taxpayer's state personal income tax.

The agency's 40 member governing board would include 20 persons elected by the voters and 20 city councilmen and county supervisors who would be appointed from their jurisdictions.

Knox, chairman of the Local Government Committee, conceded he was not satisfied with the makeup of the board membership but said he agreed to it to win support of the Advisory Association of Bay Area Governments.

But he drew opposition from Republican Assemblyman Don Mulford of Piedmont and Democratic Assemblyman John Burton of San Francisco, usually foes on other issues.

"This measure is premature for the people in the East Bay," Mulford argued. "This is a new tax measure."

He said it should be shelved until "we seek the advice of the people in the Bay Area who will be paying the new taxes for this new layer of government." Knox said Bay Area leaders already had been consulted and supported the plan.

Burton, who said he could "go as far as abolishing the county boards of supervisors within the region," challenged the wisdom of giving the appointed board members the power to levy regional taxes.

"The power to tax is the power to destroy," he declared. "I would rather have no government than an appointed government."

Assembly Democratic Leader John J. Miller of Berkeley termed the measure "a step in the right direction" while Republican Assemblyman George Milias of Gilroy said the bill "should have been enacted five or ten years ago."

"The Bay Area has been almost in a situation of planned chaos," Milias said.

Assembly Defeats Proposal To Tighten Vote Regulations

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly locked itself in partisan wrangling Thursday and defeated both Republican and Democratic-sponsored legislation designed to tighten voting regulations.

Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Piedmont, lost his bill on a 40-33 vote, only one short for passage. The Assembly also defeated a measure by Assemblyman George N. Zenovich, D-Fresno, 26-17.

Mulford and Zenovich are their parties' caucus chairmen.

Mulford's measure would have allowed persons other than members of precinct boards to challenge an individual's right to vote. The final decision on voting would be made by the precinct inspector.

"I think it simply offers an occasion for certain individuals to infringe upon the right to vote," charged Assemblyman Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys.

Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, said it would "create chaos in the polling place."

But Mulford warned against allowing a "Tammany-type" operation to develop in California and said as many as 800 persons had illegally registered to vote in his district.

After Democrats refused to supply the votes necessary to pass the Mulford measure, Republicans failed to cast the needed votes for the Zenovich bill.

Zenovich's legislation would require an absentee ballot to be returned either by mail or in person to the county clerk. It is designed to prevent party workers from collecting the ballots from invalids or other persons who vote absentee and returning them to the clerk.

Charged With Having A Potted Pot Plant

Barbara Lisa Cooper, 19, of 9 Humboldt Avenue, Apt. 1, San Anselmo, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of possessing a potted marijuana plant Wednesday in San Rafael. She was released on her promise to appear July 30 for possible certification to juvenile court.

San Rafael police said her car was double-parked at 55 Bahia Way, where Miss Cooper formerly lived, and police checking the car saw the plant.

Volkswagen Stolen From Parking Area

A red 1970 Volkswagen sedan, license 678-BDT, was stolen between 8:30 p.m. Tuesday and 12:15 a.m. Wednesday from the Country Club Bowl parking lot, 88 Vivian Way, San Rafael police reported.

The car is owned by Gerald R. Webb, 100 Reed Boulevard, Mill Valley, police reported.

Nine-County Transport Agency Gains

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate Governmental Organization Committee Thursday approved an Assembly-passed bill to set up a nine-county metropolitan transportation agency in the San Francisco Bay Area.

The measure by Assemblyman John Foran, chairman of the Assembly Transportation Committee, was sent to the Finance Committee. It is an outgrowth of extensive legislative hearings held the past two years.

The bill creates a 19-member Metropolitan Transportation Commission and assigns it the responsibility for transportation planning in the area. The commission would be authorized to approve the construction or modification of all toll bridges spanning the bay.

U.S. Physician Tells Of Torture Practices At Second Viet Prison

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An American woman doctor has reported widespread instances of torture, unspeakable living conditions and other "inhuman practices" at a second South Vietnamese prison.

Dr. Marjorie Nelson, New Haven, Conn., made the report in letters to Reps. William R. Anderson, D-Tenn., and Augustus F. Hawkins, D-Calif.—the two congressmen who reported the infamous "tiger cages" at Con Son Island after a recent trip to South Vietnam.

Dr. Nelson, who worked with the American Friends Service Committee, told in her letters of conditions at the Quang Ngai province civilian prison between September, 1968 and October, 1969. Anderson placed her letter in the Congressional Record and Rep. John E. Moss, Calif., called her to testify today before his House Foreign Operations subcommittee.

Anderson, after speaking with her on the telephone, described Dr. Nelson as objective and "not the emotional type." Here are excerpts from her letter:

Torture —"I saw dozens of patients with bruises of varying severity. I also examined patients who had coughed up, vomited or urinated blood after being beaten about the chest, back and stomach. On at least two occasions I was able to document, by X-rays, fractures of the bones following beatings. Prisoners also told me of being tortured by electricity, with wires attached to ears, nipples, and genitalia, by being forced to drink concoctions containing powdered lime and other noxious substances, by being tied up and suspended by ropes, often upside down, from the rafters for hours . . . I examined a woman seven months pregnant who had been badly beaten the previous week. This was the worst example . . .

Conditions —"The nurse assigned to Quang Ngai prison was an opium addict and I only met him in the dispensary once in my 13 months there. Prisoners themselves manned the dispensary ... In addition to the crowding there was neither running water nor latrines in any of the rooms where prisoners were confined from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. and food and water were both provided in unsanitary if not uncontaminated condition."

Sentences —Officials said 80 per cent of the inmates were "political prisoners," wrote Dr. Nelson, but conversations with many of them indicated their political crime was improper or incomplete papers, presence in an unauthorized place "or in the case of the women, inability to account for the wherabouts of their husbands who were therefore assumed to be NLF (Viet Cong) guerrillas." Officials said no one was supposed to stay in the prison for more than six months but the prisoners "never had a trial, and never knew the length of their sentence. I talked with several who were in for as long as a year.

Dr. Nelson said she and a fellow worker unsuccessfully appealed for help to the American province senior adviser and the Vietnamese province chief.

Anderson said in an interview today that he felt all along that what he and Hawkins saw in Con Son was widespread throughout the South Vietnamese civilian prison system.

"Her letter certainly is a validation of that fact," Anderson said.

Mill Valley Considers Trade For New Park

The Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission is considering exchanging Sycamore Park with a private developer for new parkland on both sides of Arroyo Corte Madera Del Presidio.

Parks and Recreation Director Don L. Dimitratos said that the firm, Trans-Marin Properties, wants to swap 55,000 square feet of land for the 44,000-square-foot park and would build an apartment development there.

The firm agreed to landscape the new park for the city if the trade is made, Dimitratos said.

He said that the new creekside park would solve a problem with vandalism. "Sycamore Park is so secluded that people don't use it very much and vandals are able to operate," he said. "The new park would be out in the open and less prone to vandalism."

The commission agreed in principle Wednesday to accept not less than 22,000 square feet on the north side of the creek and took the entire proposal under consideration, Dimitratos said.

The Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission also:

BOYLE PARK — Heard a report from Dimitratos that the creek is eroding Boyle Park and scheduled a field trip to view the damage.

FOOD STAND — Approved an application by the National Little League Association to reconstruct the food stand at the baseball field at Boyle Park.

Pair Charged In Liquor Burglary

Donald Albert Johnson, 18, of 22 Privateer Drive, and Jack Llewellyn Keith, 19, of 1441 Casa Buena Drive, both of Corte Madera, were arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on charges of burgling a liquor warehouse yesterday in San Rafael.

Both were released in their parents' custody and ordered to return July 30 for possible certification of the case to juvenile court.

Nejedly Sued In Wrongful Death

MARTINEZ (UPI) — State Sen. John Nejedly, R-Contra Costa, was named Thursday in a wrongful death suit filed by the parents of a child who drowned at a Sierra County camp he owns.

In their $125,000 suit, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Thomas assert that Edward C. Thomas, 13, of Martinez lost his life because no guard was on duty last July 29 at the camp near Johnsville.

When the accident occurred the child was on a Martinez Boys Club outing.

There were other defendants in addition to Nejedly.

Zucker Hired To Lead Economic Planning Group

Paul C. Zucker, former Marin County planning director, has been hired as executive director of a nonprofit corporation in Berkeley to do planning work in Fresno and Kings counties.

The agency, called West Sidie Planning Group Inc., is funded by a $99,000 grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity to aid low income persons. It was set up in March by Michael R. Peevey of San Rafael, in his capacity as coordinator of public programs at the University of California Institute of Industrial Relations.

Peevey, who announced Zucker's appointment, said: "We are pleased to have a man of Mr. Zucker's stature as our first director."

Zucker will receive $20,000 per year. He was getting $22,200 per year as county planning director until he was fired last month after an unsuccessful election bid to oust Supervisor John F. McInnis.

Photographer Of UPI Needs Blood After Operation

Blood is needed for Paul Gorman, a United Press International photographer who underwent surgery July 9 for a hemorrhaging ulcer, UPI reported today.

Gorman has used up 13 pints of blood that must be replaced to build up blood bank reserves, UPI said.

Anyone wishing to donate at the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank in San Rafael or San Francisco should specify that the blood is for the San Francisco-Oakland Newspaper Guild account.

House Bill Would Limit Candidates' Radio, TV Costs

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House Commerce Committee approved yesterday a bill to limit radio and television campaign spending by candidates in presidential, congressional and gubernatorial races.

The bill also would repeal so-called equal time provisions requiring broadcasters to give candidates for office equal air time. That presumably could allow broadcasters to give free time to major party candidates without being obliged to give the same privilege to others.

The House bill is similar in most respects to a Senate-passed bill. The major differences are that the Senate bill would not affect campaigns for governor and was limited to general elections, whereas the House bill also would apply to primaries.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Final Documentary By Huntley Great

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Chet Huntley's final documentary for NBC-TV, seen Thursday night, was one to remember—an hour look at living and working conditions of migrant laborers in Florida.

Huntley, who retires Aug. 1, and his producer-director, Martin Carr, in essence did a followup to Edward R. Murrow's landmark documentary of a decade ago, "Harvest of Shame," which exposed the terrible conditions of migrant workers.

In fact, Thursday night's program, "Migrant—an NBC White Paper," used brief excerpts from the 10-year-old Murrow expose, which had appeared on a competing network, CBS-TV.

Although Huntley made clear that Thursday's documentary could have been made in any number of other states as well, there is no question the program will cause considerable reaction in Florida.

The state's governor declined to be interviewed during the program. And the hour itself showed footage that illustrated the hostility the reporting and camera crew found in some quarters.

With typical cowardice, the big television sponsors stayed away from advertising on the broadcast because it took a total stand, despite its presentation of both sides.

All or most of the commercials during the hour, it seemed were public service announcements. Among other things that undoubtedly terrified potential sponsors was the fact that the program named the names of some cmmpanies involved in the migrants' conditions.

For Huntley, the broadcast was an exit with a bang, not a whimper — an hour historically and journalistically tied to the tradition of vidio crusading espoused by Murrow, and a piece of slashing, committed work in an era of too many soft-soap specials.

For producer-director Carr, who also did his own reporting and interviewing in the field, the program marked another step toward recognition for unrelenting television work in the field of social problems. His "Hunger in America," for CBS-TV, won a fistful of awards and also touched off a furor that made headlines.

"Poverty and despair" is how the program described the lives of most migrants, adding that their average annual income is $891 and that they don't have rights guaranteed the rest of us.

"They will not work," said one grower. A worker, meanwhile, said he earned $20 a week for his wife and six children, and that $16 a week went for rent. An employer made remarks about Negroes that are bound to get strong retorts, and said growers had their own financial problems.

There were irrefutable shots of living conditions of migrants —depressing places with outside water supply and toilets. A landlord admitted to "substandard" conditions in her homes.

The poor schooling chances for migrants' children were noted. Eighty per cent, it was said, don't get to high school. In an unforgettable interview, a 15-year-old boy who already looked worn out by life said he quit school because he was made to feel like a bum. "I guess," he said, "It's what I am anyway." The program added that the life expectancy of a migrant worker is 49 years.

Wind Instrument Workshop Planned

A man who plays the krumhorn, rauschpfeife, kortholt and schreierei has scheduled a workshop in Marin, sponsored by the Marin Recorder Society.

Shelley Gruskin of the New York Pro Musica, who also plays baroque flute, recorders and bagpipes, will run the workshop from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. July 26 at choral hall in the Fine Arts Building at College of Marin.

Interested persons may get in touch with Jack Taylor, 215 Stuyvesant Drive, San Anselmo 94960.

Inmate Found Too Insane To Be Executed

A Marin Superior Court jury has found that a San Quentin death row inmate, who had been convicted of murdering a Los Angeles bus driver in 1967, is too insane to be executed.

Under a state Penal Code section, a jury must decide on such a sanity issue after the warden states there is a doubt as to a convicted person's sanity.

Barry Floyd, 23, a Black Muslim, will now be sent to Atascadero State Hospital for the criminally insane, according to San Quentin Associate Warden James W. L. Park.

The jury in the courtroom of Judge Samuel W. Gardiner heard testimony from psychiatrists before making its decision Wednesday.

Floyd and another man shot John G. Hartzell 71, when he refused to hand over money in a holdup aboard a bus.

CHAPTER IN BAY AREA

Aim Of Forty-Plus: Finding Posts For Jobless Executives

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Increasing unemployment in managerial ranks has brought Forty-Plus to the Bay Area.

Forty-Plus is a help-one-another organization, modeled somewhat on Weight Watchers and Alcoholics Anonymous — but with a difference.

The difference is that Forty-Plus members have no behavior problem to overcome. Their problem is lack of a job.

To qualify for membership, a man or woman must be at least 40, unemployed and seeking employment; must have experience in executive, administrative or professional fields with average earned income the last five years of at least $12,000 per year, and "must be able and willing to contribute to the organization at least the minimum amount of money and personal time as specified by the board of directors."

Forty-Plus began in New York, in the now-almost-forgotten days of the depression of the 1930s. It expanded to the West Coast with a chapter in Los Angeles five or six years ago. The Northern California chapter came into being early this year, with headquarters at 1990 Embarcadero, Oakland.

Of the chapter's 31 current active members, only two are from Marin — one from Santa Venetia, the other from Novato. Most of the unemployed 40-plusers are from the lower Peninsula, where aerospace shutdowns have brought heavy unemployment at Lockheed Aircraft and its suppliers.

The Northern California chapter boasts that in its short existence, 30 per cent of its members have found jobs they wanted. Not all found them through Forty-Plus, however; some of its members are enrolled also with the California State Employment Service's Experience Unlimited group in San Francisco, which reportedly is modeled on Forty-Plus.

The chapter operates as a no-fee employment agency. But beyond that, it helps the members to market their own skills. They get instructions in how to go after a job, including how to prepare personal inventories, resumes, profiles, letters of application, answers to advertisements, and applications themselves — and how to conduct themselves at an interview. (The interview instructions in the preparation packet given new members are detailed and explicit; Forty Plus members are used to being interviewers instead of interviewees.)

The "minimum amount of personal time" each must contribute includes attendance at a weekly meeting and two days a week in the Oakland office, doing whatever tasks are assigned. Dues are $8.50 per month.

A typical profile — that of one of the Marin members, published in the chapter's latest "Executive Manpower Bulletin," reads like this:

"Administrative/Credit Manager. — Adept at wearing several hats. Competent to organize, coordinate, and direct administrative activities to enhance and produce profits. Capable of developing and implementing sound credit policies and procedures. Strong experience in effective utilization of services of rail and truck traffic industries and insurance agencies and in handling personnel matters. Skilled in accounting procedures through statement preparation and analysis. Good communicator and team worker."

The bulletin containing this and 28 other such descriptions has been circulated to potential employers on the chapter's list as one step in the research for new jobs. The chapter says many "nibbles" — and some jobs — result from these descriptions.

Hardest to place among the 29 listed in the latest bulletin may be the 10 engineers, their very number indicating the tight employment market in this field. The bulletin also lists four in credit and finance, one in public relations and communications, four in sales and marketing, two in manufacturing, and eight in general management.

Those who find jobs through Forty-Plus often remain "life members," paying smaller dues and offering a pool of potential employers to future members. But many leave by another route. Discouraged after months of unemployment, they either just drop out or take nonmanagement jobs — like the aeronautics engineer found driving a taxicab. These dropouts have come to doubt the truth of the Forty-Plus slogan: "There is no substitute for experience."

GIANTS VS. EXPOS TONIGHT

Mays Expected To Sit It Out

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Willie Mays, in quest of basehit No. 3000, will be on the bench tonight when the San Francisco Giants take on the Montreal Expos.

Still a superstar but by no means superhuman at age 39, the Giants' centerfielder said he was exhausted and in need of rest following Tuesday night's All-Star game.

Mays, a starter in the mid-season classic at Cincinnati, would like to savor an equivalent string of days off already enjoyed by nearly all his teammates earlier this week.

A DELAY

His voluntary trip to the bench, barring pinchhit duty, should delay at least for one game Mays' inauguration into the 3000 club. He is two hits away from becoming the 10th man to reach the plateau.

Tonight's game introduces a series of six at Candlestick Park, which should give Mays enough time to hit the magic number in front of the hometown fans.

If he gets the basehit at home, all fans in attendance will be given a free pass to attend another Giants' 1970 home game.

Mays had been swatting one and two hits daily and appeared a good bet to break the 3000 barrier during the Giants' last homestand at the beginning of the month. He fell far short, but seemed to have a good chance at reaching the milestone on the road, just before the All-Star break.

THEN METS

He failed again, however, and now it looks like Candlestick Park will be the scene of the event after all.

The Giants play only two games against Montreal. The world champion New York Mets come into San Francisco Sunday and Monday and Philadelphia follows for a two-day stay.

AN EVEN BREAK

A's Still Hoping For Win Streak

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Oakland A's still are looking for that badly needed victory streak.

Unable to "get it together" this season for a long string of wins, Oakland has remained docile in its efforts to overhaul the consistent Minnesota Twins in the American League West.

The A's have not taken maximum advantage of Minnesota's occasional setbacks and now lie nine games away from the top of the American League West. They could have been eight games out, but they split a doubleheader Thursday against the New York Yankees.

TOP EFFORT

Chuck Dobson cut loose with one of his overpowering performances to thwart the Yankees 8-2 in the opener. But Diego Segui failed to get hitting support in the nightcap and suffered a 4-1 defeat.

Dobson, among the league's superb pitchers when he's sharp, also is one of the most unpredictable. All eight of his wins this season have come through strongly pitched complete games. Most of his 10 losses have been suffered after he was machinegunned from the mound in the early innings.

On Thursday he hurled a masterful seven-hitter in which he issued only one base on balls while striking out five batters. he helped himself on the scoreboard by bellyflopping into first base to beat out a bunt on which a run scored, then diving head first at home plate to score himself moments later.

Dobson's bunt was an unusual maneuver, since there were two out at the time. The play led to a five-run fourth inning as Campy Campaneris, Joe Rudi and Reggie Jackson followed with run-producing singles.

Frank Fernandez belted his 10th homer of the year in the second inning with a man on

THAT'S ALL PARTNER — An exhausted Lee Trevino rests on a fence on the 18th hole prior to dropping out of the Philadelphia Golf Classic. (UPI Telephoto)

Nicklaus, Trevino Drop Out Of Philadelphia Golf

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Labron Harris, one of three tied for the lead going into today's second round of the Philadelphia Golf Classic, holds a masters degree in mathematics but tournament officials might not need him to count the gate for the remainder of the 72-hole event.

The tourney, already devoid of several "name" players, lost two other top drawing cards Thursday when British Open crowd-pleaser Lee Trevino suddenly withdrew.

Nicklaus, a two-time winner in the annual classic at the Whitemarsh Valley Club, asked to be excused because he was "just too tired" and emotionally drained after last Monday's playoff victory in the British Open at St. Andrews, Scotland.

Tournament director Paul Warren said Trevino, the tour's 1970 leading money winner, "had some very personal problems at home that he wanted to settle. He asked to be excused and I excused him."

Nicklaus had an opening round 74, two over par, and Trevino 71, one under.

Harris, a former U.S. amateur champion, joined tour veteran Don Massengale and young star Bob Murphy, the 1968 winner here, in shooting five-under par 67's in the opening round of the four-day competition for the $30,000 first prize.

The three held a one-stroke lead over five players bunched at 68. They were Masters champion Billy Casper, Charles Coody, Dick Hyan, 1959 Masters titlist Art Wal and defending Classic champion Dave Hill.

Hill, "dead tired" and troubled with aching legs because of a bladder condition, was a reluctant entry and admitted prior to the tournament that he would not be here except for the fact that he was defending champion.

Two strokes back of the leaders at 69 were PGA champion Ray Floyd, Australia's Bruce Devlin, Gibby Gilbert and Bunky Henry. Napa's Ron Cerrudo was in contention with a 70.

JACK HANLEY

Unique Trophy For Ron Hunt

Ron Hunt will receive a unqiue trophy during the second half of the 1970 baseball season. It is a trophy few players would try to win. In fact, Hunt is the only player qualified for the award, a replica of himself with a ball stuck in his ribs.

Appropriately, the American Medical Association is sponsoring the award in an unusual tribute to Hunt and his remarkable ability to absorb bruises that would put other players out of action.

Hunt came to the attention of AMA researchers because of the records he set in 1968 and again in 1969. In each of those seasons Hunt was hit 25 times by pitches. This season Hunt should crack his own major league record. He already has been hit 17 times this year.

"I didn't know I was ahead of my 1968-69 pace," said Hunt. "It really surprises me because I've been making a determined effort to get out of the way of inside pitches."

Just A Little Exaggeration

Hunt exaggerates when he says he is making a "determined" effort. He does make an effort because baseball rules say that a batter must try to get out of the way of a tight pitch. But making a half-spin in the batter's box hardly can be called a "determined" effort.

Hunt admits he crowds the plate but not for the purpose of being hit by pitches.

"It's the only way I can hit the ball with my choke hold that uses only the barrel of the bat," said Hunt. "If I didn't crowd the plate I'd be a pigeon for pitches on the outside corner. I couldn't reach them."

Hunt does a remarkable job hitting pitches in the strike zone. His batting average of .305 going into the second half of the season is the best evidence of that.

Hunt also does a remarkable job of getting hit by pitches outside the strike zone. That is evident from the 1968-69 records he set and his current hit-by-pitch total.

He wasn't hit for the 17th time last season until Aug. 23. So he is more than a month ahead of his record-tieing pace of last year.

"That really surprises me," Hunt said. "Maybe some pitchers don't think I try to get out of the way of tight pitches but frankly I've never given much thought to what they think."

One More For The Record

Hunt also was surprised by the fact that the next time he is hit by a pitch he will become the undisputed all-time National League champ.

"I didn't know I was tied with Frank Robinson until some researcher showed me the records in Houston during our last series just before the All-Star break," said Hunt.

Before he was traded by Cincinnati to Baltimore five years ago, Robinson held the National League hit-by-pitch total at 119 which is exactly Hunt's career total now.

"That really surprises me," said Hunt. "Imagine being hit 119 times."

Hunt may profess to be surprised by his hit-by-pitch season and career totals but every time he strolls to first base with a new bruise his teammates are the ones who are really surprised.

"That's one record I could never go for," said Willie Mays who admits he has no tolerance whatsoever to pain.

Tennis Victory: $35,000

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Neither Rod nor I ever had an experience like that before," Ken Rosewall was saying. "There's always pressure and tension in a big match, but when you are playing for first money of $35,000—as I say, neither Rod nor I ever . . . ever . . ."

The voice of the little muscle man of pro tennis trailed off and the sweat-glimmering shoulders heaved from the deep sigh. He tugged at the towel across his waist and managed a wan smile.

Across the room, the victorious Rod Laver, richer by $35,000 for his 6-4, 6-3, 6-3 victory over his fellow Australian Thursday night in the $50,000 final of the $200,000 Tennis Champions Classic, was almost echoing Rosewall's words.

"It was unbelievable the amount of concentration required in such a match," Laver said. "You can't get it out of your mind that there is that much money waiting for you. I think I concentrated fairly well, but I was nervous. Very nervous. But when I concentrate like that I seem to see the ball even better and I can control the racket. Some fellows, when the tension gets that high, can keep the ball in sight, but for some reason they let their racket get wobbly."

The victory pushed Laver over the $100,000 mark in earnings for the year, and Rosewall had to content himself with a mere $15,000 for losing.

Placekicker Gossett 49er Holdout

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Placekicker Bruce Gossett, obtained in a trade from the Los Angeles Rams, said he may sit out the 1970 season unless the San Francisco 49ers meet his salary demand.

Gossett, traded for defensive back Kermit Alexander between seasons, still has a year to go on a contract he signed Angeles. The 49ers want to honor that contract but Gossett wants a new one.

"I have not signed yet and if my salary request is not met, I won't," Gossett said. "My wife told me she could go back to work if I have to stay out of football."

Russia Next In Line For U.S. Trackmen

STUTTGART, Germany (UPI)—The youngest U.S. track and field team ever to go overseas added a smashing victory over West Germany to its laurels Thursday and head coach Leroy Walker predicted an "excellent chance" of beating the Soviet Union at Leningrad next week.

The United States led all the way to beat the Germans 122-100 at Stuttgart's Neckar Stadium. Last week the Yanks, averaging just 22 years of age, came from behind to beat France 117-94 in Paris.

PRIDE

"The great character of this group, the team spirit and the individual pride of our athletes helped them to overcome their inexperience," Walker said.

"They are getting more mature with every international meet and if my information about the Russians is right, we have an excellent chance of beating them as well."

The 52-year-old coach pointed out almost a dozen of his squad members set career bests in the dual meet against the Germans.

"This proves their character. They are coming into shape. This really is a fine team and there won't be any changes for the Leningrad meet," Walker promised, even after a number of U.S. Olympic stars not traveling with the team showed up here.

FOUR STARS

Lee Evans, John Pennel, Charlie Greene and Marty Liquori either failed to make the team or decided to travel on their own because they did not have enough time to stay with the U.S. team for three weeks.

"This is our team, we will stay together," Walker said, ruling out the possibility that the new arrivals might compete in Leningrad.

Ken Swenson's new U.S. 800-meter record of one minute, 44.8 seconds topped the long list

Leonard Sets Speedway Mark

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

ONTARIO, Calif. — Ontario Motor Speedway has a new course record of 172.8 miles an hour, posted by Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif., Thursday while testing tires.

Leonard thus becomes the course record holder at both Ontario and Indianapolis Speedway, where he set the mark of 181.9 miles an hour two years ago in Andy Granatelli's turbine car.

The Ontario mark was set in Parnelli Jones' turbocharged Ford Colt and bettered the old mark of 170.5 miles an hour recorded by Mark Donohue last month in Roger Penske's Ford.

Baseball

BOSTON — Several managers have testified in behalf of former American League umpires Al Salerno and Bill Valentine, who were fired for "incompetence" last year by league president Joe Cronin.

Testifying before the National Labor Relations Board, with which Salerno and Valentine have filed charges of unfair labor practices, Al Dark, manager of the Cleveland Indians, stated that he rated the two in the top half of the league's umpires. Dick Williams and Eddie Stanky, both former American League managers, also testified in the umpires behalf.

Golf

TULSA, Okla. — As a result of his great showing in the British Open, Doug Sanders has been invited to compete for a record $200,000 purse in the 52nd annual PGA Championship Golf Tournament Aug. 13-16.

Tennis

WASHINGTON — America's three top-ranked players scored easy singles victories yesterday to move into the quarterfinal round of the $35,000 Washington Star International tennis championships.

Stan Smith defeated Charles Pasarell, 6-4, 9-7, Arthur Ashe downed Jaime Fillol, 6-2, 6-2, and Cliff Richey stopped Mike Esteo, 6-0, 6-3.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Douglas Clyde "Peahead" Walker, who coached tiny Wake Forest College to football prominence and later scouted for the New York Giants of the National Football League, died of a stroke yesterday at the age of 71.

Nine Qualify For Junior Golf Tourney

Jeff Bricker, who as a freshman helped Tamalpais High School win the 1970 Marin County Athletic League golf championship, yesterday fired a 73 at Meadow Club to lead nine players who qualified for the Northern California Golf Association Junior Amateur Championships Aug. 10-14 at Lake Merced Golf and Country Club in Daly City.

Seven players from Marin County, including Bricker's Tamalpais teamates Rick Goldfien and Mark Churchfield, who finished second and fourth, were among the top nine out of a field of 24 junior golfers.

Bricker was two-over-par on the 6,383 yard Fairfax layout, one of 10 qualifying courses, and finished five strokes ahead of second place Goldfien. Steve Petterle of San Rafael tied Goldfien at 78, and Churchfield, at 79, tied with Russ Gardiner of Novato.

Wes Davis of Susanville and Redwood High School teamates Jeb Harrison and Steve Hartman all shot 80. The last qualifying spot went to Dave Gonsalves of Napa, 81.

base as the A's scored their initial three runs. An error by third baseman Jerry Kenney introduced each Oakland rally.

The A's found righthander Stan Bahnsen (8-6) tougher to solve than lefty Fritz Peterson, who lost the opener. Bahnsen limited Oakland to four hits in seven innings while his teammates pecked away at Segui, now 4-6. Pete Ward drove in three of New York's four runs in the second game.

The A's resume their four-game series against the Yanks tonight when the top hurler of each club takes the hill. Jim Hunter (13-7) of Oakland faces Mel Stottlemyre (8-8) of the Yankees.

of personal bests. The 22-year old Kansas State graduate clipped one-tenth of a second off Jim Ryun's four-year old U.S. record.

SURPRISE

"I just could not believe I was going so fast," an exuberant Swenson said after upsetting what is probably the most experienced pair of 800-meter runners in the world.

Walter Adams, fourth in the 1968 Mexico City Olympics and Franz Josef Kemper, European record holder at 1:44.9, have been running together for several years, but this time they could not match Swenson's tremendous finish.

"I had to thank Mark Winzenried for the record," Swenson said, paying tribute to his University of Wisconsin teammate.

Winzenried set a tremendous pace for the first 600 meters.

"All we wanted was to run fast from the start and split the two Germans," Swenson explained. "We never intended to go for a record. Mark sacrificed himself."

While the American men won in stylish fashion, the Yank girls dropped an 82-53 decision to the West Germans.

Pirates Lose, But Will History Repeat Itself?

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Pittsburgh Pirates couldn't have planned it any better. Well, maybe just a little better.

The Pirates unveiled their new $35 million Three Rivers Stadium Thursday night the same way they inaugurated old Forbes field 61 years ago . . . by losing by a 3-2 score. While a victory certainly could have been more appreciated by Pirate fans, the fact remains that in 1909 when the club began play in Forbes Field by losing to Chicago 3-2, it went on to capture the National League pennant.

ANOTHER CHANCE

By losing to Cincinnati 3-2 in the first game in its new park, the Pirates now hope history will repeat itself. If it does and Pittsburgh goes on to capture the East Division crown in the National League, the Pirates can take comfort in the fact they can get their revenge when they open the NL's pennant playoff at home against, in all likelihood, the same Reds who spoiled their Three Rivers debut.

The park may have been different but the Reds and Pirates fashioned a couple of familiar scenes in their new surroundings. Cincinnati's Tony Perez, leading the majors in homers, belted his 30th round tripper of the season while Willie Stargell connected for the Pirates as he had done many times before at Forbes Field. Stargell's blast had some added monetary value as he won $1,000, donated by a local lumber company, for being the first Pirate to hit a homer in the new stadium.

STILL 10 GAMES

Perez, in addition to his fifth inning homer, also singled in the ninth, and after a walk to Johnny Bench, scored the winning run on a single by Lee May off loser Dock Ellis. Clay Carroll, with two innings of hitless relief, picked up his sixth win in seven decisions as the Reds maintained their 10-game lead over second place Los Angeles in the West Division.

The Dodgers kept pace by beating the New York Mets 3-1, while elsewhere in the NL, Houston nipped Chicago 2-1, Atlanta trimmed St. Louis 7-3, and Philadelphia outslugged San Diego 10-7. San Francisco and Montreal were idle.

A.L. SCORES

In the American League, New York and Oakland split with the Yankees winning the nightcap 4-1 after the Athletics took the opener 8-2, Boston shaded Milwaukee 6-5 in 0 innings, California edged Washington 3-2, Cleveland blanked Kansas City 6-0, Baltimore beat Minnesota 5-1, and Detroit whipped Chicago 11-6.

Billy Grabarkewitz' 10th homer snapped a 1-1 tie in the eighth inning and helped the Dodgers beat the Mets. Grabarkewitz, subbing for injured shortstop Maury Wills, also scored Los Angeles' first run in the opening inning when he walked, went to second on Manny Mota's infield hit, took third on a fielder's choice and tallied on a sacrifice fly by Wes Parker. Bill Singer allowed New York only six hits, including Cleon Jones' third homer, to gain his sixth win. The loss left the second place Mets a game and a half behind Pittsburgh in the East.

FISH AND GAME

Three Days Fishing, Three Different Areas

By AL GIDDINGS

I worked at the Department of Fish and Game San Francisco office at the Ferry Building through last week so I had three days off this week. And suddenly the weather was right! No wind! Mere is an on-the-spot record of those three days, each spent fishing a different area.

Bob Wilson of Woodacre, Frank Sue of Corte Madera and I decided to try the salmon run off Bird Rock outside the bar at Tomales for the first trip. We were fishing by 6 am., being almost the first boat there. (At times the early morning is the hot time; and Joe Mello's report of catching eleven salmon there during the week really had us on edge. Three or four of Joe's fish were in the 30 pound bracket; one weighed 35 pounds. He suggested using a flasher so I put on one.)

At the end of the day we had boated just one salmon, a 20-pounder, along with three ling cod. I caught the salmon so maybe the flasher was the ticket. There were 50 other boats out. I'd guess that there were 20 salmon taken. We used herring and anchovies for bait.

BOB WILSON is not a salmon addict; and though he's a mean bass fisherman using a Hopkin's lure, his first love is rock fishing for ling cod, cabezon, and any of the 52 species of rockfish. I had promised him we would spend the first day on the salmon, so of course not having any strikes, he wanted to spend the next day rock fishing.

The next morning up and at 'em all over again except this time we launch in the surf at Drakes Bay. I talked Bob into salmon fishing the first hour. I used the flasher, he used the straight herring hookup. All of a sudden, he has a good fish on, and lands a 20-pounder. You think he's happy? I look up and he's setting up rock-fishing gear as we troll along!

I SAID, "Okay, Wilson, I'm going to take you rock fishing to a place where you'll be afraid to put the bait in the water the fish are so big!" We went, and watching that man fish a Hopkin's lure is something to see. In about four hours, we landed 20 lings, 40 rock fish, five sea trout and one cabezon. The biggest fish landed was a 17-pound ling which grabbed a foot long sea trout that I had hooked. Sounds like a fish story doesn't it? That's the way rock fishing can be if the sea is calm, and you can find the spot.

Use a Hopkin's lure, let it bump the bottom as you drift, and give it a lift every few seconds. You'll get em! Incidentally, we lost eight Hopkin's lures at $2 per.

We brought 67 fish to my house where we set up an assembly fileting line. Bob fileted, I boned and skinned, cutting just the tail half of the fish off the skin. This way no bones in the filet. The front filet half Bob smokes for a variety of smoked fish flavors. The filets that are boned and skinned, my wife, Mary, cooks them in a beer batter: one cup flour; one teaspoon baking powder; one teaspoon salt, sifted together; One egg and ¾ cup beer. Beat together. Dip fish, fry to nice brown. They are good! Try it, you'll never regret it! Incidentally, the limit on rock fish is 20 per person, the limit on ling cod is 10 per person and there's no sea trout limit.

THEN COMES the third trip, and by this time I'm exhausted, and beginning to hate fish. But after a night's sleep, up and at em again! This trip was planned by Chris Nardi of We dicided on the close trip off Muir Beach. I used the flasher and all one-pound weight. Chris used just the standard hookup pound weights at 30 feet. Chris using two-pound weights at 30 feet. Mr. Nardi used three-used anchovies; I used herring, Mr. Nardi used both.

THE SCORE? Chris limited with two 11 pounders and one 23 inch fish. I limited with an 18 pounder and two 22-inch fish. Mr. Nardi caught lots of king fish? How do you figure it? Are flashers best? And how about the one-pound weights? Herring or anchovies?

FOR THIS WEEKEND, all the above places should be good, and stripers are reported hitting at the Marin Rod and Gun Club areas at the bridge and the Brothers Islands. And the tides are right for abalones starting at 5:30 a.m. Saturday, a minus 1.7.

Tonight, the Marin Rod and Gun Club is having a meeting for a round table discussion on the future of the Marin Lakes in regards to trout fishing, permits, prices, and other problems encountered this year. Members and interested trout anglers are all invited by president Matt Zell for the 8 p.m. meeting at the clubhouse, Point San Quentin.

Rugged Week In Minors

Except for Novato's John Dolinsek, last week was a total disaster for Marin County baseball stars now playing in the minor leagues.

Dolinsek, playing first base for Columbus, Ga., in the class AA Southern Association, had eight hits including a double and a home run in 25 at bats for a .320 average. His season average, which leads the league, is .317.

Another Novato product, shortstop Tom Corder, got his first hits of the season for the Los Angeles Dodgers' rookie team at Ogden, Utah. Corder went five for 32 and had five RBIs.

Corder's teammate, outfielder Dewey Forry of Terra Linda, had a miserable week, going nothing for 10. He was one for five his first week.

Former College of Marin catcher Gary Welch of San Rafael cooled off last week after his tremendous start for the New York Mets' rookie team at Marion, Va. Welch had only one hit in 12 trips, after going six for eight his first week.

Pitcher Russ Dillon of Novato stafted one game last week for Greenwood, S.C., of the class A West Carolinas League. He went six innings, giving up six hits and striking out six, but didn't figure in the decision.

Catches Marlin

A CHANGE IN UNIFORMS, TOO

Complete New Look In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates won everything but the ball game.

They won the cheers of the crowd Thursday night in the first game played at new Three Rivers Stadium when they ran onto the Tartan Turf field, resplendent in new uniforms.

Willie Stargell won $1,000 donated by a local lumber company for being the first Pirate to hit a home run in the $35 million dollar stadium.

But the Cincinnati Reds won the game, 3-2, on Lee Mays' run-scoring single in the ninth inning.

LARGEST CROWD

A crowd of 48,846, the largest baseball attendance at a single game in Pittsburgh, saw Bing Crosby, Pirate vice president, heard Billy Eckstine sing the National Anthem and watched Pie Traynor, Hall of Fame third baseman, throw the first pitch.

The new stadium is located a few hundred yards away from the "Point"—where the Allegheny and Monongahela merge to form the Ohio River.

The Dukes of Dixieland played jazz developed during the heydey of the steamboats that plied up the Mississippi River from New Orleans.

WEATHER

Even the elements cooperated. The day began with leaden skies and some rain. But by afternoon the skies had cleared and a full moon was visible at game time.

The Pirate uniforms drew comments from the crowd. Now they are attired in golden caps with black brim, white uniforms and spangled with gold and black socks. What's more the uniforms have no buttons, no zippers.

The new uniforms are made of stretch material of nylon and cotton. The jersey is a pullover type.

The confusion was not more than expected. An escalator leading to the fourth level failed to function for 15 minutes, but the fans calmly furnished their own power—on foot—to complete the trek. There was no water in many of the restrooms because of the heavy pressure.

BAR THE BRASS

Most fans had little trouble pouring into the stadium. But there were two exceptions—Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and National League President Chub Feeney.

An usher who did not recognize them forbade them to enter gate "A" and told them to walk around to Gate "C." But someone recognized two of baseball's hierarchy and identified them to the usher. They were admitted.

Don Highsmith The Surprise Of Raider Camp

SANTA ROSA (UPI)—Don Highsmith of Michigan State, a little-noticed 13th round choice in the pro football draft, is making quite an impression so far in the training camp of the Oakland Raiders.

"If I had to classify him," said coach John Madden, "I'd say he was a speed back, but he can get the tough yards, too."

Highsmith was the 325th player to be picked by the pros although he piled up 937 yards for the Spartans last season.

will be at Novato Rancho, Aug. 1.

Should any Marin all-star team survive the Section 2 tournament, which will include teams from Santa Rosa — Ukiah, Concord — Walnut Creek, and two from Sacramento — Tahoe, the next stop would be the Division 2 tournament at Concord. Following that is the U.S. Western regional tournament at San Bernadino, and finally world series week at Williamsport.

Moving Day Tomorrow For Top GOP

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland soon can step from his suite in the oldest of three House office buildings, walk outdoors for half a block and go into his office as chairman of the Republican National Committee.

The party's national headquarters begins moving Saturday from a downtown office building three blocks from the White House. It has occupied space in the building since 1953, shortly after Dwight D. Eisenhower took the first of two four-year leases on the White House.

In its new headquarters, called the Eisenhower Republican Center, the national committee will be about three blocks from the United States Capitol, still under control of the Democrats. Its nearness to the Capitol made its design and color subject to approval by the House building commission, headed by Speaker John W. McCormack, a Democrat.

The four-story brick structure, painted gray, was built at a cost of about $1.6 million. It is owned by Capitol Hill Associates, a corporation composed of Republican investors.

The Republican National Committee and satellites such as the GOP Governors' Association, the Young Republicans and the Federation of Republican Women's Clubs will occupy about 35,000 square feet of space in the new building, compared with about 30,000 in the present headquarters.

Some offices of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee and the District of Columbia GOP headquarters also will move into the building.

The parent corporation hopes to begin work on a second four-story structure to be completed next year just north of the new structure and connected to it with a fourth-story catwalk.

This second building will enable the Eisenhower Center to house the remaining offices of the Congressional Campaign Committee and the Capitol Hill Club, a private club for Republicans. Both now occupy space in a hotel a block away.

In the old headquarters, a committee of 20 is following a set of instructions about packaging paper clips and pencils in cartons with variously colored labels, which identify the floors the cartons and equipment go to in the new building.

Sixteen offices have their instructions for moving Saturday; 20 others move a week later.

Morton will not need a taxi to go to his new office —but still will need one to take him to the White House.

Indian Cycle Taken

An Indian Motorcycle was stolen between 7 p.m. Tuesday and 9 a.m. yesterday from a garage at the residence of the owner, Christine D. Gonzales, 161 Canal Street, San Rafael, police reported.
